FARM BOARD IS SCRAPPED; NEW AGENCY FORMED

All Loan Activities Combined.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 27.—[Special.]—The federal farm board, which cost the American taxpayers $50 million dollars in four years, was tossed on the Roosevelt junk heap today, and in its place, if congress does not disapprove, will rise the new "farm credit administration."

The President is hopeful that his new venture into farm financing will pay for itself. It is aimed not only at advancing credit to farm banks and coöperative agencies, but at giving direct loans to farmers on a wide scale, thus relieving their mortgage burdens.

In the order transmitted by Mr. Roosevelt to congress today he not only abolished the federal farm board but the federal farm loan board as well, and on top of that he directed that all the farm credit activities of the government heretofore scattered in seven agencies shall be consolidated to come under the one rule.

Morgenthau to Be Governor.

The farm credit administration, to be headed by Henry Morgenthau Jr. of New York, who has been given the title of governor, is expected to save at least two million dollars annually through the cutting down of many jobs which have flourished under the seven agencies, the cutting down of other overhead expense, and an increased efficiency all around.

In addition to this general saving the President in his order directs that two million dollars of an appropriation of 44 million dollars made for donating the farm board's surplus wheat and cotton to the Red Cross be returned to the treasury. Mr. Morgenthau explained that he had reached an agreement with John Barton Payne, chairman of the Red Cross, whereby the deliveries of cotton and wheat would be stopped when the 42 million dollar figure had been reached. Wheat donations will cease by Aug. 1 and cotton by Oct. 31.

Gov. Morgenthau said after issuance of the order which goes into effect in 61 days if congress does not pass a resolution vetoing its terms [no such action is considered probable] that the activities of the government in granting loans to farmers and farm organizations will be fully coördinated.

Will Coördinate Loans.

In the past, with the government making loans through the department of agriculture, the R. F. C., the farm board and other agencies, varying rates of interest were charged and different purposes and conditions were set up, and under the new régime, Gov. Morgenthau said, unity of purpose and treatment will be observed strictly.

He also declared that all employes of the new credit administration will be placed under civil service, instead of under a patronage system as exists in many of the bureaus at present.

The bureaus now have 14 heads, receiving $10,000 a year each, and under the Roosevelt order this number is reduced to two. Mr. Morgenthau as governor, and a farm loan commissioner who will serve under the governor. The office of commissioner is now held by Paul Bestor, and Gov. Morgenthau said today he hoped Mr. Bestor would be retained, although he is a Republican appointee.

Stabilization Activity Abolished.

The President's order directed the abolishment of the farm stabilization activities of the farm board which have resulted in losses of 300 million dollars, except that he provided they should be continued only to liquidate the left over holdings of the board. This consists of 30 million bushels of wheat and 28,000 bales of cotton.

In a message to congress accompanying the order President Roosevelt said his purpose was to "maintain and strengthen a sound and permanent system of coöperative agricultural credit subject to federal supervision and operated on the basis of providing the maximum of security to present and prospective investors in bonds and debentures resting on farm mortgages or other agricultural securities—all for the purpose of meeting the credit needs of agriculture at minimum cost."

CHICAGO JEWS DEMAND U.S. ACT TO CURB NAZIS

Chicago Jews packed the Auditorium theater to the top gallery last night, crowded the lobbies and overflowed into Wabash avenue and Congress street, where thousands heard through amplifiers a procession of orators who denounced the German government for its treatment of Jews in notes of sorrow, bitterness, wailing, and in stern moral indignation that rivaled the ancient prophets.

Christian leaders joined with the Jews in this denunciation, which was made in the face of advices that reper cussions would occur against the Jews in Germany for every such effort here and in disbelief that the Nazi campaign against the Jews had ended. It would not end, they said, until it had resulted in the disintegration of Germany, perhaps another European war.

Gov. McNutt Speaker.

Gov. Paul V. McNutt of Indiana was the chief speaker. As former national commander of the American Legion, his presence was hailed as of deep significance.

"Indiana joins the protest against this persecution," he said, "this prayer for the freedom of the world. For the second time in my life I rise to protest against the acts of the German government. The world stands as Esau stood, before a mess of pottage, whose price is the birthright of all lovers of freedom.

"Are we to join with the traitors of brotherhood or enlist in the war of justice? Better enlist and say with Isaiah, we have come to give you beauty instead of ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness. What nation would deny its pioneers and a people who have made such contributions of culture? No government can long endure that fails to guarantee to its people the right to live as normal human beings. The present government of Germany thus writes its own destruction.

"Are there grounds for protest? There are. Such persecution marks a return to medieval days. It is the stifling of a valuable cultural group. We have a right to protest on Christian principles of tolerance. What is happening is opposed to our entire theory of democracy."

Urges Action by U. S.

Dr. Paul Hutchinson, editor of the Christian Century, presented a resolution which the audience adopted amid wild applause. Dr. Hutchinson said that no international relations should be entered into with Germany, no United States ambassador sent there, until a commission of neutrals had examined conditions and reported on what was going on in Germany.

"This meeting," said the resolution, "places before the world its solemn protest against the policy of systematic and brutal repression which the present government of Germany has instituted against the Jewish residents and citizens.

"By its open toleration of indecent and inflammatory propaganda, calculated to lead to mob violence, against the Jews, who are an integral part of the German population; by its condonation of barbarous attacks on defenseless Jews by gangs of armed ruffians; and above all, by its wilful encouragement of civic ostracism and economic discrimination which has as its avowed purpose the economic and spiritual strangulation of the Jews of Germany, the present Nazi government has placed outside the effective protection of the law a section of the

Radio Priest Asked to Prove Bank Charges

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., March 27.—Federal and state investigations of the First National bank, Detroit, and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce were started in Detroit today. The investigations followed a radio address by the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin yesterday afternoon in which the priest made general charges of mismanagement against the officers and directors of the two banks.

John Sherring Pratt, special assistant United States attorney general, and a staff of assistants arrived from Washington to open an inquiry into the affairs of the banks. At the same time Prosecutor Harry S. Toy called upon Father Coughlin to obtain any information he had concerning criminal mishandling of funds of the banks.

Charges "Inside" Withdrawals.

In his address Father Coughlin charged that $63,000,000 had been drawn out of the First National bank on "inside information" in the 35 days before the bank holiday was declared. He asserted that the bank was 12½ per cent liquid a few days before the moratorium at a time when depositors were being told it was 80 per cent liquid. He defended the new bank.

The county prosecutor declared that he had no jurisdiction over the national banks but that the Detroit Bankers company and the Detroit Guardian group, holding companies for the two national banks were under state control and that he was ready to investigate any charges of criminal action by either of these companies.

Action from Washington.

The United States assistant attorney general conferred with the conservators of the two banks and also with Gregory M. Frederick, United States district attorney. He said that any information he might obtain would be transmitted to Washington and any action would come from there.

Father Coughlin's radio address also charged that Detroit bankers had organized holding companies to escape liability as bank stockholders under the law. He made an attack on E. D. Stair, member of the governing board of the Detroit Bankers company, and publisher of the Detroit Free Press.

Mr. Stair this afternoon sent the following telegram to President Roosevelt:

"A slanderous radio attack has been made against myself and other citizens of this city in connection with the banking situation here by Father Charles E. Coughlin, who presents himself from time to time as spokesman for your administration.

"To clarify the situation and to save our city from such inflammatory attacks, to still all false rumors and to vindicate the dignity and decency of our community, I urgently request that you direct your department of justice to begin immediately a complete investigation.

"We stand unafraid and eager to coöperate in every way to save our city from slanderous wreckers."

Bishop Hadn't Seen Speech.

The Rt. Rev. Michael J. Gallagher, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Detroit, in commenting on Father Coughlin's address, said:

"Father Coughlin made serious charges against some of the Detroit bankers. As this address was written Saturday night after 10 o'clock, I was not aware of its contents. He has acted the part of a prosecuting attorney and made his charges vigorously."

The bishop said that while Father Coughlin claims to have proofs he has not yet produced them.

"It must be understood," he added, "that when Father Coughlin discusses the banking situation he is not speaking for the Catholic church and his opinions are only as good as his arguments."

Morton High's Ex-Controller Gives Self Up

Joseph A. Becker, missing former controller of the J. Sterling Morton High school in Cicero who is charged with the larceny of $868 from the school's petty cash funds, was resting this morning at the home of friends. He denied the charges against him.

Last night Becker surrendered at a secret hearing before Magistrate Henry Sandusky, put up $1,000 bail and was released. He immediately retired to the home of his friends. He will appear in court for trial on April 14.

Denies He Took Money.

Becker was last seen in the school offices about the first of the month. Shortly afterward it was announced by Otto Pergler, new controller of the Morton school, that $9,500 in tax warrants in Becker's charge had disappeared as had the $868.

"I stole neither the money nor the warrants," said Becker this morning. "I put in memorandums for the cash in the petty fund. This was within my province. The warrants I have turned over to my surety, the United States Fidelity and Guarantee company. I have been away from the school because of a nervous breakdown. I have not been in hiding."

No Shortage Found.

From the bonding company it was learned that no shortage in Becker's accounts will be found to exist when the audit is completed. It was pointed out that against Becker's alleged appropriation of $868 from the petty cash funds he has a credit of some $800 in back pay as controller. Becker was succeeded as controller about two weeks ago. However, he expected to resign formally.

Becker attributed his difficulties to the conflict now raging over school management, in which the present school board has been under fire for months. The board some months ago dismissed one of its critics, Harry V. Church, veteran superintendent. Carl L. Anderson is now the new head of the school. Becker says he was a neutral during the factional fights.

State May Fix Chicago Beer Permit at $500

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 27.—[Special.]—Gov. Horner's ideas of how beer should be regulated and taxed in Illinois prevailed in a house committee tonight. This group, a subcommittee of the house license and regulation committee, met with the governor during most of the afternoon and evening.

When it adjourned close to midnight, tag-ends of the suggested legislation still were to be drawn together tomorrow morning. However, these major points had been approved.

1. A state tax of $100 from each license.

2. A state tax of two cents per gallon upon all brewers and importers of beer.

3. A city tax, the amount to be determined by city councils. The maximum for downstate cities probably will be set at $200; that for Chicago at $500.

4. Abolition of the distinction between retailers who sell for consumption on the premises and those who sell for consumption off the premises. Each will be taxed alike.

5. Provision for the 100 foot "deadline" about churches and schools.

Chicago Group Objects.

Provision No. 1 was adopted in the face of objections from Chicago aldermen, led by John S. Clark of the 30th ward, who appeared earlier in the day to urge that the legislature should not interfere with the city's right to license and regulate the beverage. A $100 state tax would constitute meddling, they declared.

Their pleas, however, were disregarded tonight, as were those of other witnesses who desired that the $25 license fee provision [which would have applied to grocers and others who would sell beer for consumption off their premises] be kept in the bill. All these parties testified in an open hearing which ran for hours.

Chicagoans Make Protest.

Spokesmen for Chicago protested emphatically against what they termed a new invasion of home rule. Aldermen and others objected that if the state is to take over the issuance and supervision of licenses for beer dispensaries—as is proposed under the administration plan—it will not be long before the state is collecting some two-thirds or more of the licenses for local occupations in Chicago, the receipts pouring into the downstate treasury for general expenses with discrimination against the main contributor—Chicago.

Urges Anti-Treating Law.

The open hearing had not progressed far when the ancient institution of free lunch was imperiled. A little later the suggestion was made by Ald. James Bowler of Chicago that "treating" to drinks also be outlawed.

"This treating habit," said Bowler, arising before the committee, "did more to prohibit the sale of beer than anything else. Now take this situation: A man stops at a saloon on his way home to have a glass of beer. Four or five other fellows are in the place and before he knows it our man goes home with a pretty good load on."

Ald. Terry Moran, another Chicago councilman who came down to advocate home rule in licensing, jumped to his feet.

"Now Ald. Bowler wants to eliminate treating," he began, "but I'm surprised at him. Bowler never took a drink in his life."

"That's right," agreed Bowler, "but I've bought plenty." The incident

MALOY LOCKED UP FOR QUIZ ON MOVIE SLAYING

Thomas E. Maloy, for many years czar of the Motion Picture Operators' union in Chicago, was locked up in a cell at the detective bureau last night after he had surrendered for questioning about the killing of Fred F. Oser, a rebel against Maloy's control of the union. Oser was shot to death last Friday in Maloy's office at 506 South Wabash avenue. Ralph O'Hara, Maloy's right hand man, has told the police that he killed Oser.

Held at the bureau with Maloy and O'Hara was a veteran member of the union to whom the police had traced ownership at one time of the pistol which was found beside the body of Oser when the police arrived after being summoned by O'Hara. This union veteran was reported to be high in the favor of Maloy and O'Hara.

Gun an Important Clew.

Great importance was attached by the investigators to the ownership of the pistol. O'Hara claimed that the rebel Oser, expelled from the union for waging a court fight on the Maloy régime, had shot at him before he, O'Hara, drew his own gun and fired the fatal bullet. On the other side, the family and friends of Oser claimed that he had had no pistol and that he had gone to Maloy's office with pacific intentions. The killing, they declared, was a frameup.

Julius Dickstein, 6041 Fletcher street, an operator at the Oriental theater in the loop, was the man to whom the gun was traced. He told detectives that he was friendly with Maloy and O'Hara and not friendly with the insurgent Oser. But, he added, the weapon was stolen from his automobile several months ago and he knew nothing about its whereabouts on Friday.

Detectives Trace Ownership.

The detective work which resulted in the discovery of Dickstein's connection with the case began the day of the killing. The stock numbers of the pistol that lay beside Oser had been obliterated, but the police found a hidden number in the cylinder of the gun, a .32 caliber Colt. This number showed that the weapon had been sold to the Shapleigh Hardware company in St. Louis.

The Shapleigh company had in turn sold it to Julius Sallo, a sporting goods dealer at Chicago Heights. Sallo was taken to the detective bureau yesterday afternoon and reported that he had sold the pistol to Leslie L. Linick, 7303 Oglesby avenue. Linick, like Dickstein, the police learned, is an operator at the Oriental theater, one of the choicest jobs over which the Maloy union has control.

Linick Adds His Story.

Linick was called in.

"Yes," he said, "I bought the pistol from Sallo, but it was for Dickstein. He said he wanted one to carry in his car for protection. I never saw it after I turned it over to him in the summer of 1931."

Dickstein readily assented to the truth of Linick's statement. He said that he carried the pistol in the pocket of his car and that he missed it several months ago. He was asked by Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty, in charge of the investigation, if he had purchased another pistol for "protection" after the theft was discovered and replied that he had not.

Although Dickstein was locked up and will be questioned further, Sallo and Linick were released, but were given subpoenas to attend the reopening of the Oser inquest on Saturday.

Tell of Maloy's Threat.

The tracing of the pistol to a regular member of the union and a declaration by Attorneys Charles Lounsbury and Harry S. Ditchburne, who have been retained by six men who were expelled from the union with Oser, to the effect that Maloy had threatened to kill Oser, were regarded by the prosecuting forces as having a significant bearing on the mystery of Oser's death.

The attorneys said that Oser, a considerable time before his death, had made an affidavit stating that Maloy had threatened to "shoot me between the eyes." This was one of the factors, Mr. Lounsbury said, which impelled the rebels to attack the Maloy-O'Hara management and to request that the courts throw the union into receivership. Oser and his comrades had charged Maloy and his aids, in letters to the membership, with illegally taking $50,000 a year from the union treasury.

Information tending to support the claims of Oser's family and friends, that he had no pistol when he called at the Maloy office supposedly to arrange terms of peace in response to an invitation from Maloy, was obtained by the investigators from Sylvester Sascio, barber, and Herman Colbert, porter in a barber shop at 134 North La Salle street.

They said that Oser was in the shop at 2:10 p. m., barely twenty minutes before his call at the union office, and that Colbert helped him to put on his overcoat. There was no additional weight, the porter said, to indicate that one of the pockets contained a pistol. In his opinion, Colbert added, there was no pistol. O'Hara has told the police that Oser drew a weapon from his right overcoat pocket.

Maloy Gives His Version.

Maloy surrendered yesterday noon at the state's attorney's office in the Criminal Court building. After a wait of several hours, during which Prosecutor Dougherty was occupied with business in court, the union czar, fuming at the delay, told his story to Mr. Dougherty and Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney.

First of all, he declared, he had not made an appointment with Oser to meet him in the union headquarters at 2:30 p. m. Friday. This was a direct contradiction of statements by the rebels who were associated with Oser. They said they had listened on extension telephones while Oser talked with Maloy, and that the date and time had been agreed on.

"I told him when he called me," said the dapper union chief, whose reign has been marked by disorders and bombings of theaters for several years, "that my lawyers had advised me not to talk with him while he had any suits pending against us.

"'Let's get together,' Oser said to me. 'To hell with lawyers.' I told him he couldn't talk to me and hung up."

Telephone Operator Quoted.

Capt. Gilbert pointed out that Gladys Russell, switchboard operator for Maloy, told Oser when he entered the office: "That's right, Mr. Oser, you may go in. You have a 2:30 appointment with Mr. Maloy."

Maloy continued with his story.

"I went to the headquarters Friday afternoon," he said. "There was a crowd around the building and I asked what had happened. Some one said there had been a shooting. I went to a telephone and talked to Emmett Quinn [a union official]. He told me about the killing.

"Then I went to the Congress hotel and registered under an assumed name. I didn't want to be held in custody over the week-end."

Locked in Police Cell.

Other than this, Maloy had nothing to say. He wished to go home after making the statement, but he was not allowed to do so. Much to his disgust, he was ordered to the detective bureau and locked in a cell. It was the first time, detectives said, that he had ever been kept a prisoner. He has been under indictment and has been questioned as a suspect numerous times but always has been able to satisfy the police with a brief questioning or win his release on bonds after surrender was arranged by his attorneys.

Observers said that Prosecutor Dougherty's apparent purpose in delaying the questioning of Maloy was to make it more difficult for the movie labor czar to obtain his release on a writ of habeas corpus. Judges, it was pointed out, were disposed to delay action on writs applied for in the evening.

O'Hara Held by Court.

Earlier in the day the self-confessed slayer, O'Hara, had appeared before Chief Justice Prystalski of the Criminal court for a hearing on his application for a writ of habeas corpus. He was represented by Attorney John Cashen.

Cashen told Judge Prystalski that he believed the state had a right to hold O'Hara as a material witness until the inquest on Saturday, but added that in the meanwhile he should be allowed bail. Prosecutor Dougherty, however, asked and was granted another day for investigation and O'Hara was taken back to a cell.

Mr. Dougherty told the court of being informed that Maloy had invited Oser to a conference, adding that Maloy had not been questioned up to the time of the court hearing and that after the questioning was ended the investigators would be better able to tell what action to take against O'Hara.

Funeral for Oser Today.

The funeral of the slain Oser is to be held this afternoon in an undertaking establishment at 3834 Irving Park boulevard. The body will be accompanied to the grave by the six men who were associated with him in his fight against the Maloy-O'Hara union régime.

Once this solemn duty is finished, the insurgents plan to renew their fight in the courts to compel Maloy to reinstate them in the union so they may go to work and earn a living for their families. Attorney Benejamin Schuitz is to appear today before Judge William J. Lindsey to request action on their petition for an injunction to restrain Maloy from keeping them idle longer.

Rules for Collection of Sales Tax Are Announced by State

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 27.—[Special.]—Preliminary regulations to guide Illinois merchants in putting the three per cent sales tax into operation next Saturday were issued today by Joseph J. Rice, state director of finance. Admittedly, they do not answer all questions which might be raised in the collection, but they do set up elementary rules which must be adhered to.

The regulations reflect Mr. Rice's thought that the method of collection is more or less of a community problem and must be solved by the merchants of each community. The principal plea made by the director was for "wholehearted coöperation" from these retailers.

Emergency Measure.

Mr. Rice pointed out that the tax is an emergency measure "primarily for the relief of the destitute, despondent and idle, and for the reduction and replacement of general property taxes" in counties which will not need the funds for relief purposes.

"In view of this fact," he said, "the payment of the tax and coöperation with the state government in its administration becomes a patriotic duty upon which the welfare of the state depends in very large measure."

While the regulations do not mention the point, they do not prohibit the use of a method suggested in Chicago last week-end by which merchants—particularly those selling low-priced merchandise—could charge a fraction of a cent more than the three per cent tax.

Summary of Regulations.

A summary of the regulations prepared by Mr. Rice follows:

1. "All retailers must make a return each month from April 1, 1933, to July 1, 1935, stating their gross cash receipts from sales of goods, wares, merchandise and commodities. Such report must include cash, charge, or time sales, whether or not payment is received during the month. Returns are to be made on a form prescribed by the department of finance which will be available at the offices of the county clerk in each county of the state after April 20, 1933.

2. "At the same time that the monthly return is filed the payment of the tax covering sales for that month must be made.

3. "The tax does not cover receipts from sales of motor fuel, farm products sold by the producer, sales made in interstate commerce, or sales to the United States government. Sales for resale by manufacturers, jobbers, wholesalers, and others are not included. Compensation received primarily for services rendered is not included.

Obliged to Pay 3 Per Cent.

4. "Every retailer must state on the container or sales ticket (with the exception noted below) the following:

"'The selling price of this property is included in receipts upon the basis of which the seller is obligated to pay 3 per cent to the state of Illinois.'

"If by reason of the nature of the retailer's business it is impracticable to put the above legend on the container or sales ticket, then he must display on posters the following:

"'Purchasers are hereby notified that as to each item of property sold the selling price is included in receipts upon the basis of which the seller is obligated to pay 3 per cent to the state of Illinois.'

5. "The retailer may consider the tax as one of the elements in his cost of doing business and may include the amount of the tax in fixing his selling price. However, no retailer may advertise or hold out to the public in any manner, directly or indirectly, that the tax is not considered as an element in the price charged by him to the consumer. Of course, it is expected that the retailer will not misrepresent the tax.

6. "Every retailer must keep complete books and records which will enable him to make a proper return each month.

Must Keep Proper Books.

7. "Any retailer who fails to make a return or to keep proper books or records, or who wilfully violates the provisions regarding advertising and display of legend upon containers or sales tickets, or in his place of business, or who violates any other rule or regulation for the enforcement of the act, will be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction shall be fined not less than $25 or more than $5,000 or be imprisoned in the county jail for not less than one month or more than six months, or shall be both so fined and imprisoned at the discretion of the court."

MR. D. FINUCANE ASPIRES TO THE BOHEMIAN LIFE

The Dill Pickle club, 22 Tooker place, which for sixteen years before its closing a few months ago, stood as the home of parlor pinks, radicals, and intelligentsia of the near north side, may be reopened soon under a new banner.

Danny Finucane of the Finucanes of Archer avenue is to be the new operator of the place, succeeding Jack Jones, its founder, according to reports. Jones, acknowledged king of Chicago's bohemian colony, abdicated a few months ago because of dereliction in rent payments.

Finucane lives at 2901 Archer avenue. He is a brother of William S. Finucane, Republican committeeman of the 11th ward. He has applied for a license to reopen the club, it is said. However, whether his license application is approved depends upon Capt. Charles McGurn of the Chicago avenue police station.

Capt. McGurn's attitude is said to be somewhat doubtful because of the alleged recent efforts of James Belcastro, public enemy, and others, to muscle in on the club. Moreover, the New England Congregational church, around the corner, is said to be frowning on any reopening of the club.

36 YEAR TRAMP TO KNOWLEDGE THINS MARBLE

Great men leave their footprints on the sands of time, but seekers after knowledge leave theirs on marble steps.

That's why the wide white staircase in the Washington street entrance of the public library will have to be repaired at once. The millions of feet that have trodden it since the building was opened thirty-six years ago have worn down the steps until they are unsafe. Part of the stair has been roped off to prevent accidents to readers.

Yesterday, at a meeting of the library board, it was decided to have carborundum treads placed upon the steps to prevent patrons slipping. It is estimated the work will cost about $4,000. The trustees vetoed a suggestion that an additional brass rail be set in the center of the staircase. Such a rail, they held, would destroy the classic symmetry of the entrance.

Berwyn's Appropriation Bill Lowest in Ten Years

Action on Berwyn's 1933 appropriation bill was continued last night until next Monday night when approval is expected to be voted by the council. The buget is roughly $274,000, about $80,000 under that of last year, and, according to Mayor Frank Novotny, the lowest in ten years.

CHAIN STORES' CHIEFS PONDER NEW SALES TAX FOR ILLINOIS

Chicago merchants, particularly operators of chain drug and cigar stores and 5 and 10 cent stores, were still undecided last night as to a method of collecting the 3 per cent sales tax on small sales. The preliminary regulations released at Springfield, they said, were not sufficiently explicit to guide them in the working out of immediate plans.

One of the 5 and 10 cent store chains was awaiting instructions from the New York headquarters. No decision had been reached by a cigar store chain on the tax collections. The manager of a large drug store chain, however, declared that no stamps or other tokens would be used and that not more than the exact tax would be collected on any purchase, however small.

Officials of the drug store chain said they hoped to be ready to announce their plan today or tomorrow. They denied emphatically that a full cent would be collected on sales of less than 33 1-3 cents, but were not ready to explain how they propose to collect the tax.

ANSELL ASKING $500,000 FROM SENATOR LONG

Action Based on Reprints from Speeches.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 27.—[Special.]—Senator Huey Long of Louisiana was named today in a $500,000 libel action. It was filed in the District of Columbia Supreme court by Samuel T. Ansell, counsel for the senate elections committee. That group is investigating the election of John H. Overton, Long henchman, to the senate.

The suit is the second brought against the Louisiana Kingfish by Mr. Ansell. It is the result of a violent attack made on him by Long on the floor of the senate. The senator dodged the first suit by invoking the congressional immunity he had bragged in his speech that he would waive.

Based on Mailing Speech.

The new action is based on the transmission of copies of the speech through the mails. According to Ansell's brief, Long had his remarks reprinted in pamphlet form for distribution to persons in Louisiana and other parts of the country. He declared that, while Long was able to evade slander action by taking refuge in his congressional immunity for a speech delivered in congress, the act of sending the objectionable matter through the mails constituted grounds for libel.

Mr. Ansell, formerly a brigadier general and judge advocate of the army, declared that several subheads were written into the speech before it was reprinted from the Congressional Record. One of these, he alleged, referred to him as "the dog son of a wolf," while another branded him a "burglar." Mr. Ansell likewise accused Long of stating that he "had been condemned by the government as a thief, scoundrel, and crook" after he had "practically forged his own appointment as judge advocate."

Says Privilege Was Waived.

The brief also quoted the following paragraph, alleged to have been a part of the printed copy of Long's address:

"No sir, I do not claim any privilege from this scoundrel anywhere on earth under God's living sun. I invite him to sue me in any court of competent jurisdiction and I will not defend the suit, except on the ground that he is a scoundrel and a thief and a rascal and a crook, and has been determined to be such by an investigating committee of congress."

Long's speech was delivered recently in the senate, following the conclusion of hearings in Louisiana in the contested Broussard-Overton election case. In his suit Mr. Ansell declares that Long was also responsible for the distribution of placards in New Orleans which branded the senate's investigation as a "kangaroo court."

INQUIRY STARTED INTO TERRORISM AGAINST BARBERS

An investigation into terrorism against independent barbers was opened yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan, coöperating with Lieut. John Treacey, head of the police bomb squad.

Mr. Coghlan questioned eleven barbers at the detective bureau. Fifteen or twenty more will be examined today. A list of some thirty barbers who have been victims of assaults, bombings and vandalism has been compiled by police.

Two of those questioned yesterday were Joseph Ahmed, 944 Belmont avenue, who was struck on the head with a baseball bat two months ago after he had been warned against price cutting, and A. R. Johnson, manager of the barber shop in a hotel at 22 West Van Buren street. Johnson said he had been warned by the Master Barbers' association to use the association's scale of prices. He did so for a while, he said, but lost business. He resumed his old prices, and not long afterward, he said, stench bombs were thrown into his shop.

SENATORS HEAR CLAIR PLAN FOR FARM PRODUCE

Washington, D. C., March 27.—[Special.]—Appearing today before the senate agricultural committee, Francis J. Clair, recently of Chicago, presented his plan for giving the farmer purchasing power commensurate with that exercised by the manufacturing centers.

Clair argues that the farmer, getting an average wage return of about $2 a day, has been getting further and further in debt when buying manufactured products made under higher wages. The farmer, on the present basis, never can catch up, he argues.

Under his plan congress would require the domestic prices of such "indispensable, nonperishable" commodities as cotton, wool, flax, wheat, corn, rye, oats, rice, barley, buckwheat, and hay to be fixed at a level to fit what the farmer must buy.

The fixed price would apply only to that portion of the farmer's products equivalent to the portion of the national production required for domestic consumption. Thus if domestic requirements called for 600 million bushels of a 800 million bushel wheat crop, the farmer would receive the fixed price on 75 per cent of his crop. The surplus he would be required to hold until or unless he could sell it for export.

Wheat, said Mr. Clair, would receive to begin with a fixed price of approximately $1.25 a bushel, corn 87 cents, with a pro rated price for hogs, and cotton 18 cents a pound. The domestic consumption percentage and the fixed prices would be adjustable annually.

"Eighty-eight cent wheat will buy shoes, but it won't support the three billion dollar movie industry," Mr. Clair proclaimed.

SENATORS PLAN TO CHANGE BILL AFFECTING IDLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 27.—[Special.]—The senate tomorrow will begin active consideration of President Roosevelt's proposal to provide work for the idle through an extensive development of national forests and the public domain.

The reforestation bill is expected to pass the senate tomorrow so that the house can take it up on Wednesday.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.], senate majority leader, stated, following a White House conference late in the day, that the measure will have a rider attached to it to remove the present 15 per cent limitation on Reconstruction Finance corporation relief advances to states.

States to Borrow More.

Removal of this restriction is urgent, said Senator Robinson, in view of the fact that several states, notably Illinois, have exhausted their quota of relief borrowings under the present law.

It had been thought that the Wagner-Costigan-La Follette bill, introduced today and providing a new half billion dollars fund for direct relief, would be attached to the reforestation bill in the senate. Senator Robinson believed, however, that the direct relief measure first should be referred to committee.

Meets Labor's Protest.

As it emerged from committee, the President's reforestation measure had been altered to make it less objectionable to organized labor. Instead of setting forth details of the plan, which contemplates enlistment of a civilian conservation corps at a dollar a day wage, the bill now gives the President discretionary power to embark upon a broad program of development in the national parks, forests, and on the public domain.

The Wagner-Costigan-La Follette bill would set up a new federal relief administrator who would assume all jurisdiction over federal relief grants to states. The 500 million dollar fund to be apportioned by him, would be raised by the Reconstruction Finance corporation through increased borrowing power.

ROOSEVELT WINS FIRST ROUND WITH BRITISH ON DEBTS

London to Swap Economic Concessions for Revision

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 27.—[Special.] — President Roosevelt, it was learned today, has won the first round of the sparring contest with Great Britain over reduction of the war debts.

As a result of the firmness displayed by the President the British government has backed down from the position announced by Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, when he said that Britain would not swap economic concessions for revision of the debt.

The British are now eager to discuss economic concessions before the debt question is taken up. By virtue of this sudden change of front on the part of the MacDonald ministry the world economic conference is likely to be held in April or May instead of next summer or autumn, as the European powers were planning.

Confers with Hull Two Hours.

The first tangible evidence that the British had yielded ground was forthcoming today when Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, conferred for more than two hours with Secretary of State Cordell Hull on the questions to come before the world economic conference to the exclusion of the debt question.

At the same time the President was discussing the problem of world economic recovery with M. Jacques Stern, vice chairman of the finance committee of the French chamber of deputies, who was escorted to the White House by M. Paul Claudel, the French ambassador. M. Stern said upon leaving the White House that he had not discussed war debts with the President that their conversation had been confined to the economic conference which the deputy thought "it would be very important to hold as soon as possible."

Important for France to Pay.

Asked about the debt, he said "it would be very important for France to pay the December installment as a mark of respect to President Roosevelt.

These incidents were interpreted as signs that the President's views of the approach to any discussion of debt revision have prevailed. Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hull have taken the position from the start that the war debts are secondary in importance to the removal of tariff, embargo, quota, exchange and other restrictions on international trade.

Remove such obstructions, they have contended, and the debtors would be able to discharge their obligations in goods. Return of all countries to the gold standard also is an objective of the Roosevelt administration.

Make Economic Concessions.

The President had made it clear to the British government that it could not expect to receive favorable consideration of its plea for debt reduction unless it were willing to make economic concessions. Then on Saturday came Mr. Hull's hint that the administration might decline to discuss debt revision with defaulters. France defaulted in December, Britain paid, but served notice that she would not pay the 95 million dollar installment due June 15 next.

If Britain defaults in June she might be ruled out of consideration. Hence British eagerness to get debt discussions under way.

At the state department conference today there were present, in addition to Mr. Hull and the British ambassador, T. K. Bewly, British financial counselor; Assistant Secretary of State Raymond Moley, and Herbert Feis, state department economic expert.

Issue Joint Statement.

At the close of the conference the secretary of state and the ambassador issued this joint statement:

"We have continued our preliminary and tentative discussions of the world economic situation, confining our discussions to those topics contained in agenda recently prepared by the preliminary committee in Geneva. We feel gratified with the value of these talks in clarifying the views of the officials of the two countries. We expect to continue these discussions."

The preparatory commission for the world economic conference recently listed the following subjects for the agenda:

"The original and present weight of debt and interest obligations.

"Price of primary commodities and price of manufactured goods, both wholesale and retail.

"The existing volume of production in different staple commodities entering in world trade.

"The willingness of creditors to make international loans and their unwillingness to receive payment in goods and services.

"The distribution in different countries of the available gold supplies of the world.

"The disharmony between the stable and fluctuating rates of exchange."

Begin Evidence in Bankers' Trial

Seymour Stedman (left), former vice president of closed City State bank, and Edwin Rellihen, former director, listening to testimony in their trial in Judge Francis Allegretti's court.

CITY STATE BANK LOANS ATTACKED AS TRIAL OPENS

Years of Fund Juggling Charged by State.

The courtroom of Judge Francis B. Allegretti was crowded yesterday with depositors who lost their savings in the crash of the City State bank when the taking of testimony against five former officials of the bank, charged with receiving deposits while the bank was insolvent, was begun.

The first state witness was Mrs. Louise Green, 3532 West Monroe street, who testified that she deposited $105 in her checking account in the bank on the day of its closing, Nov. 2, 1929. She gave the money to the receiving teller, she said, and made no withdrawals before the closing. She has since received 32 per cent back from the receiver, she said.

Bank Examiner Testifies.

The prosecution's second witness was Harold M. Durst, 7418 North Damen avenue, state bank examiner.

"I was assigned to visit the bank on Nov. 2," Durst testified, "and saw Frank Bergen, one of the officials [Bergen has been granted a separate trial] relative to the bank's cash position. I informed the state auditor and then took charge of the bank."

Mr. Durst's inventory of the holdings and furnishings of the bank was introduced into evidence over objections of defense counsel.

At the conclusion of the testimony for the day Judge Allegretti announced that the jury would be locked up during the trial.

Charges Years of Juggling.

In his opening statement to the jury, Assistant State's Attorney John O'Hora declared that the evidence would show that juggling of funds between the bank and the Coöperative Society of America, which controlled the stock of the bank, had been going on for years previous to the closing.

"These defendants," he declared, "Seymour Stedman, Morrison H. Castle and the rest, sanctioned loans of $1,100,000 from the bank to the Coöperative society while they knew that the society and its affiliated companies were making no income."

The defendants on trial, in addition to Stedman and Castle, are Alexander Jarema, vice president; William C. Hartray, and Edwin G. Rellihen, directors. Stedman was vice president and director, and Castle was another director.

Tells of Loans to Officers.

The bank lent $262,380 to officers, employés, and their relatives, according to the prosecutor, and these loans had been secured only by worthless securities.

The Coöperative society obtained $463,000 in loans, the prosecutor told the jury. The total of worthless loans totaled $1,100,000, he asserted.

Defense counsel argued that the bank was not insolvent at the time of closing. On the day that the bank closed there was $392,000 in cash on hand, the jury was told.

$10,000 RACING CUP TROPHY TURNED IN TO U. S. AS HOARDED GOLD

Washington, D. C., March 27.—[Special.]—A fine collection of jewelry, antiques in gold and other articles of this precious metal, including a racing cup valued at $10,000, has been brought together by the treasury department's request that monetary gold and gold certificates should be turned in by owners.

Secretary Woodin said a $1,000 gold certificate and a five dollar gold piece had been sent anonymously and credited to the conscience fund.

The donor of the $5 gold piece stated that he was out of work but that the treasury probably needed the money more than he did.

The racing trophy was returned to the owner, with a letter stating that only monetary gold was being received.

EVANSTON SAFE AND SOUND, SAYS MAYOR BARTLETT

Evanston is the safest and healthiest city in the country and the financial condition of the municipality is remarkably sound in view of general economic conditions. These assertions were made yesterday by Mayor Charles H. Bartlett, who is seeking reelection for his fifth term as mayor of the suburb. A crime prevention bureau is being organized by Chief of Police Freeman to help the suburb to maintain this record.

"We began the year 1933 with all bills against the city paid," the mayor said. "We have untouched bonding power of $1,750,000 and the credit of the city is unimpaired."

Tomorrow Mayor Bartlett will receive from the National Safety council the grand award of the national contest in which Evanston was awarded first place in public safety among cities of 50,000 to 100,000 population.

Recently Evanston was awarded first place for public health conservation in a contest sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

COUNCIL LIKELY TO GAIN POWER TO ELECT MAYOR

Democrats See Needed Votes in Assembly.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

An emergency measure to empower the city council to elect a mayor from inside or outside its own membership to serve the full unexpired term of the late Mayor A. J. Cermak, which runs to April, 1935, seemed last night to be a growing probability at Springfield.

Republican members, returning to the capital on late trains for today's sessions, indicated that their opposition is vanishing. An emergency bill requires a two-thirds vote, or 102 in the house, and legislative leaders declared that the votes are in sight. Senator Richey V. Graham, senate majority leader, said the senate has already shown its readiness to give a two-thirds vote to the bill.

The program as it now stands is practically identical with the one formulated two weeks ago at a conference between local Democratic leaders with Gov. Horner.

Full Power and Two Year Term.

It proposes the following plan for emergency action in the legislature, which would make it effective upon passage and approval by the governor:

1. Enable the city council to select an alderman or an outsider for mayor for the vacancy.
2. Clothe him with full powers as mayor and make him a real mayor instead of an acting mayor.
3. Let him fill the full unexpired term, which has two years still to run.

Sentiment among the legislators grew yesterday in favor of the plan on the theory that it would relieve Chicago of the turmoil of a mayoralty campaign, which would not be a good setting for A Century of Progress, which opens in June.

Seek to Avert Delaying Pay.

Besides, the Republicans pointed out, the Democrats have votes enough to put a measure through to take effect as ordinary legislation on July 1, and meanwhile overdue pay rolls for teachers, firemen, police, and other city employés would be likely to be held up by the controversy over whether Acting Mayor Frank J. Corr, who was elected as de facto mayor, has any powers to sign bonds, warrants, and other municipal documents.

Reports that Senator James Hamilton Lewis is opposed to action by the council in selecting a successor to Mayor Cermak clothed with full power were explained away yesterday. Senator Lewis sent a telegram to William L. O'Connell, his campaign manager in the senatorship race in 1930, opposing any plan to dispense with direct primaries and to permit convention nominations in the event of a special election for mayor.

Lewis Agreeable to Plan.

In dispatches from Washington Senator Lewis was quoted as saying that his telegram referred to a measure for a special election, with convention nominations.

"If, however," Senator Lewis was quoted as remarking, "there is to be no general election of a new mayor to fill the vacancy, then of course my insistence upon the application of the primary principle is not tenable.

"I am not insisting upon a primary and election at this time."

Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg, minority leader, pointed out that the Republicans sought to get a special election with a primary, but failed.

"We have made our record," he said. "If we fail to vote for the present bill the Democrats will pass it anyhow and it will become effective July 1. If we now give the necessary votes for emergency bills, then Chicago will be able to have a legal mayor who can sign documents and teachers and other employés may get their back pay when funds are forthcoming."

Patrick A. Nash, Democratic leader, denied yesterday, that the Democrats have agreed upon Ross A. Woodhull, sanitary district trustee, to succeed Acting Mayor Corr.

Chief among the Democrats who have been spoken of in the inner circles, in case a bill enabling the council to elect an "outsider" as mayor are William H. Sexton, corporation counsel; Francis X. Busch, former corporation counsel; Col. A. A. Sprague, Judge John P. McGoorty, and Mr. Nash himself.

A dozen or so others are mentioned, but sentiment among the Democratic leaders so far has not approached anything like a definite agreement. The main thing, they hold, is to pick someone who will have popular confidence.

DR. LOUIS E. SCHMIDT.

UROLOGISTS DROP DR. L. E. SCHMIDT FROM SOCIETY

Hold Medical Group's Ban Takes Him Off Roll.

Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, noted urologist, was dropped last night from membership in the Chicago Urological society at a stormy special meeting held in the Medical and Dental Arts building.

The fight for Dr. Schmidt's ouster was led by his former pupil, Dr. Edward W. White, urologist on the staffs of the Alexian Brothers and Henrotin hospitals. Dr. White also holds the title of counsellor of the Chicago Medical society.

Both the Chicago Medical society and the American Medical association dropped Dr. Schmidt from membership a few years ago, ostensibly on technical grounds, but actually, he says, because he had dared to espouse low cost medical clinics.

Decide Affiliation Stands.

The direct issue before the urologists was whether their society was still affiliated with the Chicago Medical society. By a close vote, a majority decided it was affiliated, thereby ousting Dr. Schmidt automatically in accordance with the society's by-law requiring that all members of their group must be members in good standing in affiliated societies.

Harsh words were exchanged in the debate on the newest attack of organized medicine against Dr. Schmidt. Some of his defenders, including an officer of the society, accused those advocating the ouster of "malice."

Forewarned of the action to be taken, Dr. Schmidt did not attend the meeting. Explaining the situation after being advised of the action, he said it was inspired by "frivolous" reasons.

Named on Reception Committee.

"The American Urological society is holding its annual meeting here in June," he said. "I was named on the reception committee to welcome the delegates. Dr. Herman L. Kretschmer, another urologist, who happens to be president of the Chicago Medical society, was also named.

"Some of my adversaries in organized medicine, including Dr. White, evidently thought the name of an 'outlaw' such as I should not appear in the same company with Dr. Kretschmer. Hence the decision that Chicago Urological is still affiliated with Chicago Medical."

In making their decision Dr. Schmidt said the urologists reversed their previous attitude. Three years ago, he said, Dr. Kretschmer had stated that relations between the two groups had dwindled to a point where they could no longer be considered affiliates.

Invited to Keep Up Dues.

Only a year ago, he recalled, after he had quit paying dues to Chicago Urological on the assumption that his ouster from Chicago Medical meant his ouster also from the urological group, the secretary wrote him to continue paying dues if he wished to remain a member.

"The next move," Dr. Schmidt predicted, "will be to have me dropped from the American Urological association. The constitution of that association provides, if I am not mistaken, that a requisite for admission is membership in the local urological society. Now that I have been dropped locally I suppose I shall inevitably be dropped nationally."

Notwithstanding the campaign of his foes, medical reference books show that Dr. Schmidt is still professor of genito-urinary surgery at Northwestern university, senior urologist of St. Luke's hospital, chief of staff of the Illinois Social Hygiene league, and member of the foremost urological societies of Germany and France.

NAZIS STRIKE NEW BLOW AT GERMAN JEWRY

Launch Boycott Campaign Against Firms.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 27. — Chancellor Hitler and his Nazis struck a new blow at German Jewry today.

A nation-wide boycott against Jewish business establishments within the reich and a movement to reduce the number of Jews in various professions in order that they might be proportionate to the Jewish population are under way.

Hitler's Nazis and Dr. Joseph Goebbels, his chief of propaganda and public enlightenment, took these steps in retaliation "for the harm done by Jewish propaganda against the German government."

Held as Club.

The boycott is being held as a club over German Jewry in the form of a Nazi announcement which said that such restrictions will be enforced if the anti-German propaganda continues in foreign lands.

The Hitler régime will not organize the boycott campaign itself but will leave it to special committees of the National Socialist party. The government stresses that the boycott against Jewish businesses is "Germany's reply to threats of boycott against Germany by international Jewry, especially in America and England."

The Nazi party statement issued at Munich, the headquarters of the Hitlerites, said:

"Orders will be issued Tuesday to organize the movement within the country. Steps will also be taken to reduce the number of Jewish lawyers, physicians, professors, and public officials. Thereby will this Jewish international hymn of hate against Germany, because of a revolution in which no Jewish hair was ruffled, produce the long awaited declaration concerning the relations between the German people and those who have no conception of the hospitality guaranteed to them."

600,000 Jews in Germany.

Foreign nations "fighting for the Jews under the banner of Israel" forget, according to the men ruling Germany today, that Jews in the reich number only 600,000 of a total population of 65,000,000.

"Therefore they are not entitled to play the preponderant rôle that they assumed under the previous government," they insist.

Initial action in the new campaign was taken at Munich, where the government appointed a special commissar to control an association of lawyers, most of whom are Jews. This commissar will also control the Bavarian chambers of commerce.

In Stuttgart, the Wuerttemberg government forbade publication of advertising by Jewish department and chain stores in the official government newspaper.

Capt. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Hitler's right hand man, has ordered the confiscation of the properties of former Prussian cabinet ministers. They have been charged with misuse of $300,000 of the public moneys for party purposes instead of using them to improve police barracks. Several of the ousted ministers, including former Premier Otto Braun, have fled to Switzerland.

The first conflict between Nazi storm troops and Steel Helmet men [monarchist war veterans] broke out today in Brunswick. The Nazi premier disarmed the auxiliary police recruited from among Steel Helmeters.

The guns were taken from the Steel Helmeters as the climax of a series of clashes between the veterans and storm troopers which lasted until late tonight. Ten persons were injured.

Seize Steel Helmet Barracks.

The Nazis charge that the Steel Helmet men allowed reichs banner men [republican veterans] to join their ranks. They also said that the republicans were exploiting the hospitality of the Steel Helmeters to "prepare a revolt against the government."

The Steel Helmeters claim they welcomed reichs banner men as new members only because they had been comrades in war. The Nazis seized the Steel Helmet headquarters, arrested 1,350 persons, including 200 Steel Helmeters, disarmed the veterans and suppressed the organization in the state of Brunswick.

Capt. Goering, reich minister without portfolio and Prussian minister of interior, recently established an auxiliary police force of 60,000 men. One-half of the force consists of storm troops, one-third Hitler guards, and one-sixth Steel Helmet men. Franz Seldte, head of the Steel Helmet organization, is minister of labor in Hitler's cabinet.

Observers have predicted that the Hitler régime would crack, if at all, because of internal dissension between its two principal components—Nationalists and Nazis.

60,000 New York City Jews Protest Action in Germany

New York, March 27.—[Special.]—Hitlerism, with its anti-Semitic propaganda and persecution of Jews, must be dragged out into the open and given the same treatment "we gave the Ku Klux Klan," former Gov. Alfred E. Smith told a cheering audience of more than 25,000 gathered in Madison Square Garden and 35,000 massed in the streets outside tonight to protest against reported outrages against Jews in Germany.

The former Democratic presidential candidate brought the otherwise solemn audience to its feet as he denounced racial and religious bigotry and suppression of civil liberties and appealed to the new German government to remember God and the principles of human love and brotherhood.

Mr. Smith absolved the German people from any wrongdoing and blamed the Hitlerites.

"Must Fight Bigotry."

"We must fight bigotry," he said, "whether it appears on a brown shirt or a nightshirt."

Mr. Smith was one of a group of distinguished leaders of Jewry and the Christian world who joined in tonight's protest. Others who spoke included U. S. Senator Robert F. Wagner, Bishop William T. Manning of the Episcopal church, Bishop Francis T. McConnell of the Methodists, Charles H. Tuttle, Mayor John P. O'Brien, and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise.

While the crowd cheered and applauded the attacks on racial and religious bigotry and persecution, the thousands outside heard the addresses through amplifiers.

Hundreds of Other Meetings.

The speeches were broadcast throughout the land and across the sea. Hundreds of similar meetings were held in all parts of the country. It was estimated that fully 1,000,000 Jews participated in these demonstrations.

Responding to the call of their rabbinical leaders, Jews here and in other cities spent the day in fasting and prayer for the cessation of the "Hitlerite persecutions." The day was concluded with the indorsement of a demand presented in the address of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise at the Madison Square Garden rally that the persecutions cease.

Outline of Demands.

These demands, which formed the only formal resolutions adopted, were as follows:

"The immediate cessation of anti-Semitic activities and propaganda in Germany, including an end to the policy of racial discrimination against and of economic exclusion of Jews from the life of Germany. That is Jewish life and the human rights of Jews must be safeguarded.

"One other absolutely reasonable and just axiom rather than demand: The revocation of all special measures already taken against Jewish nonnationals and their equal treatment with all other nonnationals in Germany."

Smith Sways Audience.

Mr. Smith swayed the big audience from the opening of his speech when he told of his pleasure in raising his voice "against intolerance, against bigotry, against the suppression of the freedom of speech, against the suppression of the freedom of the press, and against any infringement of the right of public assembly."

"Now, there is no denying the fact that there has been a kind of council of pussyfooting about whether we should have this meeting or not," he continued. "There was a great crossfire and current of opinion that was in conflict. I got all kinds of telegrams and all kinds of cablegrams telling me there was not any reason for a meeting, that nothing had taken place, that we wanted to avoid the possibility of hysteria in a time like this.

"Now there is one thing that we are all sure about and that is the platform of the ruling party in the Germanic state. If it was anti-Semitic it was the intention, the avowed purpose of the men that ran on that platform, to separate the Jews from the life of Germany."

Praises Jews of Germany.

Continuing, he praised the Jews of Germany and elsewhere.

"They fought in the armies of every country that you find them in [applause] and the figures for Germany are outstanding," he said. "Out of 555,000 Jews, 96,000 of them fought for the fatherland in the recent world war, and according to these statistics one out of every eight—one out of every eight—fell on the field of battle.

"No nation can afford a record of persecution. No nation can survive that tries to live on that kind of a record.

"The Jews were the great intelligence of the kingdom of Spain, and when they were driven from there Spain went into a rapid decay, until today she means nothing among the family of nations."

population which has for centuries been distinguished by its intellectual, spiritual and economic contributions to the progress of Germany.

Fear Moral Reaction.

"It is the unanimous opinion of this meeting that the anti-Semitic policy of the Nazi government is repugnant to the moral instincts of civilized mankind and inconsistent with the high reputation which the German people has won for itself by its achievements and sacrifices; and that the continuation of this policy will inevitably lead to the forfeiture of that high moral standing."

Acting Mayor Frank J. Corr, Dean Shailer Mathews of the University of Chicago Divinity school, D. F. Kelly, Dr. Graham Taylor, and Dr. S. Z. Lorber, were other speakers. Dr. Lorber read excerpts from Edmund Taylor's story in THE TRIBUNE of Monday, as being the most enlightening account that had come out of Germany. Rabbi Solomon Goldman presided and messages were read from Gov. Horner, Senators Lewis, Deiterich and Royal S. Copeland; Gov. Schmedemann of Wisconsin, and former Ambassador James W. Gerard. Prayers were offered by Rabbis Ephriam Epstein and Gerson B. Levi.

Sees Peril to Peace.

"We are here as citizens of the United States, Christians and Jews, citizens of the world," said Rabbi Goldman, "to express our moral indignation over conditions in Germany. We have been told we must be careful not to offend the German government. Hitler and his henchmen are engaged in murdering Jews. How can I be diplomatic. This ostracism, this attack on Jewish intellectual and spiritual personalities, is unique in the history of anti-Semitism. They are the enemies of mankind. They are making enemies of Europe, endangering once again the peace of that continent."

Sixty-five policemen had been assigned to the hall but there was no disorder.

LION FEUCHTWANGER'S NOVEL, 'JOSEPHUS,' IS BANNED IN GERMANY

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, March 27.—The Propyläen Publishing house, an Ullstein subsidiary, has stopped distribution of Lion Feuchtwanger's last historical novel, "Der Juedische Krieg"—entitled "Josephus" in the English translation—of which they are the publishers.

The action is grounded on a recent article by Feuchtwanger in an English newspaper attacking the Hitler régime in Germany.

When he departed for America, Feuchtwanger left behind the uncompleted manuscript of a sequel to "Josephus." This was confiscated and carried off by Nazi storm troopers when they raided Feuchtwanger's home at Dahlem, and it is not known what has become of it.

FOR THE MAN WHO CARES

URGES CONGRESS ACT IN INTEREST OF GERMAN JEWS

Sirovich Has Resolution of Protest.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 27.—[Special.]—As the state department continued to keep a watchful eye on the situation, Representative William I. Sirovich [Dem., N. Y.] announced today that he will sponsor a congressional resolution asking Germany to desist from its alleged persecution of Jews.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull informed leaders of national semitic organizations last night that while reports from American diplomatic representatives indicated a cessation in the Hitler regime anti-Jewish activities, he would keep in close touch with the situation with a view to taking action if it became necessary.

Gets Message of Appreciation.

In response to the secretary, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York and several other leaders of national Jewish organizations joined today in sending telegrams to the state department expressing appreciation of Mr. Hull's assistance. They declared that the "Jews of Germany are in great and imminent jeopardy of life and property, of civil rights and religious liberty."

Representative Sirovich told the house that he would offer the resolution "calling upon the government of Germany to desist from this inhuman attitude."

He was interrupted by Representative Thomas L. Blanton [Dem., Tex.] with the declaration that "there is an unreasonable foolish persecution of Jews right here in the nation's capital."

Some apartment house owners, Mr. Blanton said, will not rent apartments to Jews, while in some sections of the city they are not permitted to buy homes.

Says Look to Home First.

"We ought to get this ridiculous persecution right here in the nation's capital out of the way," said the Texan, "before we go into the foreign question." He emphasized that while he was in accord with the purpose of Mr. Sirovich's resolution, he thought any representations to the German government should be made through the regular diplomatic channels.

In his telegram to Jewish leaders, Secretary Hull declared:

"I feel hopeful, in view of the reported attitude of high German officials and the evidences of amelioration already indicated, that the situation, which has caused such widespread concern through this country, will soon revert to normal. Meanwhile I shall continue to watch the situation closely with a sympathetic interest and with a desire to be helpful in whatever way possible."

AUTO THIEVES ESCAPE.

Two youths riding in a stolen automobile escaped from Sergt. John Fallen and his detective bureau squad early yesterday after a short chase in which shots were exchanged near the county jail at 26th street and California avenue.

CROWN PRINCE DENIES GERMANY IS ABUSING JEWS

Insists False Stories Fool Americans.

New York, March 27.—(AP)—George Sylvester Viereck, the author, today announced he received a cablegram from the former German crown prince, Frederick Wilhelm, deploring that the American people should become "victimized" by what he termed a "propaganda of lies" against the German government.

The message read:

"Your letter about the similarity between the tales of cruelty in Germany recently spread in foreign countries and the anti-German propaganda before America entered the war is unfortunately only too true. I am, however, unable to comprehend how the public in other countries after having been able to convince themselves a few years ago how very much they were deceived with regard to Germany during the world war can once more fall victims to such a blind mental attitude.

War Time Tales of Horror.

"Every one who knows Germany, the German character and the culture of the German people must feel at once that the news spread at present about the putting out of eyes, the mutilation of corpses, the searing of parts of the body must be just as mendacious as the wartime tales of horror about the mutilation of Belgian children, the crucified Canadian and the factories in which corpses were to be converted into soap.

"And yet there are perhaps people among the larger public unfamiliar with Germany who are victimized by this propaganda of lies. If men who had personal experience during the world war would contribute from their own experience to enlightening the American public about the truth they would be performing a service not only to the German nation, whose honor these evil-minded reports are intended to tarnish, but also to the whole world and to the friendly atmosphere between the nations which is poisoned by these mischiefmakers.

Not Official View, He Says.

"In saying this I am not acting as the representative of an official point of view, or of that of any German political party, but I know that these views are shared by practically the whole of the German people. Even Jewish organizations, of which I will only mention the Association of National German Jews, and the Central Association of German Citizens of Jewish faith, which latter alone has more than 500,000 members, have expressed their opinion that the campaign of lies and incitement conducted abroad against the national Germany is irresponsible and worthy of the severest condemnation, and also certainly not suited to serve any good purpose.

"The German chancellor also expressly stated in the speech which he made on the 25th instant that no one in Germany had to suffer injustice on account of his religion. We in Germany, like you in the United States, are endeavoring to escape from the misery in which the western world has been sunk during the post-war years, and to return to a fresh state of prosperity, peace and renewed strength. Every people does this in its own way and on its own terms. It is not fair to strew the path of others with lies and calumnies."

FASCISTI ATTACK JEWISH RALLY ON GERMAN ABUSES

Youths Cheer for Hitler; 15 Hurt in Clash.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 27.—(AP)—Fifteen persons were injured tonight when a massmeeting of Jews, who were protesting against alleged anti-Semitic activities in Germany, was stormed by young Fascists.

The youths, who cheered repeatedly for Chancellor Hitler, rushed on the gathering three times, but were finally dispersed by police.

Jews in Poland Protest.

WARSAW, March 27.—(AP)—Jews held eleven anti-Hitler protest meetings in Warsaw today and there were a score of gatherings in other cities.

Street demonstrations were forbidden. A group of Jews who violated an order by carrying a placard reading "Down with Hitler," were arrested.

At Lodz orthodox Jews fasted. In order to avoid anti-Semitic disturbances the government dissolved the nationalist group "Camp of Great Poland," which was founded by Roman Dmowski, who, with Ignace Paderewski, signed the Austrian peace treaty on behalf of Poland in 1919.

Hurl Tear Gas Bombs at Rally.

BUENOS AIRES, March 27.—(AP)—Three persons were injured and several others were bruised tonight when several German Nationalists threw petards and tear gas bombs among the 25,000 Jews attending a mass meeting in protest against anti-semiticism in Germany. Police prevented further disorders and the demonstration ended quietly.

Argentine Jews closed their shops for two hours today in protest against reported persecution of German Jewry. Also, as a protest, the Argentine Zionist congress, which was scheduled to meet today, was canceled.

Baltic Jews Refuse to Aid.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, March 27.—Reports of anti-Semitic excesses in Germany are believed to be exaggerated here. As a result, the Latvian and other Baltic Jewish organizations have refused to unite with American Jewish organizations in a boycott against German goods.

An appeal from New York was discussed by local Jewish organizations. They declined to participate in an anti-German campaign, which they said would affect Latvian-German relations.

BRIDE ROUTS ASSAILANT.

PROF. EINSTEIN FLAYS OPPRESSION OF JEWS BY NAZIS IN GERMANY

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, March 27.—In a signed statement which he gave to a delegation of the International League Against Anti-Semitism which met him at Havre, Prof. Albert Einstein today declared that the acts of oppression against Jews in Germany had aroused all countries devoted to liberty.

"Brutal acts of violence and oppression against persons of liberal opinions and Jews," said Einstein, "acts which have taken place and are still taking place in Germany, have aroused the conscience of all countries remaining faithful to the ideals of humanity and political liberties.

"The International League Against Anti-Semitism acquired great merit in effecting a union of all peoples uncontaminated with virus. We may hope the reaction will be sufficient to preserve Europe from regression to the barbarism of epochs long past. May all the friends of our civilization so gravely threatened concentrate their efforts to eliminate this psychological malady from the world."

Prof. Einstein went to Antwerp, where he will remain for some time before going to England. He said that at present he has no intention of ever returning to Germany.

ZERO HOUR HAS COME IN EUROPE, CARDINAL WARNS

VIENNA, March 27.—(AP)—Intense interest was aroused today in political circles by a speech in Graz yesterday in which Cardinal Theodore Innitzer, who was raised to that rank by the pope just two weeks ago, said "the decisive hour has come for Europe."

"Forces are at work to create a new world," he said. "Dare the Catholic church look on and let this world be built up without Christianity? We cannot do that, for we stand at the turning point where the German people again may be called to be pioneer and trail breaker of a new era. So that something really great and holy may come of it, patriotism must league itself with Christian faith."

It was recalled that Austria is 95 per cent Catholic.

With parliament shelved, Chancellor Engelbert Dolfuss of the Social-Democrat [Catholic] party has ruled Austria with the powers of a dictator for more than two weeks. Austrian Nazis have been acclaiming Hitler as their leader and are urging a union with Germany.

COURT EXPECTED TO FREE BRITON ACCUSED AS SPY

Officer's Career Ruined; Trial Concluded.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 27. — Whatever Lieut. Norman Baillie-Stewart might have done after he arrived in Germany last autumn, I did without any intention of betraying his country. The judge advocate today announced he would so instruct the court martial trying this 24 year old officer of the proad Seaforth Highlanders for the sale of military secrets to a foreign agent. The trial was concluded with today's hearing.

Although the prosecution has failed to produce evidence to support an accusation of intentional treachery, the hopelessness of the officer's predicament was evidenced in the final plea made by Norman Parkes, defense counsel.

Finished as an Officer.

Lieut. Baillie-Stewart, who was held prisoner in the Tower of London for several weeks before the court martial began, cannot win. The character of his denials—in which he told of receiving money from a young woman in Germany with whom he had been intimate—has finished him forever as an officer.

The defense was wound up by the testimony of the accused man's brother, Lieut. Eric Stewar Wright. He told the court martial of a verbal lacing he gave his younger brother when he learned that he had accepted $450 from a mysterious "Marie Louise" of Berlin.

The prosecution contends that she is a German intelligence operative and that the money was paid for the betrayal of military information.

Mentioned Girl to Brother.

Lieut. Wright testified that after his brother returned from Germany the two spent several days together at their parents' home.

"Did he mention anything about the women he had met in Germany?" Parkes asked.

"He said he had formed an attachment for one particular woman," was the reply. "He mentioned the name of Marie Louise."

"Did he ever tell you he was receiving money from her?"

"He told me so at Christmas."

"What did you say?"

"I called him a damned fool."

Had Women on His Mind.

He added that his brother "always had women on his mind."

Mrs. Elsie Wright, the defendant's mother, testified as to the openness of her son's visit to Berlin.

[The defendant changed his name from Wright to Baillie-Stewart in 1929.]

"So far it is clear that he had no treacherous intention in his mind," Parkes said in his final argument. "The prosecution has offered nothing except surmise and suspicion."

"I will tell the court so," the judge advocate intervened.

"This officer's life is ruined, whatever the result may be, and he knows it," Parkes continued. "His career in the army is of necessity ended.

CANADIAN HOUSE VOTES PREMIER DICTATOR POWER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., March 27.—By a vote of 89 to 46, the Bennett government in the house of commons tonight carried, over the heads of protesting Liberals and Laborites, its relief bill. The bill embodies virtual dictatorship powers for the government during the parliamentary recess.

Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, and James Woodsworth, Labor leader, voiced protests and their followers voted solidly against the bill. The measure now goes to the senate, where passage is assured.

Under the measure, the cabinet, without parliamentary sanction, can make or unmake laws to meet any national crisis.

PREMIER FIGHTS SECESSION BY WEST AUSTRALIA

PERTH, West Australia, March 27. —(AP)—Prime Minister Lyons tonight started a statewide campaign in which he seeks to persuade citizens of West Australia to vote against secession from the commonwealth in a forthcoming referendum.

(Both houses of the state legislature last December voted to permit a referendum regarding secession or obtaining a federal convention for revision of the constitution to correct alleged handicaps to West Australia as a primary producer, arising from protectionist policies of the eastern states.)

ALIMONY REDUCED

MRS. HELEN GOWAN-STOBO.

Circuit Judge Frank Bicek yesterday reduced from $37 to $30 a week the alimony which Robert Gowan-Stobo, 1418 Hyde Park boulevard, is required to pay to Mrs. Helen Gowan-Stobo. Gowan-Stobo, whose father, John M. Gowan-Stobo, is head of a large auditing company, testified that he now earns $57 a week as a salesman. He was given 60 days to make up arrears of $530 which had accumulated on payments ordered when Mrs. Gowan-Stobo divorced him. She and their three children live at 2140 East 68th street.

Louis A. Johnson of Clarksburg, W. Va., national commander of the American Legion, estimated yesterday that 250,000 persons will come to Chicago for the annual convention of the Legion this fall.

Mr. Johnson flew to Chicago from Minneapolis for a conference with Chicago Legionnaires and other national officers on plans for the convention, which opens Oct. 2.

The parade of the Legion members, one of the outstanding events of the convention, will take from 11 to 12 hours to pass a given point, Mr. Johnson predicted. There will be 100,000 marchers, with 500 musical organizations, he said.

RAID WITCHCRAFT 'TEMPLE'; FIND 5 MURDERED GIRLS

Little Ones Are Slain as Sacrifice to Goddess.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, March 27.—One of the most cruel crimes in Cuban history was discovered today. The dismembered bodies of five white girls, ranging in age from 4 to 8, were found in a barn near Caimito, 22 miles west of Havana. The barn had been used as a "temple" by a Negro witchcraft sect.

The girls were sacrificed to appease "Chango," the goddess worshiped by the members of the sect, according to statements made by five Negroes who, with 23 others, are held for the killings.

Fed Raw Potatoes.

The five youngsters, daughters of farmers, were kidnaped three days ago. During their captivity, the girls were fed raw potatoes, sugar and water, which is the regulation diet prescribed in such cases by Chango, the witchcraft suspects said. Jose Delgado, in describing the ceremonies, testified that "for three weeks Chango has been demanding white blood lest a curse be cast upon us. It was decided to hold the sacrifice today because of the search being made for the girls.

"After praying and dancing around Chango's image and singing hymns to Chango, the girls were brought before the altar, which was made of stones and sea shells. Some of them resisted, but others seemed panic-stricken and screamed and cried.

Dismembered With Stone Axes.

"Heavy ropes were tied around their hands and feet and they were placed side by side. Then witchcraft bodyguards beat them with royal palm switches. There were about 50 persons present. They danced around, yelling and singing and clapping.

"Then two curanderos or 'priests,' wielding blunt stone axes, dismembered the bodies. We could see Chango smiling and satisfied as the curanderos sprinkled her image with blood. Then police appeared and raided the tabernacle."

Authorities had difficulty in preventing a mob from lynching the captives as they were taken to jail. Special precautions were adopted there to avert violence.

DRUGGIST ROBBED OF $489.

Hyman Gold, 3919 Fullerton avenue, was robbed of $489 yesterday by two bandits in his drug store at 3701 Fullerton avenue.

KOPPEL STARTS SERVING 1 YEAR CELL SENTENCE

CRIMINAL COURT.

Casey Sexton, larceny; sentenced to one year in the Bridewell by Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

Sam Koppel, west side precinct politician, who kept out of jail for 11 months until Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the Chicago crime commission, called the attention of the authorities to the fact that he was at liberty, started yesterday to serve his sentence of one year in the Bridewell on a charge of conspiracy to obstruct justice. Koppel surrendered Saturday.

According to Edward Denemark, superintendent of the Bridewell, Koppel will be treated as any other prisoner. His political affiliations will avail him nothing, Denemark said.

Koppel was convicted last April of trying to bribe and intimidate prosecution witnesses in the robbery trial of Charles Lefkowitz. Lefkowitz is also serving a sentence in the Bridewell.

POLICEMAN AND ROBBER WOUNDED IN GUN BATTLE

Policeman Frank J. Conway of the Irving Park station and a bandit were wounded last night in a gun fight after the robber and two companions had kidnaped Conway in the automobile of Police Captain Charles McGurn.

Conway, in plain clothes, was waiting alone in the car of Capt. McGurn, who is his brother-in-law, at Fairfield and Rosemont avenues while the captain was visiting friends in the neighborhood. Three men came up and put guns on Conway. They tied him and put him in the rear of the captain's car and then drove away.

The gunmen stopped in front of H. M. Goldstein's drug store at 3249 Beach avenue. Two of them got out to hold up the place and the third remained at the wheel, guarding Policeman Conway. Conway, during the kidnaping, had managed to loosen his bonds and reach his gun. He fired at the bandit at the wheel, inflicting a flesh wound. The robber jumped from the car and, rejoined by his two pals, opened fire on Conway, one of their bullets hitting him in the left hand. The gunmen escaped.

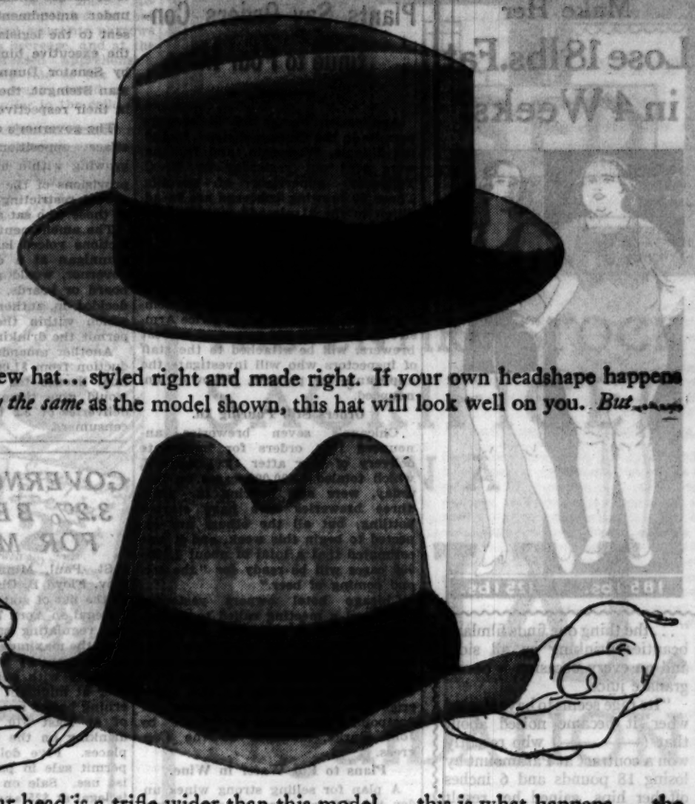
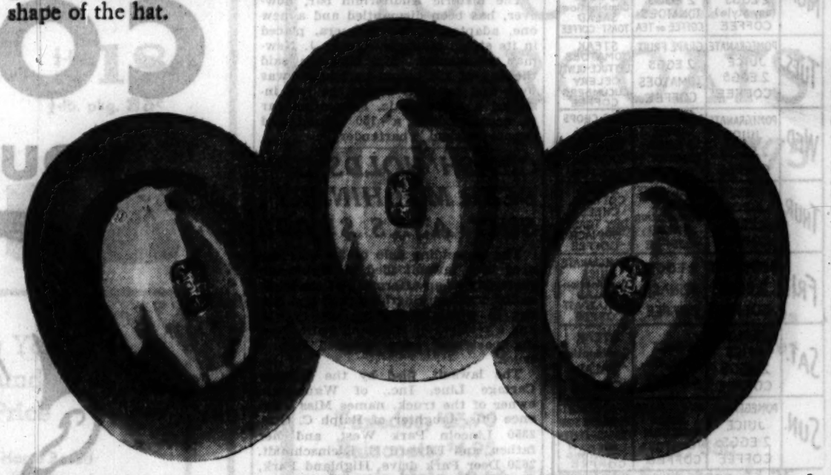
"Ovalized Sixteenths"



Here is a new hat... styled right and made right. If your own headshape happens to be exactly the same as the model shown, this hat will look well on you. But.....

Suppose your head is a trifle wider than this model... this is what happens... the brim perks up, back and front and flattens at the sides. You'd hardly believe it was the same hat . . . the style lines and trim appearance have disappeared. Or . . .

Suppose your head is a trifle longer than this model... this is what happens... the brim goes down at the back and the front, and curls up at the sides . . . and out goes the style again. You can't reshape a hat to the head and still keep the original shape of the hat.



So Knox now actually style their hats in three different headshapes... Long Oval, Oval and Wide Oval. The style is built in to stay . . . no matter what your headshape may be. And in addition Knox sizes these new hats in sixteenths as well as eighths, quarters, and halves. You can now get exactly your size.

What you get in an "Ovalized Sixteenth" is comfort the instant you put it on and style for the full life of the hat. Any hat will give you comfort by coercing the fit to the head. But pulling it into fit means pulling it out of shape. By the time the hat is broken in, the style has broken down. But that can't happen in an "Ovalized Sixteenth." Perfection of fit means protection of the lines. Comfort is immediate. Style is permanent. ... Spring hats in 22 Styles and 12 Distinct Shades.

FEDERAL PERMIT BLANKS SENT TO 50 BREWERIES

Plants Say Orders Continue to Pour In.

Application blanks for 50 brewery permits in the Chicago district, including Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana, were sent out yesterday by E. C. Yellowley, supervisor of permits. These 50 brewing concerns are in addition to the 31 already making near beer which received temporary permits last week.

There will be no further approval of permits until a thorough investigation of the character and financial standing of the promoters is completed, Mr. Yellowley said. Brice Armstrong, for years the terror of wildcat brewers, will be attached to the staff of inspectors who will investigate the applicants for permits, Yellowley announced.

Orders Still Pouring In.

Chicago's seven breweries announced that orders for immediate delivery of beer after 12:01 April 7, which totaled 1,000,000 cases on Saturday, were still pouring in. Only three breweries here have started bottling, but all the others are expected to begin this week, and it was estimated that a total of about 1,400,000 cases will be ready for "the second coming of beer."

Chicago hotel owners yesterday postponed a meeting called to discuss the question of obtaining deliveries under bond prior to April 7, so that sales could begin immediately after 12:01 a. m. Expected regulations from Washington governing the first deliveries was given as the reason for postponing the hotel conference by John Burke, manager of the Congress.

Plans to Put Water in Wine.

A plan for selling strong wines under the 3.2 law was announced yesterday by Theodore Majerus, manager of L'Aiglon restaurant, Wabash avenue and Ontario street. Mr. Majerus said that wines of 10 to 15 per cent alcoholic content by volume would be diluted with seltzer water to comply with the 4 per cent by volume restrictions and then bottled, so that their sales will be legal. The alcohol cannot be extracted from the wines without destroying their quality, but the dilution with seltzer water will bring them within the law and produce a pleasing stimulant, Mr. Majerus said.

The 100 foot Righeimer bar, 131 North Clark street, one of the most popular spots in the city before prohibition, was rededicated yesterday with Acting Mayor Frank Corr and other city officials participating in the ceremonies.

Decorations Kept Intact.

During the prohibition régime the bar was converted into a sandwich shop, but the rococo decorations, gold leaf mosaics, murals and ornamental friezes were kept intact. The appointments of the old cheer palace carry out the atmosphere of a seagoing yacht, with first and second "decks," cabins, masts, portholes, lanterns, etc.

The historic Auditorium bar, however, has been dismantled and a new one, adapted to the new era, placed in its stead, Manager Arthur J. Newman announced. Mr. Newman said the day of 250 pound bartenders was over and for that reason he had installed a modernistic, streamline bar to accommodate a 150 pound and "more efficient" bartender.

CRASH HOLDS UP BEER MACHINERY; SUIT ASKS $5,000

The impending sale of 3.2 beer figured in a lawsuit filed in Waukegan yesterday as an aftermath of the triple motor crash on Sheridan road last Friday in which a Chicago society girl and a resident of Highland Park, driving passenger cars, crashed into a truck.

The lawsuit, filed by the Webber Cartage Line, Inc., of Waukegan, owner of the truck, names Miss Florence Otis, daughter of Ralph C. Otis, 2350 Lincoln Park West, and her father, and Edward E. Kleinschmidt, 2620 Deer Park drive, Highland Park, as defendants and seeks $5,000 damages.

The wrecking of the truck, according to the bill, caused a delay of one day in the delivery of brewing machinery to the Pabst Brewing company in Milwaukee.

"In view of the limited time before the sale of beer becomes legal," said Attorney George McGaughey, representing the cartage company, "the delay was a serious matter."

MICHIGAN BEER FLOWS APRIL 17, GOVERNOR SAYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lansing, Mich., March 27.—[Special.]—Gov. William A. Comstock, who headed off a bill to permit Michigan to enjoy 3.2 per cent beer on April 7, predicted today the delay will not be more than 10 days.

A beer bill, he said, will have been in force by April 16 or 17, after being introduced April 4, the day after the spring election. The bill will be based on recommendations of the governor's special liquor control commission. The state constitution requires five days consideration of any measure in each house during regular sessions. The bill would require two-thirds majority in each house to make it effective immediately.

N. Y. ASSEMBLY GETS BEER BILL; SALE AT BARS IS UNDECIDED

Albany, N. Y., March 28 [Tuesday].—[Special.]—Power to authorize the drinking of beer at bars would be vested in the control board ultimately to be chosen under Gov. Lehman's bill, under amendments to that measure sent to the legislature early today by the executive himself and introduced by Senator Dunnigan and Assemblyman Steingut, the Democratic leaders, in their respective houses.

The governor's action is designed to efface opposition which has been growing within his own party to the provisions of the measure he had approved restricting the drinking of beer to those who sat at tables.

The amendment, which met the objections voiced last night by Senator Dunnigan at a conference with the governor, would grant to the control board or boards, whichever finally is decided on, authority to establish rules which within their discretion would permit the drinking of beer at bars.

Another amendment proposes a reduction from $1,000 to $500 in the annual license fee for wholesalers and would give them the right to make deliveries of 3.2 brew direct to home consumers.

GOVERNOR SIGNS 3.2% BEER BILL FOR MINNESOTA

St. Paul, Minn., March 27.—(AP)—Gov. Floyd B. Olson added Minnesota to the list of states in which beer will be legal on April 7. He signed a measure regulating sale and another setting the maximum alcoholic content at 3.2 per cent by weight. Both become effective with national legalization of beer at midnight April 6. Local governing bodies must charge license fees of at least $10 annually to permit drinking on the premises of licensed places. Five dollars annually would permit sale in packages for off-premise use. Sale on railroad dining cars is legal at $25 annually.

The act makes no provision for a tax on the beer. It prohibits sale to persons under 21. Brewers do not need state or local permits to make beer. They are empowered to sell direct to consumers in quantities of two gallons or more.

Ohio Senate O. K.'s Beer.

Columbus, O., March 27.—(AP)—A bill to legalize beer of 3.2 per cent alcoholic content was passed by the Ohio senate tonight by a vote of 25 to 6. The measure now goes to the house.

Plans New Liquor Code.

Denver, Colo., March 27.—(AP)—Gov. Edwin C. Johnson today vetoed two bills passed by the general assembly to control the sale of beer and intoxicants and announced he would draft an entirely new liquor code immediately.

Delaware for Beer.

Dover, Del., March 27.—(AP)—The Delaware state senate this afternoon by a vote of 9 to 8 passed Representative Hawke's bill providing for a convention of 17 delegates, elected at large, to act on the amendment to repeal the dry amendment to the constitution of the United States.

BRITTEN PLEADS TO GIVE CHICAGO 10 O'CLOCK BEER

U. S. Refuses to Permit Earlier Release.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 27.—[Special.]—Representative Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.] put forth a mighty effort today to get the beer flood released in Chicago at 10 p. m., April 6, instead of 12:01 a. m., April 7. But all to no avail.

The congressman made his appeal by telephone to Attorney General Cummings. The conversation as veraciously reported, ran thus:

BRITTEN—Mr. Attorney General, you could not usher in the new deal more satisfactorily to Chicago than by giving us beer at 10 p. m.

CUMMINGS—April 7?

BRITTEN—No, April 6. Only a difference of two hours.

CUMMINGS—But the law says April 7.

BRITTEN—By the clock. Chicago will set all clocks ahead two hours at 10 p. m. The city council will pass the ordinance. Congress, you know, sets the clocks back when it isn't ready to adjourn sine die at noon. You couldn't ask for any higher precedent.

CUMMINGS—Sorry, old man, the law's the law.

BRITTEN—But, look at the practical side of it. It's going to be just like Armistice day in Chicago the night of April 6. People will be gathered waiting for midnight. What will they be doing? Drinking illegal hard liquor waiting for legal beer. Many of them will get tight before they get the beer, but once they have got it, beer will get the blame for their intoxication. Beer will get a black eye. Besides, think of the tax in revenue the government will be losing while people are drinking hard liquor that pays no tax when they might be drinking beer that pays its way. Chicago stands ready to cooperate. We will pass the ordinance. The trucks will leave the breweries at 10 with all streets cleared and motorcycle squads as escorts.

CUMMINGS — Nothing pains me more, congressman, than to say there is nothing doing.

Saltis Is Freed on Bond After a Habeas Hearing

Joe Saltis, erstwhile beer chief, and his bodyguard, Paddy Sullivan, arrested Saturday by Sergt. Edward Harder and his squad, appeared yesterday before Chief Justice Prystalski in the Criminal court on a writ of habeas corpus filed by their attorney, James Burke. The writ was withdrawn when Assistant State's Attorney Euclid Taylor informed the court the police would book the two men immediately on charges of disorderly conduct. After being booked, Saltis and Sullivan were freed on bail of $100 each.

closed with great hilarity, but no one present doubted Bowler's sincerity.

Would Abolish Free Lunch.

Abolition of free lunch was proposed in all seriousness by Leo Oppenheimer of the Chicago Restaurant association, a group which he said was composed of more than 6,000 members. With the sales tax applicable to the sale of beer, Oppenheimer contended that free lunch would be a very expensive custom.

Most of the members of the subcommittee showed more anxiety over the problem of furnishing a 5 cent glass of beer than on any other topic.

A survey of the total taxes which would be levied on brewers, jobbers and retailers gave little hope, however, that a return of the nickel schooner is likely. That was the opinion given by M. J. Donnelly of Cedar Rapids, Ia., who represented the Anheuser-Busch, Pabst and Schlitz brewing interests at the hearing. He was called as an expert witness and shook his head dolefully when the question was put by Representative A. B. Lager [Dem., Carlisle].

Asks Low Fee for Dealers.

Donnelly's chief mission, which was also that of M. D. Weaver, secretary of the Chicago and Cook County Retail Butchers and Grocers' association, was to favor approval of the $25 fee for class B licenses, permitting dealers to sell beer only for consumption off the premises.

Donnelly pleaded for laws to allow the "widest and most free distribution of beer possible."

"It is our one safeguard against the speakeasies and the bootleggers," he said. "There should also be laws against drinking beer on the highways and it might be best to prohibit grocers from icing beer so that there would be little likelihood of persons trying to evade the law and drinking in these class B establishments."

Opposes State License.

Ald. Clark told the committee, when he was recognized by Chairman Franz, that Chicago wished to keep its present power to license, define and regulate establishments selling soft drinks, malt or vinous beverages.

"We object to the proposed $100 license fee to be paid the state which is proposed by Gov. Horner," he said. "The revenue itself—which would amount to about $500,000 or $800,000—would mean little to a city which spends about 170 million dollars annually, but we object to the precedent. The city should have the power to license and it should not be tampered with."

Ald. Bowler, Moran, Tom Terrell, and Deputy City Collector George Lohmann agreed with Clark. In addition to Chairman Franz the following members of the subcommittee were present: Representatives Hennebery, Ruddy, McClugage, Jenkins, Libonati, Lager, Noonan, and Cola.

your winter's savings in coal

● Another winter about gone. And if you have burned coal or coke you have saved money—a lot of money.

Take the home of Fred Wurm at 7700 S. Paulina St., for example. It is not a large house, and yet he scrapped his noisy expensive burner and estimated his savings from coal over five years at $744.20. Quite a tidy sum under the cost of the fuel he was burning.

Or consider the savings of Charles Dorigan. He used another fuel two years ago to heat his small two-story flat, store, greenhouse, and garage at 1641 West 63rd Street. He ripped out his expensive burner and turned to coal heat. An actual check of costs show that his yearly saving was $250!

A two-apartment building at 6645 S. Richmond Street figured a five-year saving of $1207.20 by burning coal.

Your savings have been proportionate—unless you have been lured by a so-called bargain in coal and found you were either short-weighted or delivered a poor grade of coal.

Resolve now always to be sure of all of coal's savings by buying from a member of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association. He is pledged to deliver full weight and honest grading or forfeit his membership.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

WATER HEARING REVEALS STATE IS NEARLY BROKE

$8,156,000 Deficit Found in Three Tax Funds.

The state of Illinois had a deficit of $8,156,000 on Jan. 1 in its funds raised by general property taxation. By the end of the year it is estimated that this deficit, even after making allowance for $3,000,000 in administrative economies, will have swelled to $15,300,000. This is without consideration of relief expenditures.

Those statements of the condition of the state's finances became available yesterday from the testimony of Joseph J. Rice, state director of finance, given a month ago before Special Master in Chancery Edward F. McClennen in the sanitary district water diversion case.

Receivership at Issue.

Mr. Rice testified at a reopening of the hearing on the application of lake states for the appointment of a receiver to carry out the sanitary district sewage treatment projects, ordered by the United States Supreme court in its mandate of 1930 restricting the district's diversion from Lake Michigan. The hearing had been closed when Master McClennen intimated to attorneys that he would recommend to the Supreme court that the state of Illinois be required to assume the financial burden of construction which the district has been unable to keep up to date because of delinquent tax collections in Cook county.

The hearing was reopened for testimony of Mr. Rice and Gov. Horner upon the present financial burdens of the state. They assured Master McClennen that the state is running sadly behind in meeting its regular expenditures, and that chances of selling $140,000,000 worth of bonds to carry out the program he suggested were negligible. Their testimony did not sway him from his decision to recommend that the state be required to undertake the work, however, for he made such a recommendation in his report to the Supreme court last week.

Mr. Rice's testimony was based upon an examination of the condition of state fiances which he made at the request of Gov. Horner. It included a series of general recommendations for guarding the state government against the virtual bankruptcy which now afflicts local governments in Cook county.

"These figures do not represent the result of an audit," said Mr. Rice in his report, "but were assembled to show the general situation. A complete audit would develop variations."

The state has four large funds wholly or principally supported by the general property tax and administered by state officials. These are the general funds, University of Illinois fund, waterway bond fund, and soldiers' bonus bond fund. Two other funds, the state distributive school fund and the blind relief fund, are collected from general property taxation, but receipts in these funds are disbursed to the counties for expenditure, so that the funds cannot normally incur a deficit if the disbursements keep pace with the receipts.

Three Funds Overexpended.

Mr. Rice found, however, that three of the four funds which the state and University of Illinois officials disburse directly had been overexpended when Gov. Horner took office at the first of the year. The money for these overpenditures was obtained by interfund borrowings such as the city of Chicago has resorted to for some years to keep running.

In the case of the state government the borrowing was principally from the road and motor fuel fund. The three large items contributing to this fund are the gasoline tax, state vehicle license fees, and the federal highway subsidy, none of which, of course, are affected by the year's delay in Cook county tax collections and the tax delinquencies, both in Chicago and downstate, which are responsible for the depletion of the property tax funds.

The general fund, from which all of the ordinary activities of the state are financed, had a deficit of $4,450,000 on Jan. 1. After allowing for $8,000,000 in economies to be accomplished principally by a 10 per cent pay cut for state employes, the expenditures from the fund during the present year were estimated by Mr. Rice at $31,250,000. He estimated that the revenue available during the year will be only $26,195,000, which would increase the deficit to $9,505,000 by the end of the year.

All of the estimates of revenue are based upon the surmise that Cook county will be able to collect only 40 per cent of its 1931 tax levy, and that downstate counties will collect 85 per cent of their 1932 levies. These are the levies in current collection. Mr. Rice estimated that the state's share of collections of taxes delinquent in former years would not exceed $500,000.

Shortage in University Fund.

The University of Illinois fund had a deficit of $290,000 on Jan. 1. It will collect $1,442,000 in taxes during the year, Mr. Rice estimated, but the university plans to expend $1,576,000 from the fund, increasing its deficit at the end of this year to an estimated $424,000.

The waterway bond fund still had $6,000 on hand on Jan. 1, but its payments for bond retirements and interest during the year will exceed tax income so as to leave an indicated deficit of $345,000.

There is already a $3,416,000 deficit in the bonus bond fund. Its required expenditures will exceed receipts by 60 per cent during this year, it is estimated, boosting the deficit to $5,026,000.

That completes the inventory of what may be called the debtor funds. There remains, Mr. Rice said, the condition of the creditor funds from which money is being drawn, aside from the proper disbursements from those funds, to keep the state operating as a solvent business.

Other Funds Face Reductions.

The road and motor fuel fund had $17,936,000 on Jan. 1, including the tax warrants given it from the borrowing funds. The expenditures from this fund will exceed receipts during the year, however, and it is estimated by Mr. Rice that it will be reduced to $15,765,000 by the end of the year. Similarly the cash balances of all other state funds will have been reduced from $4,952,000 to $3,242,000 during the present year.

From this surplus of $19,007,000 at the end of the year must be subtracted the estimated deficits of $15,300,000 to be incurred by the funds supported by general property taxes, since that proportion of the road and motor fuel and miscellaneous funds will be represented, not by cash but by tax warrants issued by the borrowing funds.

That would leave a net cash balance of only $3,707,000 in the state treasury, taken as a whole. In comparison with the monthly cash requirements of the state government this is an insignificant sum, Mr. Rice pointed out. It is a short step from this situation to that of the Chicago local governments, with their overdue pay rolls and defaulted bond and interest payments, he said.

This situation will hold true, however, only if the state confines its sale of tax warrants to its own funds, without attempting sales in the open market. The state now has $7,810,000 in warrants outstanding. Mr. Rice estimated that it will be able to sell $24,574,000 in additional warrants against the levies of 1932 and prior years.

Warrant Sales Restricted.

Tax warrant sales are restricted by law to 75 per cent of the particular levy which secures the warrants. In his computations of the amount of warrants which the state may issue, Mr. Rice apparently assumed that after collecting the major portion of a levy the state might still sell warrants up to 75 per cent of the delinquent taxes. For instance, downstate taxes for 1931 are about 87½ per cent collected, yet in his table of potential tax warrant sales powers he estimated that the state might still sell warrants up to three-quarters of this 12½ per cent of uncollected taxes. It is regarded as improbable that any one would buy such warrants.

In his testimony before Master McClennen, Gov. Horner pointed out that the market for tax warrants narrows as tax collections decrease, and at the same time expressed apprehension that the mounting tide of tax delinquencies in Cook county would spread to downstate counties in the collection of 1932 taxes.

MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE EXPECTED TO SLASH BUDGET $12,000,000

Lansing, Mich., March 27.—[Special.]—Finance committees of senate and house are preparing a state budget for the coming year representing a reduction of one-third from the 1933 appropriations, it was disclosed today by Senator Henry C. Glasner, Charlotte, chairman of the senate committee.

Reductions for state institutions and departments will amount to $12,000,000. A few hospitals, Senator Glasner said, will be spared the maximum cut, but will be reduced 18 per cent.

Among the specific institutional reductions to be recommended are:

University of Michigan, $1,000,000; Michigan State college, $500,000; Traverse City hospital, $101,000; Michigan Home and Training school, Lapeer, $143,000; Ypsilanti hospital, $65,000; Pontiac State hospital, $72,000; Jackson prison, $583,000; Kalamazoo hospital, $15,300.

STATE TAX BOARD CALLS PARLEY ON COOK CO. MUDDLE

Nixon and Brummel Agree to Attend Meeting.

The state tax commission yesterday requested all interested public officials to appear before the board for a discussion of the order of the board of tax appeals that the 1931 assessed building value of all homes and small flat buildings in the county be reduced 25 per cent.

George F. Nixon and Fred W. Brummel, members of the board of tax appeals, who have been carrying on a controversy with County Assessor Jacobs and other officials over the legality of their order since they issued it last week, accepted the invitation. They asked that any hearings be open to the public. No time has been set for the conference.

Appeals Board Defends Order.

Mr. Nixon and Mr. Brummel issued two statements yesterday in defense of their order, one purporting to show that the order merely corrects inequalities in the 1931 reassessment, in which the appeals board members claim the reductions granted small home owners were much less than those given to other classes of property, and the other showing the small effect which the reduction, if carried through, will have upon the total tax revenue of the county. It will reduce the total tax collections only 2.5 per cent, the appeals board contends.

Such a reduction, which would cut the revenue of the state and all Cook county governments by about $6,500,000, could not possibly affect the validity of tax warrants, which may be issued up to only 75 per cent of the levy, Mr. Nixon and Mr. Brummel contend. However, Attorney Henry E. Cutler, a leading authority on municipal securities, has held that the appeal board order is illegal and would have a highly detrimental effect on the salability of tax warrants.

Announce Comparative Figures.

In support of its contention that the 1931 reassessment showed "illegal discrimination against home owners in favor of other classes of property," which its order is designed to correct, the appeals board submitted figures on the assessment reductions granted all property in certain areas, which are either occupied wholly by income producing property or wholly by a residences and two and three flat buildings. The figures on some of these areas, with the average assessment reduction and average tax reduction or tax increase below 1930 figures, follow.

	Assessment reduced pct.	Taxes reduced pct.

*Denotes increased tax bills for 1931 over 1930.

Mr. Nixon and Mr. Brummel also asserted that assessments on bungalows and cottages had been reduced only 9.27 per cent in the county at large, while assessments on medium and large apartment buildings, store and apartment buildings, public garages, banks, and theaters were reduced an average of 23.83 per cent.

MRS. WALKER GRANTED DIVORCE DECREE FROM N. Y. FORMER MAYOR

Miami, Fla., March 27.—(AP)—Mrs. Janet Allen Walker today received a final decree of divorce to conclude the suit she brought some time ago against James J. Walker, former mayor of New York City.

Mrs. Walker asked for the divorce on a plea of desertion. Walker, now in Cannes, France, did not appear at the hearing.

Mrs. Walker made no request for alimony and testified that Walker had supported her since the time he left their home. She wept frequently on the witness stand as she discussed her married life with the former mayor.

COUNTY BOARD VOTES $600,000 FOR 8,000 BILLS

Some of Small Debts Are Five Years Old.

The county board voted yesterday to pay about 8,000 of its back bills, some of which have been due since 1927.

The bills range in amount from 34 cents to a few hundred dollars. They were contracted largely during the years 1929, 1930 and 1931, although some run two years farther back. Larger creditors of the county have as a rule been paid in tax warrants, leaving only the small bills to be settled by cash.

Pay Up to December, 1931.

The bills to be paid are the ones contracted up to Dec. 1, 1931, the end of the county's fiscal year. The funds, about $600,000, will come from the county clerk's and county treasurer's fees for 1931 tax extensions.

The bills are for hammers, nails, drugs, spring water, seeds, food and numerous other items the county purchases in maintaining its institutions. Following are a few examples of the bills to be paid:

Clark & Barlow Hardware company	9.50
Eastman Kodak Stores	71.46
Dobkin Electrical Supply company	6.80
George B. Carpenter & Co.	11.44
Liquid Carbonic company	192.00
Auto Power Door company	8.00
Bay Chemical company	27.60
Central Scientific company	124.73
Cities Service Oil company	65.60
Crane company	36.28
Hinckley & Schmitt	199.50
Williamsport Wire Rope company	12.18
Vaughan Seed Store	17.95
Boylston Steam Specialty company	108.07
Crescent Washing Machine company	85.72
Burroughs Adding Machine company	7.75
A. B. Dick company	1.50
Consolidated Ribbon and Carbon Co.	.50
Bauer & Black	44.00
Parke, Davis & Co.	9.57
Crescent Dental Manufacturing Co.	28.95

The county had advertised for bids to be received yesterday for $1,600,000 worth of poor relief bonds, but Frank Chambers, superintendent of public service, informed the board members that there were no bids submitted.

Mr. Chambers will seek to give the bonds to creditors of the county in payment for supplies furnished for relief activities before Feb. 6, 1932.

The legislature authorized the county to issue the bonds to defray relief expenditures, which it was held the Illinois emergency relief commission could not assume because the debts had been incurred before the commission was authorized by law.

OPEN 2D TRIAL OF 7 NEGROES ON RAPE CHARGE

Defense Battles to Knock Out Indictment.

Decatur, Ala., March 27.—(AP)—A legal battle to set aside the indictment against seven Negroes charged with attacking two white girls was launched in Morgan Circuit court today. The defense sought to establish its contention that the defendants had been deprived of their rights through exclusion of Negroes from the grand jury that indicted them.

The action, forerunner of the second trial of the Negroes, who once were sentenced to death at Scottsboro, Ala., and who were granted a rehearing by the United States Supreme court, began after several hours' delay in transferring the defendants from the Jefferson county jail in Birmingham to Decatur.

No Disorder at Trial.

An escort of National Guardsmen surrounded the Negroes as they were brought into the courtroom, but there was no disorder.

Samuel S. Leibowitz of New York, chief of defense counsel, and Attorney General Thomas E. Knight Jr., directing the prosecution, clashed frequently as the former sought to prove through witnesses that Negroes "habitually were excluded" from juries in Jackson county.

While the defendants drowsed against the wall behind the counsel table, occasionally showing interest in the proceedings, the attorneys who seek their freedom read into the records an amended petition to quash the indictments.

Leibowitz, in presenting his case, declared "there has never been a Negro on an Alabama jury."

Attorney General Knight in a brief statement denied the allegations.

"We will show the court no such administration of the laws that negroes are systemically excluded from the juries."

J. S. Benson, editor of the Progressive-Age at Scottsboro, was the first witness.

Knight Takes Up Questioning.

Leibowitz asked Benson if he knew of a Negro ever serving on an Alabama jury.

"I don't know that one ever has," he replied, and Knight took up the questioning.

Knight read the jury qualifications calling for good character, sound judgment, and qualifications as to age, property and intelligence.

"I know some good Negroes, but as Negroes go, I think that sound judgment would get them," Benson said.

"Most all Negroes will steal," he replied to a question by Leibowitz.

A ripple of laughter occurred, several of the defendants joining in the laughter.

Asked what he meant by Negroes lacking "sound judgment," Benson responded that they were "not trained, and I might say the same applies to women." There was laughter again.

SCHOOL SYSTEM OF WINNETKA IS ISSUE AT POLLS

Two factions in Winnetka are battling over control of the suburb's school system. Charges are being made by the Independent party that the present school authorities are teaching pacifistic Socialism, directly or indirectly. These accusations are denied by the authorities, who quote nationally known educators as approving the Winnetka educational program.

The fight will be determined at the election on April 8. The Independent group has put up a ticket consisting of Arthur G. Henning, for president, and Allen A. Wright, Mrs. H. Virginia Koch, and Mrs. Gertrude Galloway, for trustees. The regular ticket will include Clarence B. Randall, for president, and Robert B. Brown, Mrs. Hildegard W. Warfield, and Mrs. Beatrice C. Rothschild, for trustees. Mr. Randall is the present president of the board.

Center of the attack of the Independents is Carleton Washburne, superintendent of Winnetka schools and founder of the system now used. One of the features of this system is the unit plan whereby aggressive children may advance ahead of their classmates in proportion to their individual achievements.

ENJOY THE TASTE OF REAL GIN FLAVOUR

There's a world of difference between Holloway's London Dry and synthetic concoctions. Holloway's is the only genuine, imported distilled gin (non-alcoholic). Distilled in London since 1630. It is real gin, minus the 45 per cent of alcohol, to comply with the law. Not expensive and for sale by all good food shops.

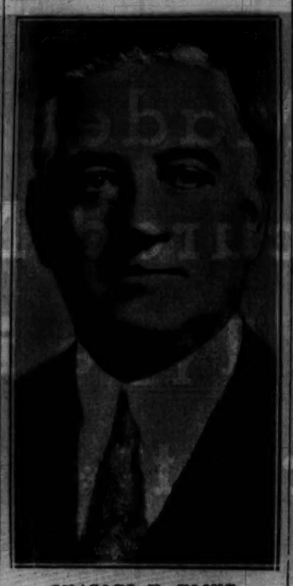
Ousted from Office



CHARLES H. KLINE.
[Acme Photo.]

Philadelphia, Pa., March 27.—(AP)—Judge Thomas H. Finletter today issued an order ousting from office Mayor Charles H. Kline of Pittsburgh.

The order modifies the sentence imposed on the mayor as a result of his conviction on a charge of malfeasance in office in connection with alleged illegal letting of city contracts.

He was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $5,000. The modified order eliminates the jail term, ousts him from office and allows the fine to stand.

VICTIMS BATTLE ROBBERS; SHOOT ONE, SAVE $15,000

Frank J. Palzen, 2932 North Sawyer avenue, owner and manager of the Commerce Armored Car Protection company, and his brother, Thomas, saved $15,000 from two gunmen yesterday when they attempted to hold them up in the office of the company on the seventh floor at 211 West Wacker drive. Frank shot and seriously wounded one of the bandits and Thomas disarmed the other man, who escaped.

The wounded robber identified himself at the Bridewell hospital as Jack White, 28 years old, 4619 South Troy street. He refused to name his companion.

Thomas Palzen was getting the money, collected from theaters, ready for transportation to a loop bank when the bandits followed Frank into the office. They ordered the brothers to raise their hands. Instead Frank seized the revolver of the bandit nearest him, while Thomas struggled with the other bandit for possession of his weapon, a sawed-off shotgun.

As the four struggled the shotgun was discharged, ripping a hole in the ceiling plaster. Finally Frank knocked his adversary down and fired at close range. The other bandit fled.

One Fatal Auto Accident Raises Year's Toll to 191

Joseph Zaremba, 31 years old, 2134 Fowler street, a mechanic, was fatally injured last night when he was struck at Hirsch street and Western avenue by an automobile driven by Andrew Brenner of 24 North Main street, Park Ridge. Zaremba died in St. Elizabeth's hospital. His death increased the 1933 Cook county motor tool to 191.

SCHOOL PAY DAY POSTPONED; NO CASH AVAILABLE

City Lacks Funds to Buy Board's Tax Warrants.

The city has no cash available now for investment in school tax warrants to provide a pay day for board of education employes, it was announced yesterday following a conference in the office of Acting Mayor Corr.

City Controller Szymczak said that all of the city's cash at present is held for the accounts of trust funds, such as the special assessment fund, which City Treasurer Kearns is barred from investing. However, Mr. Kearns said that because of the delay in reopening a number of banks and the number of checks which have been returned to him for that reason, the exact condition of the various city funds is unknown. He said that later examination may show some money which is free for investment in school warrants.

There is also about $400,000 in the school playground and free textbook fund which might be diverted to meet a school pay roll, Mr. Kearns reported. It requires more than $2,000,000 to pay the school employes for two weeks.

Will Interview Dewey.

School Trustees Joseph Savage and Helen Hefferan, who attended yesterday's conference, are to interview Charles S. Dewey, chairman of the subcommittee which has been selling tax warrants for the citizens' committee, and ask him when he expects to have cash available for the city, county and school board.

Mr. Dewey has taken the attitude that he cannot complete his negotiations with large business concerns for the sale of tax warrants until the general assembly legislates on the authority of the city council to elect an acting mayor, thus making valid any warrants signed by Acting Mayor Corr.

A massmeeting of teachers to urge drastic action to obtain back pay will be held Friday afternoon at the Auditorium theater. The meeting was announced by William J. Page, president of the Chicago division of the Illinois State Teachers' association. The back salaries of teachers and other school employes amount to more than $27,000,000.

Acts to Redeem Warrants.

Steps were taken yesterday by Howard P. Savage, business manager of the school system, to start the redemption of 1931 board of education tax warrants from tax collections. Legal doubt over the validity of Acting Mayor Corr's signature on checks has held up the redemption, with the result that more than $400 a day is being piled up in interest.

Mr. Savage said that following a conference with City Treasurer Kearns it had been decided to go ahead on the assumption that the de facto mayor's signature is legal.

Notices were sent out to holders of tax warrants to present them at the school board offices in the Builders' building at La Salle street and Wacker drive before April 1. According to plans redemption of the warrants will start about April 5.

Warrants to the extent of $2,179,750 will be redeemed. The amounts available in the various school funds are as follows: Educational, $1,070,000; building $709,750; bond redemption, $350,000, and playground, $20,000.

ENGINE KILLS SWITCHMAN.

Hugo Meyers, 45 years old, 3143 North Hoyne avenue, was killed yesterday afternoon by a switch engine in the Chicago and North Western railway yards near 1900 Diversey avenue.

HUNT RACKETEER IN BEAUTY SHOP OWNER'S MURDER

"Dynamite Pete" Cuniff, labor racketeer, was sought by police yesterday for questioning about the murder of Frank Interlande, 35 years old, owner of a prosperous chain of loop beauty parlors, who was found shot to death early Sunday in a ditch at Stony Island avenue and 154th street.

Alfred Peluso, 2633 South 59th avenue, Berwyn, a barber employed in one of Interlande's shops, was questioned in the Interlande home at 2233 Parker avenue by Lieut. Robert Seider of the county highway police. Peluso said he gave his employer a hair cut and shave Saturday evening and that Interlande had told him he was going out on a party with six couples and was to meet them at State street and Jackson boulevard.

The search for Cuniff was started when police learned that attempts had been made recently by labor racketeers to "muscle in" on the beauty parlor business by organizing employes.

Gives Gold for Currency; Is Robbed on Way Home

Mrs. Anna Toso, 8447 Buffalo avenue, went to a bank yesterday and exchanged $460 in gold for currency. As she alighted from a street car at 79th street and Brandon avenue two men leaped from an automobile, seized her purse, and drove off with it.

PUT IDLE RELIEF ON EARNED BASIS, HORNER IS URGED

County Board and A. of C. Ask New Commission.

Reorganization of the machinery for relief of the idle will be recommended to Gov. Henry Horner today in a plan approved by the Cook county board and the Chicago Association of Commerce. Chief features of the proposal are the creation of a new state commission and the expansion of plans to place aid on an earned basis.

The program, which has been designed to strengthen some of the weak spots of what was started as a temporary relief undertaking, but has now grown into one of the greatest problems of the state, calls for the appointment by the governor of a commission of not more than seven members. They are to be selected for their "known public spirit, social viewpoint, and business judgment."

See Efficiency in Plan.

This commission, it is argued, would be compact and free from political pressure, and it is proposed that it should take direct supervision of the machinery set up by the relief organizations and of the procedure under which funds for the idle are to be distributed.

One important recommendation reads: "The relief commission thus proposed shall be required to develop specific and feasible plans for utilizing constructively the time, skill, and labor of unemployed workers to the end that the community may benefit through a reduction of present and future governmental and social costs and at the same time conserve the self-respect and morale of the beneficiaries of unemployment relief which are bound to be impaired through the receipt of direct relief for which nothing is given in return.

Horner Waits on Washington.

Gov. Horner, it has been indicated, has been holding in abeyance the reorganization of the relief machinery pending the activities at Washington to obtain further loans from the federal government.

The recommendations set forth that in view of the magnitude of the task of relief, amounting to millions of dollars monthly, it is imperative that the funds be administered in the most efficient manner possible "to the end that every dollar spent for unemployment relief should be utilized to the utmost in preventing privation."

BOLTS HIS LUNCH

—but his digestion is "clicking"

What the man with a "cast-iron stomach" really has is six-hour digestion. If you suffer from a slow stomach, taking soda won't help matters. Do this:

Get some diapepsin at the drug store. Each tablet saves the stomach half an hour's work. If your digestion is an hour slow, two tablets after eating will correct it. No distress. Not even any gas or sourness. Take this precaution after every heavy or hurried meal until your stomach seems able to do its work without help.

Pape's Diapepsin has ended all food fear for many men and women who once had to pamper their stomachs.

The Chicago Tribune
Tribune Tower
Chicago, Illinois

Gentlemen:

Just a year ago we were studying markets and newspapers in preparation for the intensive Kelly-Springfield 1932 merchandising drive.

At first glance Chicago appeared to be a difficult problem. We knew that it was a bitterly competitive market, to which the leading members of the tire industry had devoted their major efforts for years. Nothing but an outstanding advertising effort therefore could hope to accomplish our objective.

We finally selected the Chicago Tribune, which we used exclusively in your market, not only because of its influence and coverage in the Metropolitan area, but also because of its real effectiveness in the territory outside of Chicago.

Now, as we are about to inaugurate our 1933 newspaper advertising, it seems only fitting to express our appreciation of the part The Tribune played in our 1932 merchandising campaign.

First, and most significant, is the fact that we made definite progress in Chicago. Of equal importance is the fact that we were able to secure new dealers of the finest type in the outside market who cooperated with us with real enthusiasm -- all of which bodes well for the future.

The advertising power of The Tribune, backed by the unceasing and intelligent merchandising cooperation of your staff, helped bring these results, which were very pleasing to all of us. It contributed no small share, we feel, to the real progress that our company made in your market during a very difficult year.

Very truly yours,

KELLY-SPRINGFIELD TIRE COMPANY (New York)

1932 was a good year for Kelly-Springfield in Chicago . . . a year in which they concentrated their entire Chicago advertising in the Chicago Tribune.

Kelly-Springfield know the facts of the Chicago situation. In previous years they had used other Chicago papers, so they had definite records to go on when they selected the Tribune exclusively for their 1932 campaign.

They know . . . by the proof of their own sales records . . . that the Chicago Tribune covers the entire Chicago Market, adequately . . . completely . . . economically.

They understand that the Chicago Tribune, in providing 52% coverage of all city and suburban Chicago families, actually provides practically complete coverage of all Chicago able-to-buy income groups.

Behind this significant statistical statement is the even more important fact that the Tribune exercises the most forceful influence in what these well established families desire and buy.

Then, too, the added influence of the Chicago Tribune throughout the entire Chicago trading area is a vital asset in every Kelly-Springfield campaign. In addition to providing 191,000 more circulation in metropolitan Chicago than any other Chicago daily newspaper, the Tribune also reaches 170,000 preferred families throughout the adjacent cities and towns composing the great Chicago market

This dominant coverage of Chicago makes it literally true that "if you are not in the Tribune, you are not in Chicago". And, when it comes to using the Tribune, do not overlook the fact that you can do so at the lowest milline rate of any Chicago newspaper.

Check Chicago as it should be checked . . . get real, first-hand knowledge of this market . . . and your use of the Chicago Tribune is practically inescapable. The determining data of the entire Chicago situation is yours for the asking. Never has there been a more vital time to ask for it than now.

1 SLAIN, 2 SHOT IN MINER FIGHT; SAY STRIKE FAILS

Progressive Leader Dies in Pistol Battle.

West Frankfort, Ill., March 27.—[Special.]—John Ward, 45, leader of the striking Progressive Miners' union of West Frankfort, was shot to death in a pistol fight with two members of the United Mine Workers here today. His antagonists, Clarence Cooper and Elmer Donaldson, both of Eldorado, were wounded.

Ward, a member of the relief committee of the Progressive group, has recently been active in exposing twenty-five men alleged to have received public aid while they had bank balances. When Ray Edmundson, president of the local United Mine Workers, and John Moulin, member of the scale committee, walked into the telegraph office, Ward followed.

According to Edmundson and Moulin, Ward leaned over the counter and read a telegram Edmundson had written, whereupon they threw him out of the place.

Report Ward Opened Fire.

Ward was walking away, according to other witnesses, when Cooper and Donaldson advanced upon him, and he opened fire. Cooper and Donaldson had been brought here Saturday night, it was learned, to assist local officers in identifying any Saline county Progressives, who might enter Franklin county in an effort to shut down the mines in a strike called by the Progressives for today.

Before they took cover behind trees, Cooper was hit in the left breast and Donaldson in the left arm. Sniping from behind the tree trunks, they killed Ward as he reached the steps of the Stone undertaking rooms across the street. They were later removed to the local hospital.

Following a mass meeting at Ziegler, Progressives had sent airplanes aloft to scatter pamphlets calling for a strike today in Franklin, Williamson and Saline counties, stronghold of the United Mine Workers.

200 Deputies on Job.

The Frankin county sheriff, Browning Robinson, had 200 special deputies out to prevent picketing at the six mines in this county. All six mines hoisted coal today and operators termed the strike a "affilure."

Individual mines reported depleted crews, however, without releasing figures on the number reporting for work. Progressives have claimed that 85 per cent of the United Mine Workers have been kept at work under duress and were secretly pledged to quit when Progressive headquarters called a strike. To this claim, operators and county officials retorted that all mines would be operating normally tomorrow.

FIRST UNIFORMS FOR WORLD'S FAIR POLICE ARRIVE

The first of the new uniforms which World's Fair policemen will wear arrived at the Administration building of A Century of Progress yesterday.

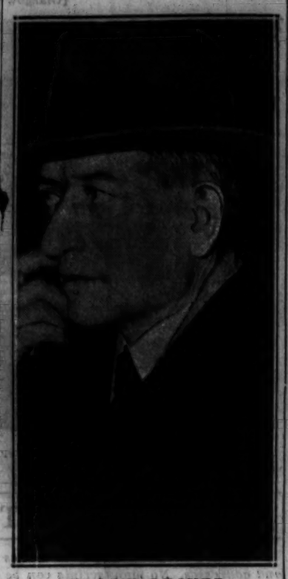
The uniforms are modeled after those of the Canadian Northwest mounted police and will be worn by 200 policemen chosen from the south park board's eligible list when the fair opens June 1. Later another 100 policemen will be placed on duty at A Century of Progress. They will be paid by the World's Fair organization.

Instead of the breeches and puttees of the Canadian mounted police uniforms the World's Fair police will wear long trousers of navy blue with a yellow stripe on each leg. Combined with this will be a tunic of scarlet with brass buttons, patch pockets, and Sam Browne belts of black leather. Tropical helmets of white will be worn with leather chin straps.

Indian Police Fire on Mob; One Slain, Several Injured

CALCUTTA, India, March 27.—(AP)—One person was killed and several injured today when police fired revolvers while repulsing an attack by a large crowd of Nationalist congress demonstrators in the village of Bankati.

HOLDUP VICTIM



ANDREW BECKER.

As he left the Blackhawk restaurant, 139 North Wabash avenue, yesterday to take $1,850 to a loop bank, Andrew Becker, 55 years old, 1329 North Dearborn street, messenger for the restaurant, was held up by three gunmen. When he resisted one of them slugged him with the butt of a revolver and snatched the money bag from his hands. The robbers then ran to a waiting automobile and disappeared in traffic. The robbery and escape occurred so quickly that a dozen pedestrians in the vicinity were not aware of what was happening.

CALLS CHURCHES TO BE VIGILANTES DURING THE FAIR

Criminal Influx Is On, Dean Mathews Says.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Methods by which Chicago churches may help enforcement agencies to rid the city of undesirable visitors during the Century of Progress exposition were outlined yesterday by Dean Shailer Mathews of the University of Chicago school of divinity. He spoke before the Union Ministers' meeting under the auspices of the Chicago Church Federation at the Central Y. M. C. A., 19 South La Salle street.

Asserts Influx Has Started.

Dean Mathews reported to 600 ministers attending the meeting that already many confidence men, gamblers, and disorderly house inmates have entered the city with a view to preying on the World's Fair crowds. He recalled that the 1893 fair brought hordes of undesirables to the city and that there had been little coöperative effort among religious leaders prior to that fair to combat their activities.

For Committee in Each Church.

The organization and work of the South Side Protective council, of which Dean Mathews is the head, was described. Dean Mathews said the plan called for the creation of special committees in each church to observe the neighborhood in which the church works and to report to a central agency such information concerning illicit resorts as may be obtained.

1848 LOCOMOTIVE BROUGHT TO CITY AS FAIR EXHIBIT

One of the first locomotives of the west, the Pioneer, 27 feet long, was unloaded at the Travel and Transport building of A Century of Progress exposition yesterday and assembled in the Chicago & North Western railway's exhibit space. The Pioneer made its first trip out of Chicago on Oct. 24, 1848, running between Chicago and Maywood. It was shown in the world's fair of 1893 and the St. Louis world's fair of 1904. The Pioneer had a maximum speed of 25 miles an hour. It has only one pair of driving wheels 4½ feet in diameter and weighs 10 tons. Its steam pressure under operation was 100 pounds.

SUPREME COURT GRANTS REVIEW TO MOPS VOLPE

Agrees to Hear Appeal on Deportation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 27.—[Special.]—The Supreme court agreed today to review the case of Anthony [Mops] Volpe, Chicago gangster, who was ordered deported after a lengthy legal battle in the courts of Illinois.

ANTHONY [MOPS] VOLPE.

The highest court granted the rehearing on a petition for a writ of certiorari filed by Representative Frank R. Reid [Rep., Ill.], as counsel for Volpe. No date was set for argument, but court attachés said the case is expected to come up about the middle of April.

Volpe's deportation is sought by the government as a part of its drive to break up the Capone gang. A warrant for his arrest, charging moral turpitude and illegal entry into this country, was issued by the immigration bureau in 1930.

M. J. INSULL DUE BACK IN APRIL, COURT IS TOLD

Return of Martin J. Insull from Canada before the end of April was predicted yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney John O'Hara before Chief Justice John Prystalski in the Criminal court. The judge then continued until April 27 the charges of embezzlement against Martin and Samuel Insull in connection with the crash of the utility companies which they controlled.

Extradition proceedings in the Canadian courts to force the return of Martin Insull are expected to be successfully completed within a month, O'Hara told Judge Prystalski. He did not mention Samuel Insull, who has been successful in his efforts to prevent the state from forcing him to return from Greece.

LAWYERS OPPOSE BILL TO LIBERALIZE N. YORK STATUTES ON DIVORCE

New York, March 27.—[Special.]—The pending bill to liberalize the New York state divorce laws which now permit decrees only on the basis of adultery is opposed by the committee on legislation of the New York County Lawyers' association, according to an announcement today.

The bill would add the following causes for which divorce actions may be brought: Insanity, conviction of a felony or an infamous crime, extreme and repeated cruelty to endanger life and health, physical incapacity, habitual intemperance, fraud, desertion for a period of three years, want of age of consent, and incestuous marriages.

The bill would create confusion by "destroying the distinction between divorce, separation and annulment actions," according to Maurice Deiches, who wrote the report disapproving the bill.

Also disapproved were bills to abolish the right to sue for breach of promise to marry; to prohibit vivisection of dogs; to raise the age limit of juvenile delinquents from sixteen to eighteen; to prohibit use of trucks for transport at night; to reduce the legal rate of interest to 5 per cent; to make women eligible for jury duty, and to provide additional defenses in mortgage foreclosures.

POLICEMAN GETS BURNS RESCUING CHILD FROM FIRE

Policeman Adam Klonowski of the stolen auto detail was severely burned on the hands by molten tar late last night in rescuing 2 year old Richard Sabauski from a burning building at 916 Newton street. The fire started at the rear porch of 914 Newton street and spread to 916. Mrs. Marie Sabauski, mother of the child, carried out two other children, Irene and Anthony Jr. Policeman Klonowski and his partner, Arthur Marsh, arrived at that moment.

Klonowski and Marsh entered the Sabauski flat, the former finding little Richard crying in the kitchen. He carried the boy through the flames, but to reach safety was forced to pass through the path between the burning buildings from which burning tar was falling. He shielded the boy with his body but was splashed on the hands and head with the scalding liquid.

Son Shoots His Father In Family Fight at Home

Jacob Mocha was wounded in the abdomen last night by a charge from a shotgun fired by his son, Joseph, 21 years old, in their home at 13439 Avenue L. Police were told that a family fight preceded the shooting. Mocha was taken to the South Chicago hospital.

POLITICAL PARTY FORMED BY IDLE OF NEW ZEALAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, March 27.—A new turn has been given to state aid for the idle here by the decision of the idle to use their organizations for political purposes and to run candidates in the coming local elections.

The first decision to enter the electoral field as a body was made by the idle workers' movement of Christchurch, principal town of the south island. The Auckland movement followed suit, and similar action is expected in other cities before the time for nomination of candidates for the two year term of office in civic posts.

Movement Worries Country.

Throughout the country this move has been greeted with foreboding. A raid on the local treasuries is feared should the idle succeed in winning many posts. They are expected to be able to marshal 100,000 voters.

The idle are interested in obtaining the key posts in the civic administration because, although there is a national plan for the relief of the idle here, a large amount of the funds for their aid has in the past come from the cities' treasuries.

The recent high exchange policy of the government, looking to currency inflation to aid the farmers, has been followed by a civic revolt. The city authorities have repudiated further responsibility for the aid of the idle and have told the government that all future aid must come from the central administration.

Fight Cut in Dole.

The idle thus see the possibility of their aid being trimmed severely during the coming months, and it is against this that they now plan to act. With control of the civic administration, their candidates will throw their weight against reduction of benefits and strive to obtain still greater relief.

Opposing this move there are springing up a number of organizations known as citizens' welfare groups which seek to remove the likelihood of the idle returning sufficient candidates to the civic government to dominate its policy. The citizens' movement would group all "safe" candidates and place their names on a ticket so that there may be block voting for them against the candidates nominated by the idle.

POLICE MEMORY TRAPS FUGITIVE AFTER 29 YEARS

Lucius Rapp, 54 years old, arrested yesterday in the Union station on suspicion of having stolen a purse containing $26, was taken to the detective bureau.

"Lucius Rapp, Lucius Rapp?" repeated Lieut. Edward Kelly when the prisoner was brought before him. "That name sounds familiar."

Lieut. Kelly looked up the records. He found a stop order, dated Aug. 19, 1904, stating that Rapp had escaped from the county jail while serving a year sentence for petty larceny.

"Don't you fellows ever forget?" complained Rapp.

He'll probably have to make up nine months on his unfinished sentence of 29 years ago.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

A LAKE MICHIGAN PORT AUTHORITY.

The commercial importance of a locality is determined largely by its geographical advantages. The flow of commodities to and from markets ignores state lines or the boundaries of municipalities. The metropolitan district of Chicago, from a commercial standpoint, includes all Lake Michigan ports from Green Bay to Grand Haven. It also embraces the territory inland for a hundred miles. In addition to being a great manufacturing and consuming center, this district is a gateway for state, interstate, and international commerce carried by rail, steamer, barge, truck, pipe line, and plane. It is the focal point of more lines of railroad than any other spot on earth. But its chief commercial advantage, and, in fact, the primary reason for its existence, is its location at the southern half of Lake Michigan with its access to the vast inland empire bordering on the great lakes and its connection with the Atlantic seaboard through the Erie canal. Upward of four hundred million dollars has been expended for construction and maintenance of facilities and structures connected with maritime operations in this district since the beginning of the nineteenth century.

These federal, state, and municipal expenditures have been directed to meet the needs of the locality to be served without reference to a more economic and practical plan for coördination of the interests of the entire district. The overlapping jurisdictions of the hundreds of local governmental authorities have been the despair of those transportation experts who have heretofore attempted to bring order out of chaos and outline a simple workable plan for a coördinated metropolitan port.

The Chicago regional port commission, acting under authority and by direction of the legislatures of Indiana and Illinois, after a year's careful study and investigation has completed its report and recommendations to the two states. Its proposed plan for an interstate port authority has the important advantage of simplicity. Careful study and analysis have been made of other port authorities throughout the United States, including New York, Philadelphia, and New Orleans. In its proposal we think the mistakes of these metropolitan areas have been avoided and those features of their plans which experience has proven workable have been adopted. Its plan is to be carried out by means of a compact between the two states, ratified by a federal enactment.

The proposed port authority will have no taxing or bonding powers, but will be given the power to lease, operate and maintain such port and terminal facilities as may be specifically authorized by act of the legislature of either state. Its duty will be to act as a clearing house for all water terminal and harbor proposals throughout the entire port district in order to insure coördination and the exercise of practical economy; to make recommendations to the proper authorities having jurisdiction for such action as may be necessary to complete and maintain an efficient terminal plan for the district; to represent the district in the courts or before the interstate or state commerce commissions in traffic cases where, in the opinion of the port authority, the best commercial interests of the district may be furthered and a coördinated water and rail traffic effected, and "to employ all available authorized means to bring into existence and maintain a full development of commerce in the district."

The port authority, composed of two members appointed by the governor of each state and one member appointed by them jointly, is not just another commission or bureau. The appointees may be state officials of the Illinois division of waterways and the Indiana department of conservation, or the officials assuming the duties of those gentlemen under the reorganized state governments which are being contemplated in both Indiana and Illinois.

A maximum expenditure of $15,000 yearly from each state will be more than sufficient to carry out the program recommended. In the event that direct appropriations for carrying on the work are not now available, the commission nevertheless recommends the passage of the proposed legislation, for it believes that voluntary services of qualified appointees as members of the port authority can be obtained temporarily.

After reviewing the work already done by the port commission and the practical recommendations it has already made in such matters as a bridge program for the Chicago river and drainage canal, the Illinois state barge terminal and the disposition of the Illinois and Michigan canal lands, we believe that millions of dollars may be saved by the state and municipalities if the proposed plan is adopted. The Illinois and Michigan canal fund has an income of approximately thirty thousand dollars a year from certain leases. Some of this money could be wisely spent in financing the proposed port authority.

The Indiana legislature has been quick to act on these recommendations. The bill has passed both houses and been signed by the governor. Now that the Illinois waterway has been completed and this district has an opportunity to get back some of the industries which have moved from it to the Atlantic seaboard in order to obtain the transportation advantages afforded by the Panama canal, similar action should be promptly taken at Springfield and provision made for the adherence of Michigan and Wisconsin.

WRECKED SCHOOLHOUSES.

Schoolhouses in Los Angeles seem to have suffered worst among important structures during the earthquake. That means they were dishonestly built.

Political crooks have found the schools a happy hunting ground in too many American communities. Education, like patriotism, has been a refuge of scoundrels. Padded pay rolls and corrupt contracts thrive under cover of the public's zeal and crooks get away with murder under pretense of extending educational opportunity to every child. They should not be allowed any longer to cover their misdeeds with the cloak of an honorable aspiration for human betterment. Corruption in school affairs has evaded disclosure because we looked at every expenditure for schools through the glass of our enthusiasm for education. It is time to realize that our unquestioning zeal for a great ideal has been made the shield of rank abuse.

ALL IN THE DAY'S WORK?

While the shooting was going on in the inner office of the Motion Picture Operators' union there were in the outer office a telephone operator, a business agent of the union, a theater owner, and three operators calling for assignments. When questioned by the police all said they had heard shots fired in the inner office but paid no attention to them.

Ho, hum! [Business of yawning.]

TAG DAY FOR VETERANS.

If the Disabled Veterans' association wishes to appeal to the public as a responsible organization for the relief of ex-service men it will not ask for a special tag day, but will join with the Poppy Day association, representing the main body of veteran relief organizations. The community should not be submitted to tag days by the many organizations of the city supporting philanthropic activities. The most important charities have recognized this and combine for one tag day a year for the charities for children and one for charities for adults. In addition, veterans' relief organizations have been assigned Poppy day, and the Disabled Veterans' association should accept its share for that day. There is no excuse for giving it a day of its own or any other share of the proceeds than is assigned to it in a fair division based upon what it is accomplishing as compared to the Legion and other organizations assisting the service men.

The public does not want a multiplication of tag days and neither do responsible charities, which realize that if tag days are multiplied they will become a nuisance the public will resent and ignore.

BITTER TO THE END.

The governor of Michigan gives no indication that he has any special consideration for the case presented by Fred Palm. Palm is an obscure victim of the Volstead spirit, notorious only because he was one of the delinquents selected by Michigan for a life sentence under a savage prohibition law. He merely identifies a class of victims and illustrates what prohibition bigotry was when it had its greatest power. Palm is no longer a lifer, but he is still serving a sentence grossly in excess of any offense which could be charged against him.

Michigan has joined other states in the reaction against such public policy, but the spirit which was so tigerish there and elsewhere endures in spite of repudiation and defeat. Disagreeable as this is to better sentiment, it is what could be expected and it is admonitory of the perils inherent in such a domination. It is unfortunate for the victims everywhere, but there is a public lesson in it, enduring even as the people are making good their revolt against such intolerable conditions.

Editorial of the Day

AVOID PARTISANSHIP!

[Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.]

Complete elimination of partisanship in congress was a prime factor in the splendid record of accomplishment made in the first two weeks of this session. It made possible the swift action on banking, economy, and the beer bill. Those first items of the President's program involved a minimum of temptation to partisanship. Succeeding items will be more difficult to keep clear of party tactics. The first sign of such danger has already come, in connection with the farm relief bill; and it should be checked at once.

The farm bill is peculiarly debatable; the President himself presented it as an experimental plan of action. It must be analyzed unsparingly and accepted, rejected, or amended on merit. Its great and evident difficulties should certainly not be aggravated by any indulgence in understandable, ordinarily more or less acceptable, but at this time quite intolerable striving for party gains. The Democratic patronage committee of the house made a bad misstep when it eliminated the bill's provision placing the many jobs to be created by the system under civil service. Republican Leader Snell denounced this act as an attempt to create a huge spoils system. The civil service provision would make selection of employés nonpartisan. It would open the jobs to the deserving, Democrats and Republicans alike, without discrimination, excluding only the unfit.

The public, insisting that the meritorious elements of the President's plan be saved and any demerits eliminated, will deeply resent any attempt to turn it into a scheme of party patronage. It has placed its faith in the new President and will have no patience with acts that obstruct his efforts, whether they come from his own party, as in this instance, or from the opposition.

MORE OF THESE NEEDED.

The busy lawyer looked up as his friend entered his chambers.

"What's the excitement?" he asked.

"Can you help me?" asked his friend. "A pal of mine has just been arrested for smuggling liquor into the country. Will you take the case?"

The lawyer raised his eyebrows inquiringly.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

NORMAN HAPGOOD SAYS good times will not come back at once, in fact not until next fall. Prosperity prophets are getting a little cautious; the last administration would not only give us the exact number of months as Mr. Hapgood has done, but they would set the day and hour: "Good times will return July 2 at half past two o'clock in the afternoon" or "The depression will end in six months, on Oct. 3, at 1:45 p. m. central standard time." But the prophets don't fall into that trap any more—it's a lot safer to say: "Oh, probably in six months," just like that, than to say Sept. 22, at 3:35 p. m. As long as the prophet leaves the date open he can't be called very severely to account.

The Triumph of Art in the Movies.

RHL: In the course of a recent very interesting interview between THE TRIB'S Hollywood correspondent and the director, Mr. Raoul Walsh, the latter is quoted as saying in reference to a certain party under discussion: "He will get along all right in films; he can spit through his teeth better than any one else in the movies." Really, the qualifications for becoming a cinema celebrity seem to be coming more complicated all the time.

WHY CAN'T WE HAVE a big trial of some officer accused of selling military secrets like the one they're having now in England? Our military men ought to be just as up and doing as the officers of any other army, but right now the British have it all over us. We've got secrets in our army, haven't we? And if not we could invent a few. We've got plenty of inventors over here in the U. S. A., too many, some people must think, because appeals have been made to congress to make inventors lay off for a year or two until the unemployed can catch up with 'em. Well, why can't the inventors use the time during their moratorium in inventing military secrets for the army? The army is all right on Decoration day and the Fourth of July, but it ought to have some good first class secrets.

EXPRESSION AND THE EYES.

THE expression of the eye, a theme which fanciful writers have always found attractive, is dependent almost altogether on the structures around the eyeball. The eyeball itself is merely a passenger. The "Mona Lisa" expression has been as much discussed as any. That lady seems to say to the individual spectator, "You and I have a little secret." The picture puts that across. It is an expression that most people know something about; have been parties to. They are surprised and intrigued by having the information revealed to them by some outsider. How did this painter know about it? How comes it that so many other people know about it, as witnessed by their appreciation of the picture?

The "Mona Lisa" expression is credited to the eyes. In so far as this is correct, the effect is due to the position of the eyelids. Therefore the credit should go there rather than to the eyes.

There is a somewhat prevalent notion that women can make their eyes shine by putting drops in them. Some of the drops used for the purpose, or said to be, consist of a weak, watery solution of belladonna or some kindred drug. Belladonna, in sufficient dosage, dilates the pupil and the effect of that on the appearance can be understood. At best it is a temporary effect and one that occasions some discomfort and develops some wrinkles. A dilated pupil lets in more light than is compatible with good vision and with comfort. In order to increase comfort the eyes are squinted and that makes for wrinkles.

The method has many disadvantages to compensate for any gain in appearance and, even in that field, the losses about equal the gains.

It is thought that putting drops in the eyes makes them more shiny. An excess of tears washing across the eyeball has that effect, but increasing the supply of tears is just what belladonna drops will not do. There is one condition that does, and that is exophthalmic goiter. If the eyeballs protrude the lids and lashes do not properly protect the delicate surfaces. An extra supply of washing fluid flowing across the surface is required. Physicians know that whenever the eyeballs are very shiny they must look out for goiter. Prominent eyeballs, pop eye not due to goiter, is apt to be a consequence of a shallow eye socket, one that is not deep enough or commodious enough to easily hold the ball. Departures of the socket from the normal may bring about some changes in the shape of the ball and, in that way, make necessary the use of glasses.

Most of the changes in expression which are noted around the eyes and which are credited to this feature result from contraction of the muscles of that part of the face. Habitual contraction of these muscles is a prolific source of wrinkles, all of which is hard on romance.

SEE YOUR DOCTOR.

Miss J. C. writes: I am 15 years old and I have a chronic heart. It came after pneumonia. Is it dangerous, and is it ever curable? Can I ever swim and dance? If it is curable, how long does it take? I am under a doctor's care.

REPLY.

"Chronic heart" is somewhat indefinite. Probably you have crippled heart valves. Such cases generally get better and live a long time. Eventually they build up a heart muscle that is strong enough to permit them to dance, and play, and work. In fact, it is better for them to do these things when the heart muscle is ready. I do not know what is best for you. That is for your doctor and you to decide.

REPLY.

No. It is a disturbance of the nerves corresponding to blushing, stuttering, panic, and some other unpleasant but otherwise minor conditions.

VOTING.

La Grange, Ill., March 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have been voting in village "A" for a number of years and only recently [2-27-'33] I moved to village "B" [same county]. On or about March 20, 1933, I am figuring on making my home back in village "A" for only a week or so and intend moving back to village "B." Election day is April 16, 1933. Where will I have a right to cast my vote, in village "A" or "B"? J. C.

Under Illinois law, one must have resided a year in the state, ninety days in the county, and thirty days in the precinct in which he votes. If you do not qualify, you will lose your vote. You do not give us the facts to determine whether the temporary removals to which you refer involve a change in your legal residence.

FARM MORTGAGE.

Ohio, Ill., March 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A owns a farm on which there is a mortgage. A has not paid taxes on this farm and a real estate firm bought the taxes. What would be the cheapest way for X to secure [purchase] the land? 3. Could X [prospective buyer] buy up these taxes from this firm and [4] have the mortgage holder renew and then cause A to sign over to X? L. K.

1. A tax sale or tax deed would be a cloud on the title which secures the mortgage.

2. The cheapest way to get the equity subject to the mortgage would be by quitclaims of gift from the holders of the equity and of the tax interest.

3. Yes, if they are willing to sell it.

4. Yes, if these parties are willing to do business on this basis.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 28, 1917.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—While President Wilson and his cabinet renewed today their discussion of a "vigorous war on Germany" and the alignment of "democracy against autocracy," the decision reached was that the administration cannot proceed much farther without reckoning with the representatives of the people assembled in congress. It was evident at the meeting of the cabinet that the attitude of congress is causing the President considerable concern. He foresees the possibility of a stubborn fight against a resolution declaring a state of war with Germany and, although he believes that congress eventually will indorse whatever he proposes, he has decided to postpone the formulation of actual war plans until the war making power determines the precise policy to be pursued. The war department suspended mustering out of national guardsmen, retaining 18,000 soldiers in service. Secretary Houston made a nation-wide appeal to farmers to eliminate crop waste and conserve surplus, calling it an imperative step as a result of the war crisis.

LONDON.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Amsterdam says: "According to a Berlin telegram received by the Amsterdam bourse, Berlin is filled with rumors that Germany has offered a separate peace to Russia. The terms offered are said to be complete autonomy to Poland, the internationalization of Constantinople, the evacuation by Russia of Austrian territory, and a Russian protectorate over Armenia."

LONDON.—The Daily News Rotterdam correspondent says: "Persistent reports are being received from Switzerland that the Germans are evacuating Mülhausen and other places in Alsace. The Zurich correspondent of the Nieuwe Rotterdamsche Courant says the information has reached Zurich that the Germans have been busy for some days on this operation. Many officials have left Mülhausen and machinery has been taken away from the factories. In groups at a time, it is stated, the population is going to the Black forest. The whole of the Baden bank of the Rhine, as well as the district of Lauffburg, has been declared a war zone."

PARIS. — A turning movement around the Plateau of Coucy, on the southern bulge of the "Hindenburg line," is being pressed by the French with great energy despite the rainy weather. Last night the forces of Gen. Nivelle, after having taken the town of Coucy-le-Château during the day, wrested all of the lower forest of Coucy from the German defenders, together with the villages of Petit Barisis, Vernueil, and Coucy-la-Ville. Berlin admits this French victory. The French outposts now stand on the western outskirts of the forest of St. Gobain and the upper forest of Coucy.

OTHER WAR NEWS. — Activities on the Russian front have been resumed. Berlin reports successes in the Baronovichi region on the river Shara, and Petrograd admits the Russians retreated after their foes used asphyxiating gases. Rome admits the loss of ground to the Austrians on the Julian front after terrific fighting. Berlin reports the repulse of new attacks by the French northwest of Monastir on the Macedonian front. Two British torpedo boat destroyers were sunk, one by striking a mine and another after a collision with a steamer, London reports.

SURVEYING THE ROUTE

Mr. Franklin Roosevelt takes over command of the Ship of State. Bon voyage!

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

THE HARKINS LAW.

Chicago, March 23.—What is or was known as the Harkins law, sponsored by former Ald. Dan Harkins, should be reenacted. It provided for one saloon for every five hundred inhabitants. At the time of its passage by the city council Chicago had about two million people and 7,500 saloons, or one saloon to every 250 inhabitants. Some saloons, like some bankers, used disreputable means for their existence and naturally became unpopular.

For a period after the Harkins law became operative, brewers began to acquire licenses, paying for a $1,000 permit as much as $3,000, that they might find a market for their product. The close competition was too much of a temptation for the saloonkeeper to go straight and they had to be punished for thirteen years for their greed.

There is an opportune time for the city council to reënact the Harkins law and zone the territory in which there can be saloons. The regulations could be enforced and the poor man's club would be a popular as well as a respectable place. A. H. WAGONER.

THE REPEAL CONVENTION.

Chicago, March 24.—As a leader in the Crusaders I would like to call your attention to a situation that, I think, is becoming desperate and should be given such publicity that it will quickly terminate the whole mess.

The leadership at Springfield has let the convention bill for action on the twenty-first amendment lie around in the house for several weeks without any action whatsoever. Meanwhile several things have happened of import. First, this Tuesday the drys were able to advance to second reading, without reference to committee, a bill to elect the delegates by legislative district instead of at large, as the joint bill calls for. Second, the Republicans of both houses caucused yesterday and decided against any bill that would call for an election on June 5 because they were afraid that it would bring out such a big vote that no Republican judge would have a chance.

This second contention, to me, is absolutely out of line with any common sense. It will make the Republican party look like it is on the dry side and will do more to ruin it than any chances that a few judges might not be elected. If we don't vote June 5, then that means that Illinois won't vote this year. We must act, and act before the drys get a chance to organize and get in their licks. A. L. BREESE,
Commander Crusader, Sixth District.

ONE GUESS.

Wheeler, Ind., March 23.—In my history I came upon these statements:

"It was not an illegal act when Austria declared war on Serbia in 1914, although Serbia was willing to leave their dispute to arbitration. The league of nations established by the treaties of 1919 makes such an act by any member of the league illegal and criminal and binds all the members to resist such an act by any nation."

When Japan declared war on China they were both members of the league. Is it not the right of the league to help China against the aggressor, Japan? If this is so, why hasn't it been done?

DONALD PERRINE.

SUGGESTION FOR BONDHOLDERS.

Chicago, March 23.—The moving season is how near, when most tenants must renew leases or move. To the tenants in apartments who also are investors in real estate bonds on apartment buildings I think it good advice for them to look up the building they hold bonds on. Most buildings have vacancies which greatly reduce the net income, out of which the bondholders must get their interest and principal, so a bondholder moving into a vacancy in a building he owns a bond upon pays his rent where it will help his investment. Obviously one owning bonds on several buildings could not live in all, but he might get friends or relatives to help his investment by renting in buildings he is interested in. Every bondholder on an apartment building which is still controlled by the owner and has not gone into receivership should, if possible, meet the owner or manager of the property and see what coöperation he can give on bringing in income to the property, as it might be the means of saving himself loss on his investment. It is lack of interest on the part of bondholders which has enabled racketeers to wrest control of property from the owners and then from the bondholders.

P. MEYER.

SURPLUS EMPLOYES.

Chicago, March 13.—One could call attention to many places in the city hall where retrenchment could be made without hurting the efficiency of the business of the city.

For example, there are well over fifty electrical inspectors at a salary of $4,128 per year and it is safe to say that ten inspectors could easily do the work for the next year at least, as there is no work to inspect, nor will there be any for at least another year.

In the bureau of fire alarm and police telegraph there are five assistant chiefs and district chiefs of fire alarm wires. In any large corporation the work they have to do would be easily handled by one man.

Of course, the union would make a tremendous roar, but are we, the taxpayers, to be made to pay fat salaries for high salaried, tax eating union men who, together with the American Legion, want to run the country and live off the people who pay and pay?

D. A. FREDERICK.

WHAT KIND OF BIRD?

Chicago, March 23.—I wonder if any of our readers can tell me what kind of birds I saw in Jackson park this morning. I noticed this pair of birds because of their unusual coloring, which was cream on the breast and underpart, with a rather dark tan wing and top feathers. Each had two black and white rings encircling the neck, of a pronounced color, and when they flew the tail feathers spread, showing orange under-feathers. Their legs were rather long, which led me to believe they were some kind of a water bird, and their size was about that of a robin. MRS. C. E. BROOKS.

INTERESTING IF TRUE.

Chicago, March 24.—If you would publish a list of the public officials, aldermen, etc., owning Yellow Cab stock it might explain why an ordinance reducing taxicab fares or permitting independent cabs to operate cannot be passed.

You can't "mark time" in America

OUT of every past recession some businesses have come with added strength . . . . some names with new lustre. Many are new names, born of the times, and unhampered by tradition or precedent. Others are old firms which have weathered another storm.

But all of them are headed by men of pioneer vision! Men who recognize changed conditions, and change with them. Men who take a long view of business and build now for the years ahead.

For the great army of consumers is not standing at attention. It is constantly on parade! In The United States in the few years since 1929, 6,600,000 new customers have been born. 1,825,000 have graduated from high schools and colleges. 6,000,000 have married and established homes, 6,000,000 have changed their residence.

In a few, short years a new generation is upon us. Forming its own impressions. Impatient with the dictates of the old.

You can't mark time in America. The sales leaders of tomorrow are in the advertising pages of today; with a product of service fitted to the times; with a sales story simply and sincerely told; with an advertising program in which economy is the rule.

You'll find many of them advertising in Philadelphia. So many, in fact, that during 1932 The Philadelphia Bulletin led all week-day newspapers in America in national advertising carried.

Philadelphia presents an unusual situation: One newspaper reaches nearly every one, in City and suburbs, in mansion and modest home.

Every day, Philadelphia buys more than half a million copies of The Bulletin. This circulation is two and one-half times that of any other Philadelphia evening newspaper; greater than any Sunday newspaper; more than all morning newspapers combined. And every copy represents an interested reader, not obtained by premium or circulation contest.

And—in addition to the economy of covering a great market in one newspaper—this newspaper has purposely kept advertising costs low. Today, The Bulletin's cost is one of the lowest among all newspapers in America.

MIKADO CALLS ON PEOPLE TO BACK BOLT OF LEAGUE

Charges Geneva Forced Japan to Quit.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, March 27.—An event of transcendent historic importance to Japan occurred this afternoon when, simultaneously with the issuance of the government's statement explaining Japan's withdrawal from the league of nations, an imperial rescript [a message from Emperor Hirohito to his people] was promulgated.

Will Stay in Arms Parley.

Severance of Japan's relations with the league, however, does not mean that Japan will not coöperate in such other league work as may promote world peace and the welfare of humanity. Japan will continue in the disarmament and labor conferences.

Expressing regret that Japan and the league had come to a parting of the ways, but reiterating emphatically that Japan was compelled to act, three important documents were released today. The first was the rescript; the second was the government's notification of withdrawal from the league; the third was the government's proclamation to the nation in the form of a message by Premier Admiral Makoto Saito.

The rescript concludes with the following significant appeal:

"We command all public servants and private citizens to strive to meet the present situation with a united will and with courage and resolution, so ye may carry forward the glorious work bequeathed by our grandsire and contribute to the prosperity and well-being of mankind."

Calls on Nation for Support.

After declaring that Japan deems it essential to respect the independence of the new state of Manchukuo [formerly Manchuria] and to encourage its healthy development in order that the sources of evil in the far east may be eradicated and enduring peace thereby established, the rescript points out:

"Unhappily there exists between our empire and the league a wide divergence of view and it has devolved upon us to cause the government to withdraw. Our empire is confronted by a situation fraught with momentous possibilities. It is indeed an hour that calls for intensification of effort on the part of the entire nation."

Premier Saito's emotional proclamation, after accusing the league of failing to appreciate correctly and without prejudice the position of Japan, which entertains no other desire than to establish peace in the orient," says Japan now is compelled to withdraw.

Seeks World Friendship.

"It is, however, a traditional policy of the nation to contribute to the promotion of international peace and the advancement of civilization, so Japan will continue to participate in such international enterprises as will be inaugurated for the purpose of furthering the welfare of mankind," Saito's statement continued.

"Nor is it necessary to say this country does not propose to shut itself up in the far east, but, on the contrary, will endeavor to strengthen its ties of friendship with other powers and uphold the cause of equality and justice."

Then the premier exhorts the public "to strictly observe order and discipline, to exercise moderation and avoid frivolity and indolence and guard against the lure of subversive doctrines, and finally to press courageously forward with untiring energy and industry in order to fulfill the mission of the empire. Then a great contribution will have been made to the progress of mankind."

Withdrawal Is Cabled.

The withdrawal notice, over the signature of Foreign Minister Count Yasuya Uchida, was cabled to Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the league. It recounted that Japan had been an original and faithful member of the league for 13 years, accused the league of disregarding Japan's factual view of the Manchurian situation, and disagreed with the conclusions and recommendations of the league's report of Feb. 24, which condemned Japan for the dispute with China.

EMPLOYES OF U. S. LIKELY TO FACE 15% WAGE SLASH

Washington, D. C., March 27.—[Special.]—A flat 15 per cent pay cut for all government employés, to become effective April 15, was in prospect today. President Roosevelt's economic advisers informed him that the cost of living has decreased 23 per cent from the 1928 average.

The 15 per cent cut is the maximum allowed under the Roosevelt economy bill. That gives the President discretionary authority to slash federal salaries commensurate with the decline in the cost of living as determined by department of labor price indices. The reduction is expected to save approximately 125 millions a year.

Dr. Charles Baldwin, acting chief of the bureau of labor statistics, is understood to have reported to the President that the most recent survey of prices, in December, 1932, indicates an average drop of 23 per cent from the 1928 level, based on declines of 37 per cent in the price of food; 27 per cent in clothing; 24 per cent in rents; 13 per cent in fuel and light; 26 per cent in house furnishings, and 4 per cent in miscellaneous articles.

Under a recent ruling by Controller General J. R. McCarl, the furlough system started by President Hoover, under which federal workers were cut 8 1-3 per cent, will become inoperative on March 31, and the flat 15 per cent reduction will supplant it.

Build Blocks of Gardens for Show at Pier

Eighty Illinois Clubs Have Part in Exhibition.

BY PAUL POTTER.

The transformation of the entire north wing of Navy pier into a half mile of spring and summer gardens was under way yesterday, directed by officers of 80 Illinois garden clubs who will open the seventh annual spring garden and flower show next Friday evening. The show will close at 10 p. m. April 8.

Workmen from the forest preserves, Lincoln park and the west parks system and from several hundred gardens and communities over the state were shaping into final form the displays. The exhibits will exceed in beauty and size those of any previous show in Chicago, according to Mrs. O. W. Dynes of Hinsdale, president of the Garden Club of Illinois.

Two carloads of evergreens from the northwoods, bales of balsam branches, several thousand trees and shrubs and 100 tons of rock are being used with 2,000 bales of peat moss and large quantities of earth and natural grass sod. Overhead a skyblue canopy has been created with five thousand yards of sheer bunting through which spotlights will throw special effects upon the wide variety of flowers and gardening effects.

Rock gardens, running brooks, forest pools, rustic gardens, formal gardens in full bloom, and patches of woodland for which large trees have been transplanted are taking shape. Gardeners from many Chicago and downstate homes have donned galoshes and leather gloves to personally carry out the design created on paper.

Visitors to the show will be greeted with a massive display of potted plants shown by the Allied Florists of Illinois. Guests will see the large and profusely flowered gardens prepared by Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, Mrs. John Mitchell, the National Association of Gardeners, and the North Shore Horticultural society.

Facing each other will be correctly produced Chinese and Japanese gardens, followed by a grouping of English and colonial houses and their landscaped front yards. The James Norris estate garden will be seen with another group of special gardens produced by amateur gardeners. White and green gardens will be shown along with home interiors and related outdoor treatment of informal designs. Other displays will include interior and exterior window boxes, table decorations, junior garden club exhibits, and commercial gardens of more formal design.

Sunrooms will be decorated in contrast to the early spring garden with light beams shimmering on icicles dangling from tree branches. The Morton Arboretum is building what its managers declare to be the most extensive and elaborate naturalistic exhibit that the Arboretum has ever shown. It has a road winding past red oak trees and plantings of ironwood, burroak, basswood, and dogwood leading into an unusual collection of yellow stemmed willows, larches in leaf, alders with catkins still in place, scrub oak, hazelnut, red stemmed dogwood, viburnums, cattails, marsh grass, and marigolds.

Chicago Union Will Send 'Eleanor' Hat to Mrs. Roosevelt

Some time today the 1933 version of an Easter bonnet for the country's first lady, swathed in tissue paper and sturdily boxed, will be started on its way to the White House. The model, which has been termed the "Eleanor," is of satin faced crêpe in the shade called Eleanor blue, and is being sent to Mrs. Roosevelt by the members of Chicago local, No. 52, International Millinery Workers' union.

Mrs. Roosevelt's support of union labor, demonstrated in her inaugural wardrobe, which was entirely union made, so pleased the Chicago group that it was determined to express appreciation through the gift of an Easter hat. As designed and made in the Midwest Hat shop at 72 East Randolph street, it has been kept to such a conservative type of tailored costume as Mrs. Roosevelt prefers. It has a moderately wide stitched brim and a rolled crown, the only trimming being a band of navy grosgrain ribbon which forms a cockade at one side.

Good Morning!

And now come the current favorites, Helen Hayes and Clark Gable, wearing the mantles, church, and military, that decked Lillian Gish and Ronald Colman in the days when "The White Sister" was a silent movie.

I can't tell you just why this picture left me cold—but it did so. Though it has been modernized and brought up to the world war period, it retains a lacelike, flower potpourri something which causes neoterism to sit somewhat incongruously upon it. Perhaps—and I am pretty sure of this—the naïvete of this old romance has a chill, thin ring in the surcharged air of the present. It is not possible to feel for these lovers as one did for the two in "Farewell to Arms." As compared to the latter photoplay, "The White Sister," similar as to story, becomes something of a fantasy, in which the characters move and speak properly but without the surge of passion necessary to waken response in the participant observer.

Be this as it may, the film is excellent from a production standpoint. The director was deft in the main—though I do think the religious scenes are too long drawn out and the introduction of certain cruel German war camp episodes, unnecessary—and the acting is finished and charming.

Miss Hayes, I believe, can do no wrong. She is too instinctive; intelligent. She plays Angela with as much expression and pathos as the rôle allows and her light, exquisite whimsy is a pleasant substitute for the one time fidgetings of Miss Gish. I think you are not able to feel very tragic over Angela's dedication of herself to the nursing sisterhood for the reason that, somehow, from the first, you have realized that, at heart she has always been a nun. At least that was my impression. Note her constant, spontaneous turnings to her household shrines and father confessor.

Clark Gable is most pleasing as the gay young Italian lieutenant whose reported death in action results in Angela's taking the veil. His acting is sincere, romantic. His dimples flash and the women in the audience laugh fondly at his sallies and spruce up in their seats every time he shows his face. Gable's popularity is so tangible a thing that you can almost touch it.

Louise Closser Hale elicits merriment as the heroine's nurse and chaperon and Lewis Stone is splendid as the girl's father. I didn't care for Edward Arnold as Father Saracinesca. Too much like a business man.

The first scenes are merry ones. There is a carnival, and its gayety captivates Angela as she comes from church accompanied by her fiancé, her father, and Mina.

Many young Italian officers are making merry in the streets and Angela meets Giovanni. . . .

So starts the romance which has its end in tragedy.

The settings of the present "White Sister" seem synthetic as compared to the lovely Italian backgrounds of Henry King's production—but they're effective.

Perhaps, all told, it would be well for producers to let lie one time silent favorites. Old rose leaves have a habit of crumbling away when subjected to light and handling.

See you tomorrow.

Duke of Leeds Wed in Another Church as First Pastor Refuses

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

NICE, March 27.—The English duke of Leeds married the beautiful former ballet dancer, Irma Amelie De Malkazouny, today at the American church here, because the rector of the Cathedral of Holy Trinity would make no exception to the English church's rule against the remarrying of divorced persons. The duke's 24 year old bride previously was married to Paul Brewster, an American, in Paris, at the age of 18, and was divorced in London on May 11, 1931. The wedding had been announced to be held in Holy Trinity.

Dr. MacComb, pastor of the American church, which is also Episcopal, said he saw no reason why he could not marry the British peer, "because the church allows us clergymen lots of latitude in these matters. The former husband of the new duchess of Leeds deserted her, so she was divorced through no fault of her own."

Stockholm Convinced Garbo Is on Vessel Going to West Coast

STOCKHOLM, March 27.—(AP)—Stockholm was convinced today that Greta Garbo, the film actress, has slipped out of Sweden without formal adieu and now is on a thirty day trip to San Francisco aboard the cargo boat Annie Johnson.

While information to this effect had yet to be verified officially, the Johnson steamship line refused to affirm or deny Miss Garbo's presence on their vessel.

Sven Gustafsson, brother of Miss Garbo, said he has solemnly promised his sister never again to breathe a word about her doings.

Maybe you've known them as torten—or perhaps you've met them as tortes. Those rich delectable dessert cakes which are made more often from bread or cake crumbs than from flour. They seldom boast butter, but as a rule steal their richness and what lightness they may have from added nuts and eggs.

Blitz tortes are somewhat different, usually made with flour and butter, have a lighter texture, and are topped with a meringue baked on them. Here, as with the bona fide torten, nuts—usually almonds—do the honors and add deliciousness of flavor.

These days the best known member of the torte family is the date torte. Topped with a generous blob of whipped cream and served at the end of a heavy Sunday dinner—it's usual resting place, it is enough to punish the stoutest constitution. But if we serve it with a crisp luncheon salad or as the luscious finale of a spring vegetable dinner, then we still have proved ourselves true epicures and can know that our torte is really enjoyed.

As a substitute for dates, figs make most tempting tortes. Hazelnuts act as excellent understudies for almonds and give a new, interesting tang when allowed to star for themselves. Try the following, for example:

HAZELNUT TORTE.

2-3 cup toasted hazelnuts, cut fine.
5 eggs, unbeaten.
½ cup sugar.
¼ teaspoon salt.
¾ cup flour, sifted.
¾ cup stale plain cake crumbs.
1 teaspoon vanilla extract.

Add the eggs, one at a time, to the sugar, beating steadily. Continue beating two minutes after all the eggs are in. Add the rest of the ingredients, folding them in lightly but thoroughly. Turn into a medium sized torte pan and bake for from 25 to 30 minutes in a moderate oven [350 degrees Fahrenheit]. Turn out and serve with hard sauce or whipped cream.

Or as a variation from the more familiar date deliciousness, serve crumbled fig torte with a careless capping of sweetened whipped cream. No, it doesn't have too little flour or crumbs in it—try and you'll see.

FIG TORTE.

3 eggs, separated.
1¾ cups powdered sugar.
1 teaspoon baking powder.
3 tablespoons bread crumbs.
1 cup ground figs.
½ cup chopped walnut meats.
½ teaspoon vanilla.
1 cup whipping cream [for topping].

Separate the eggs and beat the yolks till lemon colored. Add the sugar and, when well blended, add the baking powder, crumbs, figs, and nut meats. Beat the egg whites stiff and fold in last with the vanilla. Turn into a shallow greased pan and bake in a moderately hot oven [375 degrees Fahrenheit] for from 20 to 25 minutes. Or you may turn it into these plaited oiled paper cups set inside of large muffin tins and bake them so. Then when ready to serve, strip off the paper and top the torte with whipped cream. Chopped dates may be substituted in the same amounts for the figs.

Another spicy member of the torte family uses almonds and bread crumbs:

ALMOND BREAD TORTE.

6 eggs, separated.
1 cup sugar.
1 lemon, rind, and juice.
1 cup dry bread crumbs.
¾ teaspoon cinnamon.
¼ teaspoon cloves.
½ teaspoon nutmeg.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
2-3 cup ground almonds.

Beat the egg yolks till fluffy, then add the sugar and blend carefully. Add the lemon juice and grated rind, the bread crumbs, spices, and vanilla. Stir in the almonds and fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into a greased cake pan and bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees Fahrenheit] for from 25 to 30 minutes.

Water Colors Dominate Two Art Displays

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

In the spring artists' hopes turn, if one may judge by current exhibits, to water colors. Two interesting exhibitions in this medium have just opened. In the Palmolive Bookshop gallery there are a number of gay and fresh landscapes by Richard Chase, a few more realistic studies, the water lilies, for example, by George Trimmer, and several amusing, colorful incidents in a modern vein by Charles Turzak. Turzak offers as well a group of brilliant wood cuts, one series of them dealing with the buildings of note belonging to Northwestern university.

The Increase Robinson gallery, Diana Court building, is showing the tastes, inclinations and abilities of Chicago artists. The first of the two rooms is hung with a diversified collection of water colors by Ivan Le Lorraine Albright, Edgar Britton, William S. Schwartz, Gustaf Dalstrom, David McCosh and Francis Chapin. The second room shows encaustic paintings by Ritka Angel and Milton Douthat, with a scattering of water colors by Aaron Bohrod and the others mentioned.

William Schwartz must be complimented directly upon his gay change of heart in the use of color. Gone are the tragic shades of somber blue, green and black. These sketches are animated in tone and bright in color. Particularly grateful are the flower studies and the interpretation of a Russian dance.

Mr. Albright injects humor into his homely village scenes. His penetrating bit, "Six Mouse Traps Set," is as hard to crack as the children's puzzles of the hunted rabbit, find the rabbit. A careful look did not reveal one mouse trap, but somewhere in that scintillating interior we feel sure there is danger and death provided for an unwary rodent. Meanwhile one may relax in pure enjoyment of the artist's "Figure."

Francis Chapin is discovered less subtle and more domineering than his character in oils makes him out. His water colors are solid and rather obvious. Bohrod is playing skittles with flesh and blood Punch and Judies; Edgar Britton is pastoral in considered minor keys; Gustaf Dalstrom, the incurable romantic of sensitive touch, is also pastoral, but unaffectedly happy with the blue skies and green fields.

New Cosmetic Articles Win Busy Shopper

Perfumes Return to Scent of Flowers.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Some of the things that make shoping as exciting as a roller coaster ride are the new things that apparently bloom over night in the cosmetic sections of practically any fashion wise or cosmetic conscious shop.

You can prowl around every day, and it is seldom that you can't find something vastly different from any of the new concoctions gleefully discovered the day before. For example, the various facial liquids that exceedingly versatile makers send out . . . this season, they are as modestly priced; in fact, as reduced in price as fashionable apparel and hats. There simply isn't any excuse for not blushing like a rose with all these bottles filled with refreshingly, perfumed preparations that positively work miracles for even the most discouraged and winter-weary face.

One shop is greatly excited about a mixture that you can paint over your face. You buy a good looking bottle of a pale amber shaded liquid, with all the healing properties thickened and sticking very close to the bottom of the bottle . . . a brush is included in the price, and with this brush you proceed to paint your face. It is a complete facial, and foundation, you make up with rouge, powder and lipstick, without removing any of the facial mixture, and the result is breathtaking . . . a regular peaches and cream complexion, that stays all day.

Its best trick is removing blackheads and definitely discouraging any blemishes, and next to that bright promise, you will be delighted with the smooth liquid that does not make your face feel pulled and starched, which is something to cheer about.

While you are spending your shekels for cosmetics you probably will spend an extra half hour sniffing the new spring perfumes . . . and it is time glamorously spent. You will find that garden flower scents have been revived . . . violet, rose, lily of the valley, the three that head the list. Violet is really the favorite, with lily of the valley second and rose third. Evidently the frills, the ruffles, the swishing silks, and trailing chiffons, and all the utterly feminine clothes worn by the gals who are tired of severity cause the return of alluringly feminine perfumes.

Even Chanel, that well known Parisian dress designer, has capitulated to intriguing perfumes to scent her very feminine new spring costumes.

Gone forever, every one hopes, the strange thick, rather stuffy perfumes that were labeled with numbers, a most strange and unimaginative method, for selling such an intangible and romantic essence.

Latin School Classes Give Prom Saturday

Young People Will Enjoy Dance at Casino.

BY JUDITH CASS.

IT'S a good thing most of the preparatory schools in the city are having their spring holidays this week, for the young girls and boys couldn't keep their minds on their studies, so full are they of plans and happy anticipation for the prom of the two upper classes of the Chicago Latin school that is to be held Saturday night at the Casino.

To attend a prom in a distant place may be more exciting than to go to one in one's home town, think the subdebutantes who haven't had the former experience, but they are finding the latter plenty full of thrills and they are as excited over their new party frocks as they will be over their ball gowns in a few years when they are officially "out" and dances are not as much of a novelty as they are now.

The lads at the Latin school who will be in college next year or the year after are managing their party entirely by themselves and none of their parents or masters know much about their plans other than that the party will start at 9:30 o'clock and that Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Doering Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George N. Northrop, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus K. Maxwell, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Geraghty will chaperon. Tom Geraghty and Harlow Voorhees are the juniors on the committee in charge and Albert Seckel Jr., Howard Prosser and Richard Stein are the seniors.

Invitations to the boys of the two classes and to boys of other preparatory schools of the same ages, and to alumni of the schools who are in the city for their spring vacations, were sent out several days ago and each young man by this time has invited the girl he wants to escort, or else he has planned to go "stag." A number of dinner parties will be given before the dance.

Miss Atkinson Will Be Bride

An engagement being announced in the east today that is of interest here is the one that Mr. and Mrs. Ulric Sidney Atkinson of Montclair, N. J., are announcing. The Atkinsons lived here before moving east about four years ago, and during the five or six years they were here they made many friends and were immensely popular.

They are announcing the engagement of their only daughter, Palmer Phelan, to William Stanley Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ruppert Stanley Hughes, also of Montclair. Miss Atkinson went to the Latin school when she lived here and then to Rosemary Hall in Greenwich, after which she

The Changeling Bride

By Martha Ostenso

SYNOPSIS.

The Hendersons—Meryl and Margaret, sisters; Flint, their older brother, and Andrew, the father—have lived for twelve years in poverty in a fishing settlement on the shores of Lake Superior, after losing their fortune in Chicago. Andrew went to pieces after the death of his wife. Great-Aunt Letitia, formerly dean of a girls' school in Ohio, is the liaison between the Hendersons and a cultured past. Flint and his friend, Ned Bremner, hope to build up a great export business. Ned is in love with Meryl, but she dreams of a better future. A forest fire brings Blake Lawrence, injured and lost, to the Henderson cottage. There were two great names in nearby Agate Bay and its environs—Lawrence and Greer. Blake is in love with Greer's wife, Christine. Blake's broken ankle keeps him two weeks with the Hendersons. Meryl falls in love with Blake. Though still enamored of Christine, Blake becomes engaged to Meryl, and sends for his sister, Theresa, to meet her. Meryl prepares to leave for Agate Bay the next day, with Blake and Theresa, to be married.

INSTALLMENT XIV.

AN INTERRUPTED HONEYMOON.

On the following morning, a morning bright and clear but with an edge of frost in it, Meryl stood before the mirror of the oak dresser in her room and surveyed herself with a disintegrating feeling of unreality. She was dressed in her best clothes—an apple green silk frock she had made herself last spring, a fall sport coat Flinty had bought her two years ago, and a hat that was bad, she thought disconsolately. But hats now, according to magazines and glimpses she had had of them in shop windows the last time she had been in town, were gay things that exposed the left temple and swept devastatingly over the right eye. And that carelessly smart sister of Blake's must see her in this! For Theresa was coming down for them in her car at ten o'clock, and was going with them to the justice of the peace. Blake would not notice what she wore—she knew that instinctively. But women had a way of looking one over.

She dabbed a little more powder on her nose, but the half dozen freckles remained serenely visible. In desperation she scorched her face for any trace of beauty. Why, she was positively plain! She was brown as an autumn leaf, her mouth was too broad, and her eyes looked hungry and stricken. Pale hair with a tanned face—how hopeless! What had Blake seen in her? She gathered fiercely to herself the thought of him. As his wife, she would rise above her plainness. Something would happen to her, giving her beauty. She would enter his world unafraid. The strength of his love would give her courage.

"I have bad news for you, my dear."

There was the sound of Theresa's car now. Meryl gave her hat a corrective downward tug on the right side and tipped the left brim experimentally.

She opened the door to the living room and found Margaret and Aunt Letty hastily drying their tears. Flint was carrying out her absurd brown pasteboard suitcase, which contained the silver toilet set Aunt Letty had cherished from her girlhood and had kept for years to give Meryl as a wedding present; a bottle of eau de cologne from Margaret; Flinty's surprising gift of a modest set of silk lingerie, bought evidently on his and Margaret's mysterious trip to town yesterday; and Andrew Henderson's precious eighteenth century volume of Shakespeare, the last of his beloved collection which he had been able to cling to. There were also the few articles of clothing which Meryl had judged worthy of packing. In the brown, falsely bright suitcase, they were all going out of this house together for the last time.

Meryl swallowed the tight feeling in her throat and flushed nervously.

"Margaret—and aunty!" she cried. "It isn't as though I were going away forever."

She drew them both close to her and kissed them.

"Remember that you are a Henderson—and a Gaylord," Aunt Letitia said with an oracular severity that struck Meryl even then as slightly comic. "Do not be overwhelmed by temporal splendor."

Meryl kissed her again and patted her shoulder. "Come," she said, "they are waiting for me."

Andrew and Flint were standing with Blake Lawrence beside the car, talking to Theresa, who sat at the wheel. The glaring brown suitcase had been tucked out of sight in the rumble seat.

Meryl was glad that, at the last, the family made her leave taking a casual event. Her father patted her shoulder and kissed her forehead in a way that was only faintly patriarchal.

"'Hanging and wiving goes by destiny!'" he quoted and smiled at her. "Good luck to you, my girl. And don't forget us altogether."

"I won't let her do that, Andrew," Blake said gently.

Meryl and Blake took their places beside Theresa in the roadster. Beyond the point, the lake glittered cobalt blue. Meryl stared at it widely to keep her eyes dry. Good-by, good-by, to that fierce cold brilliance; good-by to its sparkling morning silver and its glowing gold of evenings.

She did not clearly hear the farewells that were called back and forth as the car turned and started for the main road. Nor did she clearly see the Benoits and the Caldwells, waving and shouting their greetings along the way. She only knew that such things had to be.

At noon Meryl and Theresa stepped from the car before the Lawrence home near Agate Bay. Blake dropped off to visit his offices which were near the docks, promising to be home in plenty of time for luncheon.

Theresa led the way up the field stone steps, across the spacious veranda, and in through the great oak doors. The broad, low reception room had a dark, woody shine about it, with patches of dim brilliance on the floor and walls—oriental rugs and costly tapestries. Meryl believed she did not draw a breath until Theresa ushered her into the rooms on the second floor which were to be hers. When she saw the lavender and canary yellow tiled bathroom, she uttered a smothered gasp that brought Theresa's delighted laughter.

A servant called Theresa to the tephone, and Meryl was left to herself to prepare for luncheon. They were to eat alone, she and Blake and his sister, and go at once to the courthouse for the ceremony. She could not help the little pang of loneliness that rose within her as she waited for Theresa and thought of Margaret and Flinty and her father and old Aunt Letty, already going about their simple tasks at home. Theresa appeared presently, a frown of annoyance darkening her eyes as she closed the door and came toward Meryl.

"I have bad news for you, my dear," she announced crisply.

Meryl's hands flew to her breast as she waited, unable to speak.

"Nothing disastrous, dear," Theresa hastened to assure her. "Just one of those things you'll have to learn to put up with in this family."

"What is it?" Meryl asked.

"That was Blake on the phone," she said. "The men have struck, up at the Calimac mine, and Fred Inglis, his partner, insists on Blake's going up there at once."

"At once?"

"There's a train at four o'clock. I argued with him—but it always seems that Blake is called in whenever there's any dirty work to do."

"You mean it might be dangerous?" Meryl asked.

Theresa smiled. "No, no, my dear. If it isn't settled at once, of course, there's danger of riots, and it might become serious. It involves hundreds of men and their families."

"But—he'll be home before he leaves?" Meryl asked.

"He'll be home in a few minutes, dear. Everything will go off as we planned—except that you won't see anything of your brand new husband for at least two days, perhaps three or four."

Wera Engels Buys Release from Contract

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 27.—[Special.]—The only girl in Hollywood with sufficient confidence in her destiny to walk out of a gratifying five year contract in expectation of negotiating a better one somewhere is Wera Engels.

Of course, that isn't the whole story of Wera's walkout at Radio.

Having made only one American film appearance and that in "The Great Jasper," with Richard Dix, Miss Engels was cast for a subordinate featured part, a vamp in the farce musical, "Maiden Cruise." She didn't think she would do so well in the rôle, or that kind of picture. The more she talked it over with the studio, the more convinced she became.

"It's a very interesting script, the story has Phil Harris and Charlie Ruggles in it and is full of good looking chorus girls," she said. "But I was to be just a European vamp who walks into the earlier part of the story, does nothing and goes out again.

"The kind of a part that would be forgotten before the picture was over. So when they came to me finally and said: 'You will just have to do this, or else —' I said I would buy back my contract. It was the day before the film should start. I paid them back my salary for the last three weeks, and, alas, they accepted the money; and gave me my release."

A day or two before all this happened—and such things happen rarely in these economical, job hunting days in Hollywood—one of Hollywood's seers told Wera that "I would very shortly leave my present contract; that I would in one year become great like Garbo, or like Dietrich, but not like Dietrich because of my legs; that I would get much jewelry and diamonds; that I would have several romances, and after a marriage that did not turn out happily, I would have a very happy and lasting marriage."

"I do not believe fortune telling, but it was a coincidence that my contract should stop at once as the man who interpreted the future, should have told me," she said.

Any one in Hollywood, or anywhere else, who thinks that Wera Engels is just a beautiful but dumb girl, because she quit a contract will have to readjust his opinion. When she walked out of Radio she knew "I was doing what would be thought extremely silly, but I obeyed my impulse which, when I have obeyed in the past, always rewarded me."

Possessed of great green-gray eyes, a complexion that is at least 105 per cent perfect, and a tiny brown mole under the left eye, the German beauty commands besides confidence, at least one of the other attributes—beauty that goes with screen success.

Rotating the Arms

Take the position of attention.

a. Arms to sides. Raise the arms to horizontal position, palms up.

b. Make small rearward circles, 8"-10" in diameter, forcing the shoulder blades to the rear, relaxing on the forward part of the circle. Do 6"-8" circles.

c. Halt with the arms at the side, horizontally.

d. Lower the arms to the sides, palms to the front, holding the shoulder blades closed and relaxing the arms.

Swing of Your Shoulders Is Key to Moods

West Point Stretching Exercises No. 1, an illustrated booklet outlining the first six exercises published in this series, may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Antoinette Donnelly, The Chicago Tribune. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, 1 South Dearborn street.

BY ANTCINETTE DONNELLY.

Don't forget that little trick I gave you the other day to flatten your shoulder blades and give you a better looking back. Simply turn the palms of the hands out, bringing them back a little to the rear of the body. Do this any and every time you think of it.

Mothers, if you don't have your growing boys and girls do anything else in this series, do have them practice these shoulder exercises. You'll be well repaid in their better health and in the fine, upstanding carriage that will result. You can't just order the youngsters to set their faulty shoulders right. They must strengthen the muscles first.

You older girls, men and women—whether your shoulders make you look timid, apologetic, or just droopy; if there's a thickness around the shoulders, if you look or feel dowdy, if your figure has lost its young sparkle—here's your chance. Or, if your shoulders are rigid, set, clamped down tight, loosen them! Shoulders are intended to be free.

The girl who gets your eye on the dance floor has easy shoulders, free to move in rhythm with her body.

Yesterday's exercise, done consistently, positively guarantees a new pair of shoulders, years younger. Just in case it escaped any of you, let me repeat it. Stand at attention. Then, move the arms extended full length downward to the front of the body. On count 1, move the shoulders slowly forward as far as possible; on 2, move them upward; on 3, backward and on 4 move the shoulders down smartly. This is simple but wonderful shoulder rotation. Forward, up, back and down.

And here's another fine shoulder exercise illustrated today. Note how it includes "closing" the shoulder blades. Before your mirror, note what this does toward a younger, straighter back.

When CHILDREN
—don't gain weight
—don't grow strong
—don't keep well

The stomach is not to blame when a child is finicky about food. Nor is every sluggish girl or boy constipated. Instead of a lot of medicine, give a little pure syrup of figs. You'll see a change in twenty-four hours! In a couple of weeks, your youngster will have the appetite of a young animal!

It's true, mothers, for it's Nature. California syrup of figs is bottled health for the little ones.

For Any Sluggish Child

Pale, sickly children whose tongues are always coated, and who are never really hungry, are suffering from stasis. That means a sluggish colon; a colon clogged with waste. They need the "California treatment." You can give this treatment yourself, any time, anywhere; it's simple. Every druggist has California syrup of figs all bottled, with full directions for a babe of two years or child in his teens. Its delicious taste makes it delightful to use; no child ever tired of it.

Start tonight, giving enough to cleanse the colon of every bit of poisonous waste. Then a spoonful or so, every other day, until the child's appetite, color, weight, and general health tell you all sluggishness or constipation has been conquered.

When a cold or severe sickness has sapped a child's strength and stamina, remember California syrup of figs.

IMPORTANT!

If you want to get real results, get the real California syrup of figs. Do not accept any bottle which does not say CALIFORNIA Syrup of Figs.

spent two years in Paris as a student at the Sorbonne.

She is a member of the Junior league of Montclair and is very beautiful, tall and slim and with dark coloring. Her fiancé attended Mercersburg and Dartmouth, where he was a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity and of the Senior Dragon society. Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson lived in Atlanta before they came to Chicago.

Tilden Cummings to Wed Tomorrow

Just an hour before young Willett Gorham exchanges wedding vows tomorrow with Miss Lucie Jacobs his good friend Tilden Cummings is to marry Miss Lester Browne in Pasadena, Cal. The Jacobs-Gorham nuptials are set for 4:30.

Mr. Gorham is the son of Sidney Smith Gorham and Mr. Cummings the brother-in-law of Edward R. Adams. The senior Mr. Gorham and Mr. Adams are law partners. It is this association that has promoted the friendship between "Buddy" Gorham and young Mr. Cummings, son of William C. Cummings of 4900 Woodlawn avenue.

Mr. Cummings left Chicago last Friday for Pasadena, where the ceremony is to be performed in All Saints' church with only relatives and intimate friends attending. Unfortunately neither Mr. Cummings' family nor Mr. and Mrs. Aldis Browne, who are the aunt and uncle of the bride, have been able to make the trip to the west coast.

Couple to Live in Chicago

Miss Browne, the daughter of the Richard Holliday Semples of Pasadena and Sewickley, Pa., is to be attended by Miss Betty Childs of Pittsburgh and Miss Margaret Morris of Pasadena. Mr. Cummings will have his Princeton roommate, Richard A. Woods of Los Angeles, as his best man and ushering will be Carol Magenheimer, Mr. Cummings' brother-in-law, who lives in Pasadena; G. Harton Sanger of Pittsburgh, Miss Browne's uncle; William Barrett of Santa Monica, and John Buckingham of Pasadena.

After the wedding there is to be a reception at Hillcrest, the home of the bride's parents. And after this the young couple will leave on a two weeks' honeymoon in California before they set out for Chicago, where they are to make their home. Before Mr. Cummings went west he leased the Ferris Whites' apartment on East 46th street, since Mr. and Mrs. White have gone to live with Mrs. White's mother, Mrs. Carter Palmer.

The kitchen shower Miss Virginia Lamson, daughter of the Warren A. Lamsons of Winnetka, is to give tonight for Miss Jacobs winds up the series of parties that have been given for her and Mr. Graham the last several weeks.

Arrange Benefit Lecture Course

Mrs. George J. Jaeger Jr. came in yesterday to ask us to announce a benefit for the Lower North Community council, a spring lecture course to be held in the Diana Court salon on three Tuesday mornings in April. The committee in charge is patronizing home talent entirely and the first lecture, on "The Contribution of Sigmund Freud," will be given on Tuesday, April 4, at 11 o'clock by Dr. Mortimer J. Adler, author of "Dialectic" and associate professor of philosophy at the University of Chicago; the second, on April 18, will be given by Fanny Butcher, literary editor of THE TRIBUNE, under the title, "Lions Couchant," and the third, on April 25, will be given by Robert J. Casey, but his subject is not announced yet.

Mrs. Potter Palmer doubtless will be kept busy receiving congratulations on her new grandbaby, Rose Saltonstall Palmer, this afternoon while she pours at the tea that the Oriental Society of the Art institute is giving for Mrs. David B. White of St. Louis, following Mrs. White's talk at 3:30 o'clock in the Oriental galleries in Hutchinson wing.

Mrs. White will talk about the famous collection of oriental rugs, the Nellie Ballard White collection, that goes on display this afternoon and will continue on show until May 28.

From Hartford comes the news that Miss Catharine Carton has signified acceptance of her recent election to the Hartford Cotillion club, which numbers among its members the cream of Connecticut's debutantes and younger matrons. Miss Carton will go to Hartford to live as a bride early this summer after her marriage on June 24 to Paul P. Swett Jr. of Hartford.

Miss Countiss Here for Visit

Miss Henrietta Countiss arrived in the city yesterday for a short visit with her family before returning to New York, where she has been most of the time since fall. She has been in Washington recently. Miss Countiss' return at this time was mainly to celebrate her birthday tomorrow with her family, but it was a most opportune time for her to come home, for her brother, Frederick D. Countiss, is in St. Luke's hospital, where he had an emergency appendectomy last Wednesday and he was very anxious to have her here at this time.

John P. Wilson is due home this morning from Florida. His wife and her son and daughter-in-law, the Albert Keeps, are in New York.

Mrs. Hopewell L. Rogers and her daughter, Dorothy, have gone to Ormond Beach, Fla., for the two weeks that Dorothy has free from her studies at the Latin school.

Miss Bettylee Rich, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Rich of New York City, has been visiting the Robert E. Kenyons in Lake Forest for the last fortnight. Her engagement to Robert E. Kenyon Jr. was announced in New York last October. Yesterday she returned to New York, accompanied by Mr. Kenyon Jr., who will be there for two months on business.

Mrs. Paul H. Nitze, the former Phyllis Pratt of New York, was not very gay while here with her husband on a flying visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Nitze, because she was kept in bed by a heavy cold. They will return to New York today.

In four weeks the William A. Nitzes will be off for a delightful trip abroad. They are going to Brussels, England, and Austria.

Mrs. Daniel Peterkin and her daughter, Miss Jeannette Peterkin, left Sunday to spend two weeks in Bermuda.

The Francis R. Dickinson family is collected again in their Astor street house—Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson arrived home last week from their trip south. Miss Alice May Dickinson is back from her visit in New York, and Miss Dorothy Dickinson is at home from the Shipley school in Bryn Mawr, where she is a senior.

The second of Mrs. Anthony French Merrill's talks on "New Books and New Affairs" at the Woman's Athletic club is to be given at 11 o'clock this morning in one of the small lecture rooms.

False Pride Is Many a Girl's Foe in Romance

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Pride, as it is defended by unhappy young women, is often a queer mixture of female inconsistency and downright orneriness.

"June" is swept off her feet at a party by a six footer who asked for her phone number, promising to call, and did an evening later. He lived in one suburb, the girl in another, so it was agreed they should meet downtown for dinner and the theater. Unluckily the dinner place of appointment bore a well known restaurant name with eating places dotted all over town.

Two places are operated, in fact, on the same street; one on the east side, one on the west. There was a mixup, the girl waiting at one, the young man undoubtedly waiting at the other. No dinner; no theater—and with two weeks gone by already the young man has not again used the phone.

The girl's pride will not let her call him. The man probably thought he got what the young ones call a "standup."

Now, that's pride that any makeup is better off without. A telephone call, a note, an explanation, and the whole thing would have been cleared up. Two weeks is a long time to let such an incident go. The man surely would add indifference and determine that the girl is off his books.

Paris Sponsors Organdie Wraps

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Organdy, resulting from the coöperation of the silk worm, and organdy made from cotton plants, is the favorite material of many great Paris dressmakers for summer evening wraps.

Alexandrine adds another organdy detail to the dressy toilette for midsummer, and that is the organdy slip-on glove, a sketch of which is shown at the top of our drawing. Just plain, sheer white organdy with tucks around the top, but ever so smart.

Below is shown an organdy evening bolero jacket, made of pale pink silk organdy, and having two ruffles set in wide armholes instead of sleeves. The jacket is straight and square, with bias bands of the organdy around the edges.

At the bottom is a picture of an organdy evening capelet. This is made of white cotton organdy covered by flat folds. The right side of the capelet has a long end that passes through a slit in the left side, in front, thus holding it closed.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

(Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.)

THE JAWS OF DEATH.

"No, you're wrong, Henderson," continued Prof. Fordney. "Officer Mester told me exactly what happened.

"Bill Kranz and Harvey Rodak paid no attention to the peels of thunder which fairly shook the old house or the flashes of lightning forking the sky as they sat listening to the introduction of the new air thriller, 'The Vases of Death.' (You'll note Mester somewhat dramatized the facts!) At that point Rodak left the room to answer the phone. Kranz told him to hurry or he'd miss the explanation of the setting. He did. Rodak says Kranz was shot while he was talking on the phone.

"Mester was at the call-box on the corner when Rodak rushed out screaming for help. He responded immediately. It was his first murder case. Only the crackling of the fireplace and Rodak's heaving breathing broke the deathlike stillness as Mester stooped over the body. He asked Rodak, who stood in the doorway, to show him exactly where Kranz had been sitting, but Rodak refused to enter the room, saying he couldn't stick the sight of blood since the war. That's why, when he saw from the hall, his friend's blood-covered face he rushed out in a panic, for help.

"Rodak was at a loss to suggest how Kranz had been shot. He said the windows in the living room were closed when he went to the phone.

"It was raining hard and as Mester found no traces of any one having entered the room you'll understand why Rodak is being held for the murder."

Do you?

Child Often Copies Manner of a Friend

Youngsters Let It Stand in Their Way.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

No sooner do I make a statement about parents and children than all the exceptions and qualifications come flocking into my mind. This is what happened as I was writing yesterday's article. You may remember I said that when children are intentionally rude or impudent to their parents it's because their parents have paved the way for it in the way they have treated them. I know this to be true.

But there are cases where there is another cause. One of these is when the children reflect an attitude they find existing in other grownups in the family. Suppose a man adopts a critical, derogatory attitude toward his wife before the children and is not courteous to her. Those children are apt to do one of two things. Either they will flock to the defense of their mother, uphold her, and develop a fierce loyalty to her, resenting the verbal attacks upon her, or they will become slightly contemptuous of her, too—even rude or impudent. That's one exception.

Another may be when a child has formed unfortunate friendships. Suppose a boy sees another boy ill mannered or defiant to his parents. It may to him have merely the color of independence or swashbuckling freedom, and he may copy it a few times as an experiment. At first he may find that surprise is the only reaction of his parents.

But if it continues the wise and firm mother or father will not let him "get away with it." They will find out the cause and then sit down and talk it out with him, explaining why the other boys act as they do, that he has no similar reason, and so on.

"I had to cut down on lunches to pay Stocking bills"
Miss Betty Ballantine, of Newark, New Jersey, discovers a stocking secret every girl can share.
. . then Miss Betty Ballantine learned a secret that reduced stocking runs 75%
"I had to save on my lunches to pay my stocking bills! Every few days I'd get a run. Then one of the girls in the office told me how much longer her stockings wore since she had been washing them each night in Lux.
"It saves the elasticity of the silk,' she said—'so your stockings give when you stretch or bend, instead of breaking.' She was 100% right! Since I've been using Lux, I've cut down runs about 75%."
YOU, TOO, can save on stocking bills — cut down needless runs — if you wash stockings with Lux after each wearing. Cake-soap rubbing, or soaps containing harmful alkali, too often destroy the elasticity of silk. Then the lifeless threads break, causing runs or holes. Lux saves elasticity — makes stockings fit and wear.
Avoid ordinary soaps—they often contain harmful alkali. Lux has no harmful alkali. Anything safe in water is safe in Lux.
LUX saves stocking Elasticity

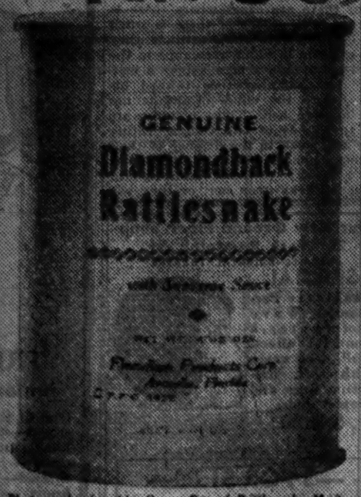
Ha! Something New for the Dinner Table



Photograph of a 4½-Ounce Can of Rattlesnake Meat.

Down Near the Florida Everglades a Canning Factory Packs Tender, Pink Rattlesnake Meat —For Those Who Want It.

From The American Weekly November 27, 1932

Please pass the RATTLESNAKE!

SOMEBODY summoned a lot of nerve to swallow the first raw oyster. And the man who ate the first snail undoubtedly hesitated. But for pure, unalloyed gastronomical imagination, the first prize goes to George K. End, the man who introduced rattlesnake meat.

As vividly chronicled in a full page article in The American Weekly of November 27th last, Mr. End, of Arcadia, Florida, took that heroic step about two years ago after helping his two small sons kill and skin a rattler.

"The reptile's flesh was a pale salmon pink, looked inviting, and Mr. End decided to try eating a bit of it as an experiment.

"He was pleasantly surprised to find the meat was tender and of excellent flavor. A little later on, at an American Legion convention in Tampa, he served a quantity of it, and everyone pronounced it good.

"That set Mr. End to thinking. If he and his family liked it and his friends, the former soldiers, liked it, perhaps there was an opportunity here which had been overlooked. And thus a new food for the American dinner table made its appearance."

Thus ran the story in The American Weekly which, true to its policy of presenting new and unusual facts, told about this amazing new food industry in an article, entitled "Ha! Something New for the Dinner Table."

The Price Rivals Caviar

Replete with pictures, this article set forth the whole story of the Floridian Food Products Corp., which captures, cooks and cans Diamondback rattlesnake for human consumption and sells the meat at a price that rivals caviar.

A small volume of business had been developed up to the time this story appeared in The American Weekly. Only a few people knew of the new rattlesnake meat delicacy. But within a week after the publication of the article, things began to hum at the snake cannery.

Hardly had this Mighty Magazine reached its 5,000,000 homes when presto! the bewildered Mr. End was swamped with orders. "Checks, money orders and coins came popping out of envelopes," Mr. End writes.

Here was another tribute to the widespread reader interest in The American Weekly; further convincing evidence that it is seen, read and believed; for letters, telegrams, telephone calls and cables flooded into Arcadia demanding immediate shipment of rattlesnake meat.

Brings International Attention

The entire country was represented by the response and there was a generous sprinkling of orders from Canada and abroad. Several trade publications requested information and printed stories. In other words, The American Weekly had brought international attention to the rattlesnake farm in Arcadia, Florida.

Orders came from wholesale houses, doctors, lawyers, society matrons, tycoons and hundreds of just plain Americans.

Every can of rattlesnake meat was shipped from the warehouse and the company was forced to hire additional rattlesnake hunters.

Rattlesnake may never be a serious competitor of the stockyards, but somewhere in this amazing story is a moral for an advertiser who is looking for action.

It looks like conclusive proof of the argument we have been driving home for years: that the place to get action is in this Mighty Magazine which reaches more people than any other publication in the world; that this magazine has the most circulation because it is the most interesting magazine in the world; that its readers represent every walk of life and have faith in The American Weekly—enough faith to eat canned rattlesnake if necessary, to prove it.

WHERE THIS MAGAZINE GOES

The American Weekly is the largest magazine in the world. It is distributed through 17 great Sunday Newspapers. In 558 of America's 995 towns and cities of 10,000 population and over, The American Weekly concentrates 70% of its circulation

And, in addition, more than 1,750,000 families in thousands of other communities, large and small, regularly buy and read The American Weekly.

This advertisement is published to inspire presidents, sales managers and other executives interested in learning of unusual accomplishments even in times like these. A copy of the complete article will be sent, upon request, on business stationery.

SOX HELD TO TIE BY MISSIONS AS RAIN INTERFERES

Score Reverts to 2-2; Four Runs Wasted.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Francisco, Cal., March 27.—A large quantity of California's liquid poured down on the White Sox this afternoon and prevented them from reaching a decision in their exhibition with the Missions. Just after the Sox had leaped ahead with four runs in the sixth and the locals were in the midst of doing the same if not more in their half, Babe Pinelli, once a Cincinnati Red but now an umpire, harkened to a plea from the press box where the toilers were almost totally immersed. Babe announced that the show was off, and the score reverted to five innings, which was 2 to 2.

EDDIE DURHAM.

Because of the curtailed program the Sox pitching labors weren't evenly divided. Milt Gaston pitched only the part that didn't count, and the full five innings were handled by Ed Durham, one of Manager Lew Fonseca's prospective regulars. Durham was only fair, being hit safely at least once in each inning, but this caused no apprehension because he wasn't exactly bearing down. His arm has developed a bit of soreness in the last couple of days, and a high cross wind which preceded the rain gave him trouble controlling his particular type of foolers.

Dent Beer Sign.

The Missions began taking liberties with Durham in the second inning, one scoring. Blakely led off with a two base hit against the left field beer sign. Walters, who is a chattel of the Boston Braves, struck out, but Parker also used the beer sign for a two base target, scoring Blakely.

Another scored in the third. After two were gone, Eckhardt singled to left and romped to third when Dahlgren did the same. Dahlgren then started to steal and by the time Berry awoke to what was coming off the runner was almost at second. Berry made the throw just the same and before it could be returned Eckhardt was over the plate.

The starting pitcher against the Sox was Taylor, just a kid hoping to win a minor league job, but he did pretty well until his support fell apart. In the first inning he gave up a double by Hayes and a scratch hit by Simmons, which put Hayes on third. Appling couldn't produce in the pinch. In the third with two out Taylor had to contend with Simmons with two out. Two were on base at the time as the result of a single by Durham and pass to Fonseca. In this spot Simmons hoisted a high fly to center.

Errors Help Sox.

A fumble by the Mission shortstop gave the Sox their start toward two runs in the fourth. This blunder was followed by another when the second sacker muffed a throw that should have led to a double play on Kress' grounder. Taylor let them move along on a wild pitch. Dykes then slapped a two bagger against the left field fence, Appling and Kress scoring.

The four runs that meant some exercise but nothing else for the Sox in the sixth, began with Kress singling after one was out. Dykes struck out, but Berry beat out a hit to short, and the bases became loaded when Grube, batting for Durham, drew a pass. Hayes smashed a single into left, scoring Kress and Berry, and when the left fielder booted the ball, Grube also hiked home. Hayes took second on the blunder and scored on a single to center by Swanson.

Time to Call a Halt.

The home sixth started with Gaston getting Dahlgren on an easy roller to Appling. Blakely singled to center. Walters walked, and Fonseca, annoyed by the gumbo footing, messed up a slow bounder off Parker's bat. This loaded the bases. A moment later Umpire Pinelli decided to call the game.

The Sox transfer their exhibition affairs back to Oakland tomorrow for the first of two games there. Chad Kimsey and Paul Gregory will be asked to share the pitching against the Oaks.

Mule Haas, who had been on the sidelines for a week because of a wrenched ankle, was back in uniform today, but confined himself to hitting and throwing.

PAGE ST. PATRICK! FLORIDA ISN'T AS TOURISTS SEE IT

Man's Enterprise Still Must Push Back Wild Stretches.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., March 27.—It may be the prompting of a morbid imagination which gives me to think of such ominous livestock as venomous snakes and alligators on the loose when I find myself amid the gaudy luxury of the Florida coast where the ball players come to take on their early sunburn, the golfers shoot their golf and fishermen use little fish the size of billy goats as bait for fish the size of cows.

However that may be, the contrast between life as the pleasure people see it in the winter along the shores of the Atlantic or the gulf and life as the Florida Cracker and the Seminole Indians live it in the depths of the Everglades is one which suggests itself whenever a broken English waiter goes down the aisle swinging a silver cooler with a golden bottleneck protruding out of the shaved ice.

"Here, on the spot, at this moment," says the morbid imagination, "but for the made enterprise of the railroad promoter and real estate plugger who cleared away and citified a little margin along the shore within the last few years, would be a jungle or palmetto flat inhabited by rattlers big as inner tubes and cottonmouth moccasins and not by any graceful ladies and gents in evening clothes."

There still are comparatively young and very active citizens in Miami who came in before the railroad, when Miami was a trading post accessible mainly by trading boat, although it was possible, with difficulty, to come in over a rough road down from H. M. Flagler's ambitious hotel colony at Palm Beach.

Now the county jail roosts on the twentieth floor of the courthouse and the Miami News of James M. Cox, who ran for President against Warren Harding, hoists a thin tower into the sky with elevator lights flickering up and down the shaftways at night. And gents in bloomers go traipsing over the land pursuing the golf ball, some of them preferring, however, to take the penalty and lose the ball when a slice drops it deep in the rough. There is no way of knowing what might be coiled beside some sprig of saw grass in the rough so what matters a few strokes more on a score card or the price of a little white ball?

I apprehend that the real estate and hotel people do not wish to emphasize this aspect of Florida, and, in justice to their feelings in the matter, I will say that the chances of meeting a reptile on Flagler street or in a hotel lobby are negligible. But much more interesting than the tall buildings and other urban refinements themselves, which are no novelty to the majority of the visitors who come from large cities, is the recent history of the shore and present existence just behind the luxurious frontier of a vast, swampy jungle as wild, I take it, as some stretches of the Amazon.

It is frequented by a race of Indians, the Seminoles, who, in tribal resentment against many a dirty deal from the white man, have never formally made peace with the United States government. Herons, cranes and marsh hens by the million; ducks, wildcats, little red deer, 'possum and coon, snakes and alligators make the Everglades a happy hunting ground for Indians who go on their bare feet through swamps where the conventional sporting hunter does not venture even in his ostensibly snakeproof boots.

Here the hunter must take a sporting chance with his game. Drop a book with a piece of red flannel over the side of the boat in the dark water of some canal or lake and the big black bass snaps at it before it is wet. But a snake may come sliding over the gunwhale, too, meaning nobody any particular good.

This is the last American geographical frontier, but nobody seems to be in any hurry to exploit its possibilities as a hunting ground and commerce hesitates to take advantage of its natural resources, whatever they may be, considering the difficulties.

People find themselves very busy having a year's fun in a few weeks in Florida, and one has little time or repose for contemplation of the miracle which has been wrought in establishing the Miamis, the Palm Beaches, the St. Petersburgs and the Fort Myers of today, all since the turn of the century or thereabouts.

JUBILANT CUBS MEET STARS, BUT THINK OF CARDS

They're Ready Right Now for League Opener.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 27.—The Chicago Cubs, back in Los Angeles, are infinitely happier than when they left this unique city on the night of March 16, and probably will so remain until time for them to point eastward next Sunday night. All this provided there are no more earthquakes.

The reason for the great improvement is not a geographical or climatic matter so much as one of health. When the Cubs left here eleven days ago almost half of their entourage consisted of cripples. Today there is not an invalid on the squad.

Manager Charley Grimm, who yesterday made his belated 1933 debut at first base, playing nine innings at Sacramento, felt no ill effects from the performance and today said he expected to be in all games until some time late in the championship season

Malone Pitches Today.

Guy Bush, in pitching a three hit, nine inning game, and Warneke, in holding the Sacramento Senators to two hits in a seven inning game, convinced all that they are ready to start the regular season. Tomorrow against the Hollywood Stars, Pat Malone will seek to put on a similar demonstration, and Charley Root will do likewise against the Stars on Wednesday.

Gabby Hartnett did his first catching in almost two weeks when he worked nine innings yesterday in Sacramento and his erstwhile sore finger did not get sore again.

In other words the first string bunch is rarin' to get at the St. Louis Cardinals at Wrigley field come April 12.

Because of their effort in the almost unprecedented task of playing an exhibition double header Sunday, the Cubs had to make no pretense at being athletes today. Manager Grimm let 'em just sit around all day.

Newsom Sent to Angels.

Louis [Buck] Newsom, young right handed pitcher, was turned over to the Los Angeles Angels, the Cubs' Coast league farm, tonight. Newsom won seven games and lost the same number with Albany of the International league last season, after a late start because of a broken leg suffered in midwinter.

Newsom completes the deal which will send George [Tuck] Steinback, young Angel outfielder, to Chicago next season.

Hockey Leaders Resume Trophy Series Tonight

The race for the Stanley cup, emblematic of the world's professional hockey supremacy, will continue tonight. Three games will be played, Toronto playing at Boston, New York Rangers meeting the Canadiens at Montreal, and the Montreal Maroons meeting the Detroit Red Wings at Detroit.

No upsets marked the first games. Of the three contests tonight the Detroit-Maroons game will be the center of interest. The Red Wings, who blazed their way to a surprising tie for first place in the American division of the National Hockey league, will be seeking their second consecutive victory over the Maroons. It will be the final game of the series in the second place playoffs.

The Red Wings, because of their brilliant performance against the Maroons in the first game, when they scored a 2 to 0 victory on the Montreal rink, will be the favorites. The winner of the series will meet the winner of the Rangers-Canadiens series for the right to enter the cup finals. The series are decided on a total goal basis.

The Rangers, who scored a 5 to 2 triumph Saturday night, are favored to repeat against the Canadians. The cup last year was won by the Toronto Maple Leafs.

GOLDEN GLOVES BOXERS TAKE IT EASY, BUT TOMORROW—

Poreda Stops Aged Heeney in 10th Round

New York, March 27.—(AP)—Old Tom Heeney failed to last ten rounds tonight with Stanley Poreda, a young Jersey City warrior, in the feature bout at St. Nicholas arena.

Heeney, who battled Gene Tunney for the heavyweight championship in 1928, struggled through nine rounds and one minute twenty-four seconds of the tenth before Referee Jack Dorman led him to his corner. He was still erect, but had a split left cheek, a gashed ear, and assorted cuts on his face.

For two rounds, while his legs held out, Heeney ploughed into Poreda who himself was starting a comeback after being knocked out in six rounds by the late Ernie Schaaf a few months ago in Madison Square Garden.

It was a fight then, with Heeney clubbing away at close quarters while Poreda tried to keep him at a distance. But from the third round on Heeney, upward of 40 years old and grey at the temples, could not get out of the way of punches.

Tom took a beating from then on until Poreda was awarded the technical knockout in the tenth. Tom's ear was split in the second round, his nose was cut in the sixth by Poreda's left jabs, and a right smash opened his left cheek at the start of the tenth.

There were fewer than 1,000 in the crowd that rooted hard for the old fellow to last the distance. Mrs. Heeney wept in a ringside seat. Poreda seemed to regret every heavy punch he tossed the veteran's way. Heeney weighed 211 pounds; Poreda 208½.

SPARBOYS TAKE BEATING IN LAST BOXING DRILLS

Golden Gloves Ticket Sale Speeds Up.

BY FRENCH LANE.

In just about 36 hours the trek will start to the Chicago Stadium for the sixth annual intercity Golden Gloves battles between the teams representing THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and the New York News.

This procession, which will proceed out Madison street and Warren avenue tomorrow night, gives promise of being a large gathering. There was a clamor for tickets yesterday at all the box offices. The supply of seats was not exhausted, yet there were unmistakable signs that a near capacity crowd will see the renewal of the intercity amateur boxing feud.

For the boxers there was a welcome relief from training last night. Their work to fit themselves for the greatest of all amateur ring competition was finished when they left their gymnasium training quarters late yesterday.

Everybody Is Fit.

There will be some limbering up exercises today, to be sure. But that will be more like play to these boys. They have gradually sped up their work until everything that is required to fit a man for a supreme physical test has been included. Miles upon miles of road work, rounds upon rounds of boxing, weight pulling, bag punching, rope skipping, and other exercises have been included in the daily routine.

Loafing was not permitted yesterday even though the boys who will represent New York and Chicago appear as almost perfect physical specimens and were down to the weight they must make when they climb on the scales early tomorrow afternoon.

New Yorkers Tour City.

The New York coaches came to the conclusion during the day that their boys might be thinking a little too much about the impending bouts. So between the road work yesterday morning and the gymnasium drill late in the afternoon the New York boxers boarded sightseeing buses and made a tour of the city.

"It had the result we desired," Coach Jack Elliott said last night. "The trip about town freshened up every one of our boxers. They entered into their final boxing drill with a new spirit which we expect to linger on until they take care of the Chicagoans in the ring."

Bob Pastor, the New York light heavyweight, and Henry Balsamo, the 160 pound champion, went at their sparring mates so viciously the coaches frequently had to call a halt. There is little question but that these are the hardest punchers on the New York team. Both expect to win on knockout wallops. So their scraps with Max Marek and Fred Caserio of the Chicago squad promise to be among the high spots on the program.

How About Rodak?

There was also a lot of talk wherever ring fans gathered last night about Leo Rodak's clash with Pat Robinson, the New York featherweight champion.

Robinson is a native of the West Indies and he, too, is a terrific puncher, if the reports coming from New York are to be believed. To win the New York title Robinson had to beat Sedgewick Harvey, the Negro boy who was a member of New York's strong team last year.

The members of the New York team were on the air from Station W-G-N early last night. They told all about how they will whip the tar out of their Chicago rivals. The members of the Chicago team were at dinner during the broadcast and, as there wasn't a radio near, they heard none of the threats the New Yorkers made. Tonight the Chicago boxers will have their say-so from the same station.

Referees Are Named.

The names of the referees for the inter city scrap were announced yesterday. They are George Barton of Minneapolis, Sam Hennessey of Detroit and B. B. Osthues of Medford, Mass. They are among the better known of Amateur Athletic union officials.

The judges of the bouts—also neutral officials from outside of Chicago and New York—are William P. Kenney of Boston, Dr. J. A. Reilly of Kansas City, Thomas J. Prosser of Grand Rapids, L. N. Bloom of Cleveland, and O. R. Benjamin of Detroit.

The referees and judges will meet with the coaches and managers of the two teams and National A. A. U. officials at a luncheon at the Germania club tomorrow.

SMITTY—THE FORGOTTEN MAN

O, St. Patrick, All Florida Isn't Paradise

Their fire departments and city water and lighting plants are so close to the primitive jungle that, in some cases, a half hour's ride in any ordinary automobile covers the distance between city civilization and Florida as it was in the beginning.

Much of the land reclaimed during the boom has been yielded back to nature since the developments or subdivisions went bankrupt, but much of the gain has been held, too, and is being slowly consolidated now as the young cities mature.

Pleasure being the principal industry of these cities, prohibition has been frankly and entirely abandoned out of consideration for the paying guests, who otherwise would go to Cuba or the British offshore islands to attend to their winter spending, but the criminal population, which moved in and attempted to take charge in the wild days of the boom, has been put under discipline and reduced in numbers. There was great anguish among the professional gamblers from the north, who came back as usual this season, expecting to do business with the authorities on the usual terms, only to be told that if they opened up they would be shut up and also locked up, a rule which prevailed throughout the season.

Some day some St. Patrick may shoo the reptiles back and back and finally out of the glades, and some new Flagler or McEntee Bowman may build a Biltmore in the jungles. If so, then there will ensue such a shelling of wild game and hauling of fish from crowded waters as has not occurred in this country since the days of the earliest pioneers.

Lewis Uses Arm Scissors to Pin Pinetzki to Mat

Ed (Strangler) Lewis pinned Leon Pinetzki, claimant of the heavyweight wrestling championship of Poland, with an arm scissors at the Coliseum last night after 23 minutes and 45 seconds. Two thousand attended. Receipts were $2,400.

Gus Sonnenberg, in the semi-windup, won from Karol Zbyszko after 25 minutes. A flying tackle knocked Zbyszko out of the ring and he was counted out by Referee Bob Managoff.

The most interesting bout of the night was won by Sammy Stein, New York heavyweight. He threw Mike Romano, veteran Italian, in 17 minutes. Ivan Leskinovich pinned Rudy Hoffman with a scissor hold in 10:32. Jack Smith threw Jack Kogut with a flying mare in 12:55. Glenn Munn beat Jack Wray, who substituted for Jack Washburn, with a body slam in 9:00.

Lewis had difficulty clamping his headlock on Pinetzki. The Pole would straighten up to his full height of 6 feet 6 inches and break the headlocks. Pinetzki was almost pinned after 15 minutes, but regained his feet and almost threw Lewis twice. Lewis then went to work and ended the bout.

Steve Savage and Tony Catalino will meet in the windup on tonight's wrestling card at Kid Howard's gymnasium, 116 Madison street. It will be a one fall match to a decision, with a one hour time limit.

The semi-windup, one fall, with a 10 o'clock time limit, will bring together Carl Schultz, north side German heavyweight, and Jack White of New York, who will make his first appearance here.

In the two preliminaries Victor Soldat will face Pete Zeravich and George Mack will meet Pete Schub.

Dixie Song Birds Head North; Yes, Spring Is Near!

BY BOB BECKER.

The songbirds are beginning to come up from Dixieland. The trout season opens up in a little more than a month. Sporting goods stores have installed eye-filling window displays of shiny new rods, gay colored lures, and other angling equipment. Illinois fishermen already are getting a few fish from lakes and streams, and bird fans are keeping their eyes open for the purple martins.

With these seasonal events on the outdoor calendar the Chicagoland nature lover knows that spring is just around the corner, even though the weather man may try to discourage everybody with an occasional dash of snow or sleet. On returning from the south we saw a number of signs which could tell the traveler that spring was at hand.

One of the most interesting features on the landscape as viewed from a train window was a slow northward movement of sparrow hawks through Illinois. The sparrow hawks (one of our most useful and graceful birds of prey) could be seen on both sides of the railroad hunting their meals in the fields and meadows.

Although spring has a varied list of interesting features for us in the central states, ranging from the cheery whistle of the cardinal to the appearance of the first skunk cabbage in the marshes, in Florida it is possible to recognize spring just as easily by a totally different group of signs.

For example, when we were fishing near Everglades, Fla., just before starting north, the drab gray cypress swamps were taking on a rich green color marking the appearance of the first leaves and the arrival of the spring season. Although one might think that in a semi-tropical country like Florida, where it is usually warm during the winter months, trees never lost their green leaves, the cypress and other trees do lose their summer foliage.

Another sign of spring in southern Florida was the growing number of tarpon fishermen.

New Stadium Company Is Given License

The Illinois Athletic commission yesterday approved the Chicago Stadium Operating company's application for a license to promote boxing and wrestling shows. The new officers' personnel of the company is: Charles W. Bidwill, president; Stuyvesant Peabody, vice president; George Halas, secretary and treasurer, and Bidwill, Charles Hayes and Nate Lewis, trustees.

The Stadium Operating company, promoted the Billy Petrolle-Barney Ross bout last Wednesday, but used the license of Joe Foley.

Vincent Sereci, New York middleweight, has placed himself under the management of Ralph Gallet of Chicago. Sereci drilled at Kid Howard's gymnasium yesterday, where he will train for two weeks before engaging in his next contest. He has been idle for five months.

An interclub amateur show between boxers from the Belle Plaine Athletic club and the Howard Street Business Men's association will be offered tonight at the association's gymnasium, Howard and Paulina streets.

Young Scotty and Mickey O'Shea, welterweights, will meet in a five round contest tonight at the Midway arena, 6115 Cottage Grove avenue. Other bouts follow: Red Chinski vs. Eddie Rayford, Mennen Kumis vs. Johnny Terry, Georgie Stokes vs. Freddy Gravelle, Johnny Fitzpatrick vs. Sam Morales, and Eddie Jacobs vs. George Jonasen, wrestlers.

Runner-Up Jobs in Chicago Ring Team Still in Doubt

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Chicago's Golden Gloves team is ready, New York. Put up your hands and come out fighting.

IRVING GOLDSTEIN

Twenty-six boys from near and far, the best in Chicagoland's tournament, finished their drills yesterday afternoon at the Illinois Athletic club. Sixteen of these lads will fight tomorrow night. The eight champions, of course, are certain to take their turn in the ring, but the makeup of the secondary division still is doubtful. Weight and condition, as well as ability, will be the deciding factors in the coaches' decisions.

It's a Whirlwind Finish.

The final afternoon of boxing at the I. A. C. was a whirlwind affair. When it was all over there wasn't one of the hundred or more spectators who wouldn't wager on Chicago to win. Perhaps this confidence is unwarranted. New York may have a wonder team of fighters, but it will take just that kind of fighting to lick these Chicago boys.

Competition in the bantamweight class continued until the final minute. Bud Ginter, usually an indifferent boxer in the gymnasium, looked like the proverbial million dollars. The other 118 pounders were still hoping for a chance to fight the New York runnerup. Robert Iverson, however, apparently had dropped out of the running because of injury. Ginter whipped Iverson for the Chicago championship and since then Iverson's nose, which was battered a bit, has not returned to normal dimensions.

Goldstein Has Chance.

Irving Goldstein, who competed as a featherweight, may make the team as the bantamweight alternate. Yesterday he finished his workout only a pound and a half over the weight limit. This means, of course, that he will scale 119 pounds easily tomorrow afternoon.

The question of weighing in has caused as much dissension between the coaches and managers as all the polite phraseology that has been published in the last two years. In 1931 the New York team weighed in at the Medinah and the Chicago team then weighed in at the I. A. C. an hour later. In New York last year both teams met at the New York News building. Since each squad was forced to travel, that was an equitable arrangement.

Coaches Are Adamant.

So far the New York coaches have insisted that the Chicago team come to the Medinah Michigan Avenue club tomorrow to weigh in. Coach John Behr has insisted that if New York wants a double weighing in, then New York can come to the I. A. C. That's where the matter rests. Coach Behr has installed a scale which has been tested for accuracy, so that none of the boys will be disqualified for a matter of a few ounces. For that matter, a boxer is permitted to reduce if he fails to make weight when he first steps on the scales. Generally a deadline is set on weighing in and all who pass the test by that time are accepted.

Both coaches will have representatives in the enemy dressing rooms to see that all rules on bandaging of hands are observed. The A. A. U. inspectors are empowered to see that the rules are followed. Had the A. A. U. men acted last year in New York an unfortunate situation would have been prevented.

Gloves will be put on the boxers in the Stadium club room and then the boys will come into the ring.

Ward Reaches Peak.

The final drills yesterday saw Eddie Ward, the Chicago Negro lightweight, at his best. He punched like a windmill, was continually on the aggressive, and his blows carried tremendous power despite the big gloves. Henry Rothier and Billy Celebron battled each other for the last time in the welterweight workout. Celebron is fighting better than ever and he stung Rothier several times. Both of these boys hope to avenge their defeats in Madison Square Garden last year.

As for the middleweights, Freddie Caserio, Bill Treest and Jim Cummings are the greatest trio ever assembled on one team. New York shouldn't get a round in this weight against any two of these boys.

Better in Heavier Weights.

Max Marek, Ario Soldati and Harvey Diesch in the 175 pound class, and John Pacek, Adolph Wiater and Jack Kranz in the heavyweight division are the best fighters Chicago ever has had in these heavy classes.

All the boys received their quota of tickets, final instructions were given, and now all they must do is mark time until the zero hour. Brief workouts on the gym floor this afternoon will break the monotony of the last few hours.

MISS COLEMAN, OLYMPIC DIVING STAR, MARRIED

Miami, Fla., March 27.—(AP)—Georgia Coleman, Olympic diving champion, tonight announced her marriage to Roof Gilson, salesman of Jackson, Mich.

The swimmer said her husband, whom she married in Fort Lauderdale Friday, is now at the Carolina hotel, Pinehurst, N. C.

In a statement issued here tonight, the diving champion said:

"It is reasonably well known that I have contemplated a professional career beginning this summer.

"I felt when we were married that marriage might interfere with my career—that it might jeopardize the consummation of a contract now pending with a beach in the metropolitan New York district.

"I had planned, however, to abandon next fall the business of diving and swimming, and be just what I want to be—plain Mrs. Gilson.

"I hope I can impress my friends, many of whom have heard me deny our marriage, that I really wanted terribly to tell them and the whole world it was true.

"I know I am going to be happy, and as soon as I can conclude a diving exhibition I agreed to give in the Miami Biltmore pool, I am going to leave to join my husband."

COUCCI BOOTS IN THREE WINNERS; ONE PAYS $244

Nomac in Record Payoff at Tropical Park.

Miami, Fla., March 27.—[Special.]—Jockey Silvio Coucci, contract rider for the Greentree stable, scored a triple at Tropical park today, one of the winners being Mrs. W. M. Moore's Romac, which scored by a nose and returned $244.80 for $2, the longest price of the meeting. On the opening day Comstockery won, paying $228.10 for $2.

Coucci's other two winners were Banderlog, winner of the featured fourth race, and Revonah in the sixth. Romac's victory was his first this year and was scored after half a dozen losing races at Hialeah park and one such effort here. On none of these occasions did he get closer than sixth.

Winner Clings to Margain.

Coming up from behind the pace this afternoon, Romac saved much ground and held on gamely to outstay Baptism, another long shot which returned $26.20 for $2 for place. The favorite, Black Watch, was third, a length back of Baptism, Romac's time for the six furlongs was 1:13 2-5 over a fast track.

Banderlog was the third choice in the feature which was named in honor of the Three Score and Ten club, members of which were guests of the management. They saw all seven favorites meet defeat. Banderlog is a 4 year old gelding and by the victory chalked up his first score of the Florida season. He is owned by C. V. Whitney.

Favorite Runs Third.

Coucci had him in hand at the end of the mile which was run in 1:38. Outbound, with the apprentice star John Westrope in the saddle, was second, two lengths before Honey Locust. Then came Starboard Light, the favorite, Wayden and Druggist.

Spanish Star Takes Indoor Tennis Match

Jose Alonso, former member of the Spanish Davis cup team, advanced to the second round of the western indoor tennis tournament by defeating Don Sink, Northwestern university, in the opening night's play at the Broadway armory last night. The scores were 6—1, 6—1.

The second round of play in the men's singles and first round matches in the women's singles will be held tomorrow night. The first contests will start at 6 o'clock. No matches are scheduled for tonight. Last night's results follow:

STOCKS LOWER; TRADERS AWAIT CONGRESS' ACTS

Am. Telephone Weak in Dull Market.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 27.—Stocks drifted to moderately lower price levels today as speculative interest shrank to the lowest ebb in nearly a year. Turnover was below half a million shares for the third time this year and quotations came out in such slow order that the ticker was barely kept going.

Dribbling selling once more ruled the movement of prices, while only at long intervals did anything approaching a rally develop to relieve the picture, with the result that the tendency was toward lower ground most of the day. Closing quotations found leaders off from fractions to about 2 points.

With the new administration's progress toward reconstruction slowed up somewhat by the opposition congress has suddenly raised against President Roosevelt, Wall street is finding it difficult to maintain its trading enthusiasm. Traders have become befuddled over Washington's plans for unemployment and farm relief, railroad legislation, regulation of security markets and other matters.

Debate American Telephone Dividend.

Stocks were too lackadaisical to take root on any particular course and sank largely of their own weight, although selling of American Telephone was blamed in some quarters for similar operations against other leaders. American Telephone got down to a trifle above 90, its performance being attributed to another reduction in the dividend of a Bell system unit, Southern New England Telephone, from $2 to $1.50 quarterly.

Curtailment of the New England firm's disbursement—the fifth in the system thus far—makes it clear that the parent concern will have to rely to a great extent on its own surplus if it is to maintain its own rate, inasmuch as the payments of subsidiaires go largely to American Telephone. The dividend meeting is not until May.

There was a sympathetic reaction in other utilities to the slump in American Telephone, with United Gas Improvement easing to a new low for the year.

Await Dividend Meetings Today.

Standing out on the immediate dividend slate are the board meetings tomorrow of two prominent industrial corporations, American Can and Allied Chemical. There was evidence of apprehensive selling of both these shares, with Allied Chemical closing off more than 3 points and American Can more than 1. The street, however, seemed to have no definite convictions on what tomorrow's confabs would bring forth.

With February operating income reports failing to come up to expectations in no small number of cases, traders took to selling rails, hitherto one of the market's best bought groups. Resultant recessions occurred in such leaders as Santa Fé, Delaware and Hudson, New York Central, Union Pacific, and others.

United States Steel, Du Pont, General Electric, and General Motors, among the pivotal industrials, were found in the loss column at the close.

See Inflation if U. S. Tries Vast Relief

BY HOWARD WOOD.

La Salle street is now beginning to believe that the post-moratorium policies of the treasury may lead to inflation. This is a development of the last few days. Immediately after the banking holiday the concensus of opinion along "the street" was that there would be no inflation. Proposals in Washington for heavy government spending on various "relief" schemes have abruptly changed opinions in the financial district.

The bank situation has been definitely cleared up. Everybody in the financial district agrees that the nation's banking structure has been set on a sound basis and that that worry is effectively removed.

The problem of too much public spending and too much taxes, however has not been solved.

Tax Rates Rise; Yield Declines.

Despite increased tax rates, actual tax yield has been decreasing, thus demonstrating that taxes have passed the point of diminishing return. And yet there is proposed a program of additional spending for relief and other purposes which may cost the federal government as much as eight billion dollars.

"Inflation is inevitable if the federal government continues to spend in excess of its revenues," says one well informed Chicago banker. "It has been the history of inflation in ancient or modern times and in every nation that attempted it that the resort to inflation always followed a succession of budgetary deficits.

"We may have an interim period of continued scaling down which will cause people to think that we are in the throes of a deflationary period, but inflation will follow unless the federal government keeps its expenditures within income."

La Salle street merely shrugs its shoulders at the proposal that the budget deficits be financed by the sale of government bonds.

Who Will Buy Bonds?

"Who's going to buy several billions of dollars worth of government bonds?" is the invariable reply to that suggestion.

Apparently not the banks, for they are already so loaded up with "governments" that they are urging the sale of long term bonds to individuals rather than the sale of more short term bonds to banks.

On March 22, for example, more than 34 per cent of the outstanding credit of New York member banks was absorbed by United States government bonds.

The federal reserve banks themselves are loaded up even more heavily with government bonds, due largely to the "open market" policy fostered during the last year by the New York and Washington reserve authorities. Total reserve bank credit outstanding on March 22 was $2,887,000,000. Of this amount holdings of United States government bonds represented $1,864,000,000, or 64 per cent of the total.

Corporations also are already well loaded up with government bonds.

Inflation Methods Shown.

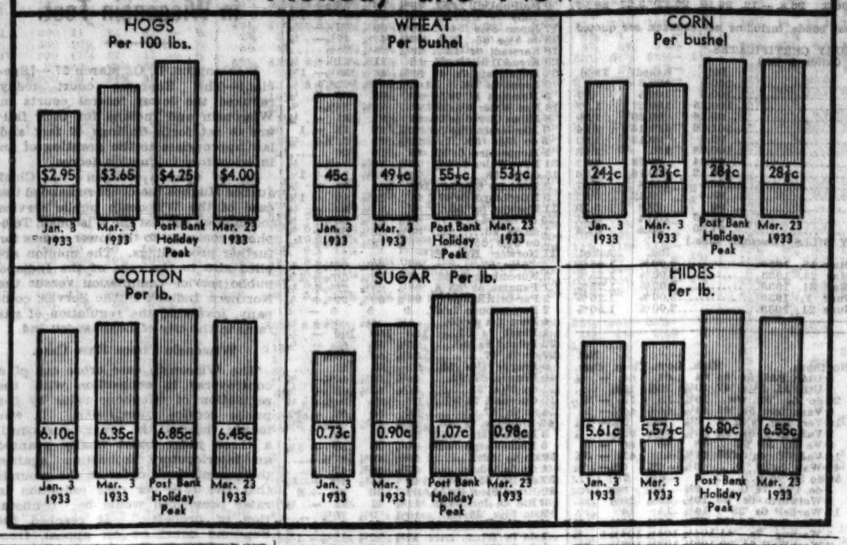
Two ways remain of paying off government deficits after taxes have reached the point of diminishing return and the market for government bonds has become saturated.

One is simply the printing of paper money to pay for governmental expenditures over and above the amount covered by taxes. A second would be to "sell" a lot more bonds to the federal reserve or member banks, and then permit these bonds to be used as backing for the issuance of federal reserve bank notes, the new "asset currency." Either step would be highly inflationary.

The new asset money hasn't yet proved to be a vehicle of inflation because it hasn't been used to any great extent. It was created supposedly for the rescue of banks, but the banks haven't had to draw on it because since the banking holiday depositors have been taking money to the banks instead of taking it out.

If the asset currency were used only to aid banks it would probably not be inflationary, for it would merely replace in actual circulation other money temporarily placed in hiding by hoarders.

Prices of Selected Commodities First of Year, Before and After Bank Holiday and Now



Mont. Ward Reports Loss of $5,687,000

With sales volume down 16 per cent, Montgomery Ward & Co., mail order and chain store concern, operated at a loss of $4,829,000 in the 13 months ended Jan. 31, 1933, according to the nual statement issued yesterday. Sales were $176,489,000. The report covers a 13 months' period because of the change in the company's fiscal year.

SEWELL L. AVERY. [Moffett Photo.]

The company had shown a bigger operating loss on its larger sales volume in 1931. In the 13 months ended Jan. 31, 1932, sales totaled $210,946,000 and loss was $9,737,000.

Loss on Securities Sale.

The company incurred a loss of $857,674 last year on the sale of securities acquired in previous year. This brought the net loss for the year $5,687,000.

The company closed the year in a strong financial position, with current assets amounting to 11.7 times current liabilities. Current assets, totaling $83,460,000, included $9,301,000 of cash and $16,988,000 of government securities. Other marketable securities amounted to $1,535,000.

Merchandise inventories were $40,750,000 on Jan. 31, 1933, as compared with $36,206,000 at the end of 1931.

Inventories Are Larger.

"Inventories, valued at cost or market prices, whichever lower, are larger than a year ago, having been built up in accordance with revised merchandising policies," Sewell L. Avery, president, stated in the report.

The balance sheet is conservatively stated, Mr. Avery said, with adequate reserves set up for all known losses and liabilities.

Surplus was reduced from $14,515,000 to $8,471,000 during the year. This shrinkage included the year's loss and the $356,954 paid in dividends on the class A stock in the first quarter of the year.

MENTION QUAKE AND CALIFORNIA PAYS ON THE NAIL

The manager of the credit department of a large Chicago corporation yesterday disclosed what he claims to be a sure fire method of collecting bills from California concerns. He says he discovered it quite by accident.

"Immediately after the reopening of banks after the moratorium," he says, "we sent a batch of bills to a firm in California. A few days later we received a message from one debtor owing a substantial amount saying that they would consider it a great favor, circumstances being what they were, if we would consent to wait another thirty days for payment.

"We replied that we realized the earthquake had wrought havoc in California and that to help them straighten out their affairs after this great disaster to their state we would be glad to grant their request for more time."

A check for payment in full, accompanied by no comment on the earthquake, came by return mail.

Chauffeurs Find Jobs Scarce; Business Men Drive Own Cars.

Private chauffeuring is a hard hit occupation. Many of the rich and former rich are now driving their own automobiles. In former years the monthly meeting of the Commercial club brought as impressive a turnout of chauffeured automobiles as could be seen any time in the city. The club membership is made up of the foremost business and financial leaders in the city. At the close of the club's meeting last week only eight cars driven by chauffeurs were waiting at the entrance of the Chicago club. Other members drove their own automobiles, rode street cars, taxied, or walked home.

Rumor Ogden Mills to Get Bank Job Hits Snag in U. S. Law.

Ogden Mills, according to a multiplicity of rumors that have been seething through the financial district for several weeks, is slated to come to Chicago to take an important position with a national bank.

The various national banks with which Mills' name has been thus associated have all pointed out that, under the laws of the United States, neither a secretary of the treasury nor any member of the federal reserve board is permitted to accept a position with a national bank within two years after the expiration of his term of office.

Jobs Increase in Area Equals Normal Trend

Industrial employment in the seventh federal reserve district, as of the middle of February, advanced over the preceding month in about the same amount as in the like periods of 1932, according to the monthly report of the Chicago federal reserve bank. However, wage payments for the reporting companies recorded the first February decline in recent years.

The manufacturing industry gained 1.8 per cent in employment, while earnings declined 6.5 per cent. Total wage payments of 2,176 reporting companies was $7,306,000. In the four groups in the nonmanufacturing division the number of wage earners declined 1.1 per cent, while earnings receded 1.6 per cent.

The automobile industry was able to offset lower trends, which occurred in a number of the smaller industries.

Gains in both employment and pay rolls were reported by six manufacturing groups, including metal products, rubber, textiles, wood, leather, and chemicals.

In the nonmanufacturing groups construction continued at a low ebb, the decline in wage earners amounting to 13.7 per cent and earnings 21.8 per cent. The greatest steadiness in this group was shown by the public utilities, which returned an increase of 0.3 per cent in the number of wage earners and a decline of 0.2 per cent in earnings. Coal mining showed gains both in number of employed and in wages paid.

The meat packing industry's changes were largely seasonal. The volume of production declined 17½ per cent from January. The number of employed at the end of the February period declined only 2 per cent from the January period.

WOODIN TO GET QUICK ACTION ON BANKING FRAUDS

Pledges No Delays in Prosecution.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 27.—Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin today pledged the Roosevelt administration to prompt prosecution of banking irregularities.

"I want to make it clear that the public can be assured that nothing will be withheld or suppressed under this administration," Woodin emphasized at a press conference this afternoon.

Woodin's statement followed another issued by Acting Controller of the Currency Awalt, who defended a New York bank examiner for holding up the prosecution of Joseph W. Harriman and other officials of the Harriman National bank of New York for five months. Awalt is a holdover from the Hoover administration.

Delay Not in Public Interest.

Answering the contention of Awalt and others that prosecutions must be held off until the bank involved can get ready to stand runs which might result, Woodin said that it is not "believed that the taking of prompt action in such matters will work to the injury of any sound banking institution."

"We do not consider this policy to be incompatible with the best public interest," Woodin affirmed. Immediately upon receipt by the treasury of information on irregularities, the treasury will pass the information on and drop out of the picture, Woodin explained.

Pledges Immediate Action.

"It is the President's policy and mine that whenever banking irregularities are revealed to us by any treasury department officer or agent or investigator they shall be considered promptly and referred without delay to proper government authorities for immediate attention," Secretary Woodin declared.

Under the Hoover administration the prosecution of irregularities in the Harriman National bank was held up by a national bank examiner from July 25 to Dec. 23 and in the department of justice from that time until the coming of the Roosevelt administration. Awalt and former department of justice officials have explained that they waited for the bank to get into position to withstand the demands which might follow the disclosures.

National Steel Corporation Earns Quarter's Dividend

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 27.—At the annual meeting of stockholders of National Steel corporation today, E. T. Weir, chairman of the board, declared that earnings of the company in the first quarter of this year would more than cover the quarterly dividend of 12½ cents a share on the capital stock. The shareholders voted to change the capital stock from no par value to $25 par value a share.

Half Billion Gold Returned by Deadline

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 27.—The deadline for gold hoarders to bring back their stores of the precious metal fell today and more than half a billion dollars of gold is already back in the banks.

More gold flowed into the federal reserve banks in the 18 days ended March 22 than had been withdrawn for domestic use and hoarding in the preceding month, the federal reserve board announced today.

Approximately 558 million dollars in gold and gold certificates came back to the reserve banks between March 4 and 22, the board said. Between Feb. 1 and March 4 only 300 million dollars in gold had been withdrawn for domestic purposes, including hoarding.

Woodin Cites Unique Cases.

Secretary of the Treasury Woodin today said that the country's response to the call for gold had been more than satisfactory. He told of one case in which an unnamed person had sent in a thousand dollar gold certificate as a gift and another case in which a $5 gold piece had been mailed to the treasury. In a third instance a gold cup valued by the secretary at $10,000 was sent in, but was later returned with thanks.

Although the reserve banks still have orders to report all large gold withdrawals of the last two years which have not been redeposited by the close of business today, the treasury has not announced what will be done with the lists. It is predicted now that the lists will be short, most of the entries having been canceled because of redeposits.

Weigh Lifting Gold Embargo.

With most of the precious metal now back, the road is paved for some fresh action on the gold embargo. An order is known to be drafted and in the hands of the secretary of the treasury awaiting his approval and issuance.

Experts believe that in the strong position of America in international trade and the large excess reserves of the reserve banks, two-thirds of the basis for a return to international gold payments has been laid.

U. S. SELLS ISSUE OF 100 MILLIONS ON 1.72% BASIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 27.—Rates on government short term borrowing continue to ease, and Secretary of the Treasury Woodin tonight announced the sale of 100 million dollars' worth of 91 day bills at an average discount of only 1.72 per cent.

Subscriptions, which were more than three times as large as the offering, also were normal. They amounted to $318,206,000, of which the treasury accepted $100,158,000, according to the secretary.

Since it reached an all time high of 4.26 per cent just before the banking holiday, the discount rate on bills has been steadily receding, reflecting easier conditions in the money market as banking approaches normal again. The rate on the preceding issue was 1.83 per cent.

The issue sold tonight was a refinancing operation. It will be dated March 29, the date on which another issue of similar size matures, and will come due itself on June 28.

GEN'L ELECTRIC REPORTS PROFIT OF $14,404,000

Sales in 1932 Lowest Since 1916.

With buying by public utility companies at low ebb and railroad electrification at a virtual standstill, sales of the General Electric company, world's leading manufacturer of electric equipment, reached the prewar level of 147 million dollars last year.

OWEN D. YOUNG.

The business done last year was the smallest since 1916 and compares with the figure of 415 millions in 1929, the company's banner year.

The financial report for 1932 was mailed to stockholders yesterday.

Important balance sheet changes including a revaluation of investments in associated companies is shown by the statement.

Profit Is $14,404,000.

Net profit for 1932 was $14,404,000. After dividends on the special and common shares there was a deficit for the year of $4,035,000. Net profit was $40,957,000 in 1931 while deficit after dividends was $7,768,000.

The comparative income account follows:

	1932.	1931.
Net income from sales	$ 3,630,044	$28,390,882

Less interest payments	314,346	433,333
Profit available for dividends	$14,404,110	$40,956,995

While investments in associated companies were increased by approximately 20 millions last year, the reappraisal of these assets resulted in a charge to surplus of $19,498,000. These investments are carried at $153,580,000, against $179,308,000 at the close of 1931. This account includes advances to affiliates and miscellaneous investments. These holdings are not detailed in the report.

Continue Depreciation Policy.

The conservative depreciation policy of the company was continued. Manufacturing plants are carried at $44,790,000, representing a depreciation of approximately 77 per cent from the cost valuation of 191 millions. Patents and franchises are carried at $1.

HINSDALE BANK OPENS; 10 MORE RESUME TODAY

The First National Bank of Hinsdale and six state banks reopened yesterday, and ten more state banks were given permits to reopen this morning. At the same time it was announced that plans for the reorganization of the City National Bank and Trust Company of Evanston are nearing completion.

Permits to reopen were issued to these state banks by State Auditor Barrett last night:

Orion—State Bank of Orion.
Carmi—White County bank.
Elmwood—First Farmers State bank.
Albany—Albany State bank.
Hardin—Hardin State bank.
Beaverville—Beaverville State bank.
Van Orin—First State Bank of Van Orin.
Ashmore—Ashmore State bank.

Earlier in the day the Raleigh State bank of Raleigh and the First State bank of Goldengate were issued permits to open.

The reorganization of the City National of Evanston calls for new capital and the segregation of slow assets. Charles N. Stevens, president, said he expects to make public soon the details of the program which would permit early resumption of normal business. The bank is now operating on a limited basis in the hands of a federal conservator.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago announced yesterday that the New Haven Savings bank, New Haven, Mich., had been granted permission to resume business.

CURTIS B. DALL TO JOIN BOARD OF TRADE TODAY

Curtis B. Dall, son-in-law of President Roosevelt, was the guest of President Peter B. Carey and Vice President Robert P. Boylan of the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday. He viewed activities in the grain pits in the gallery with them and later appeared before the board's membership committee to qualify on his application for membership on the Board of Trade. The directors will pass on his application at a meeting today. Mr. Dall is connected with a New York stock house, E. F. Hutton & Co., New York City, and holds a membership in the New York Stock exchange and the cotton exchange.

SEARS-ROEBUCK GETS REVISION OF LOANS SALE

Gen. Robert E. Wood, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., told stockholders at the annual meeting in New York yesterday that the company had obtained a modification in the terms of its mortgage repurchasing agreement with the Metropolitan Life Insurance company.

Under the terms of the new agreement the company obtains relief from the 30 million dollar contingent liability it assumed in selling $20,116,000 of mortgages to the insurance company. The mortgages are secured by the homes sold by Sears Roebuck. Under the old agreement the company agreed to substitute new mortgages for those becoming delinquent.

The new contract waives this provision for 2 years and also extends for 3 years all mortgages maturing in 1933 and 1934. Under the agreement Sears-Roebuck will keep up the interest and taxes which amount to about $25,000 a month.

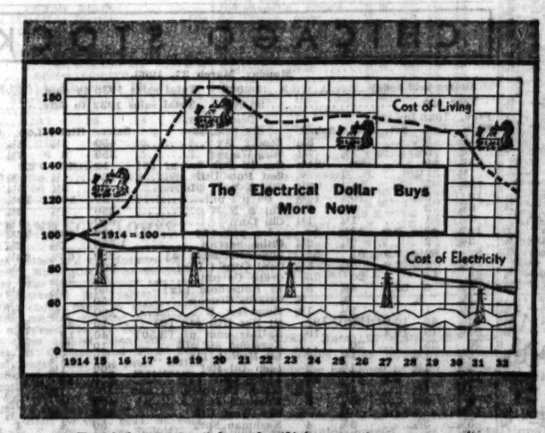
A FAIR QUESTION—"Why haven't Electric Rates come Down as much as the Cost of Living?"



Cost of Living
The Electrical Dollar Buys More Now
1914 = 100
Cost of Electricity
1914 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32

ELECTRIC RATES have come down more than the cost of living, if the period since 1914 is considered. Electric domestic rates are 33% lower now, while the cost of living is still about 25% higher.

The decline in rates cannot be so sharp as the recent drop in living costs, because utility expenditures consist largely of charges which cannot be reduced. Such a charge is interest on money loaned by bondholders for construction. Another is taxes, which have increased twice as fast as revenue, and which now take more than ten cents of each dollar of revenue.

Rates per unit of use will continue to go down automatically as customers increase their use.

U. S. TO PERMIT MIXING ALCOHOL WITH GASOLINE

Illinois Plan for Motor Fuel Approved.

Washington, D. C., March 27.—(AP)—Plans to permit several Illinois oil companies to test mixing alcohol with gasoline for motor fuel were announced today by James M. Doran, commissioner of industrial alcohol.

He said agricultural coöperative groups had been conducting tests in Illinois for some time, and handling the product on a nonprofit basis. The oil companies asked the same privilege, and Doran told Representative Dirksen [Rep., Ill.], he thought it was possible to permit the companies to conduct similar experiments.

If possible, he will allow withdrawal of alcohol for the purpose this week. The commissioner said the alcohol must be withdrawn under permit, its use supervised and only denatured alcohol used. He said there would be no relaxation in any restrictions.

Seeks to Formulate Policy.

Dirksen said Doran was seeking to formulate a permanent policy for withdrawal of alcohol for blending with gasoline. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Dirksen added, is deeply sympathetic with the blending movement, which has gathered impetus in the middle west.

"Some of the major oil companies," Representative Dirksen said, "have formed a defense counsel to oppose the widespread blending of motor fuel on the 10 per cent basis, but their opposition has softened, and they are now of the opinion that a 5 per cent or more blend will be of decided benefit to gasoline sales through potential increase of agricultural purchasing power."

Organized farmers in Illinois have tried a blend of 10 per cent alcohol with gasoline and are selling it through coöperative oil stations on the theory that burning such fuel will consume much of the surplus corn crop by diverting it to grain alcohol.

Hampered by Regulations.

The movement was handicapped somewhat by federal regulations, which prevent withdrawal of alcohol. To date only one carload of alcohol has been ordered released by Doran. The movement thus far has been purely voluntary, no action having been taken on four bills pending in the house of representatives to require dilution of gasoline with grain alcohol.

Figures furnished by the American Petroleum Institute show consumption of gasoline in Illinois alone averages a billion gallons annually, which is about one-seventeenth of all gasoline consumed in the nation. Translated into terms of grain consumption, Dirksen said blending of gasoline consumed in Illinois each year would furnish a market for 40 million bushels of corn.

Dirksen said he would confer immediately with representatives of Indiana, Iowa and other corn states in the hope of gaining support.

Davison Chemical.

I would appreciate receiving information on Davison Chemical company stock.—K. H. R.

Davison Chemical company, one of the leading producers of fertilizer, was placed in receivership on Feb. 16, 1933. This was the result of heavy investments in Silica Gel corporation, reduced purchasing power of tobacco and cotton growers, who were the principal purchasers of its product, and keen competition in the field.

In November, 1932, the company was unable to honor its guarantee of $1,700,000 Silica Gel notes which matured Oct. 1. It offered to exchange its own notes, par for par, for them. In addition, it funded $1,700,000 of bank loans with these notes, which mature in 1937.

Loss in the year ended June 30, 1932, was $1,572,000. This was before writeoffs of about $5,000,000 for uncollectables, etc. Loss in the preceding year was $264,000, against net income of $2,016,000 for the June 30, 1930, year.

On June 30, 1932, current assets were $6,362,000 and current liabilities were $6,542,000. Cash was $1,400,000 and notes and acceptances payable, mainly to banks, totaled $5,804,000.

Profit and loss deficit was $827,000. Subsidiary funded debt totaled $1,890,000. There were outstanding 457,567 shares of no par capital stock.

New York Steam Corp.

Will you please give me what data you have on New York Steam corporation 6s, due 1947?—C. O. F.

New York Steam corporation is a subsidiary of Consolidated Gas company of New York. It furnishes steam for heating and power purposes in financial and high class residential districts of New York City.

Operating revenues have increased steadily since 1923. They were $10,237,000 for 1932, $9,662,000 for 1931, $9,610,000 for 1930, and $8,487,000 for 1929.

Increased taxes, interest charges and operating expenses were responsible for a decline in coverage of fixed charges in 1932 as compared with 1931. Charges were earned 2.10 times, against 2.66 times in 1931, 2.33 times in 1930, 2.16 times in 1929, and two times in the year ended June 30, 1929.

On Dec. 31, 1932, current assets were $3,514,000 and current liabilities were $4,373,000.

The $5,634,000 first 6s, due 1947; the $13,323,000 first 5s, due 1951, and the $6,700,000 first 5s, due 1956, are secured by a first lien on all fixed properties of the company. There is no other funded debt.

The bonds are considered a high grade type of investment, suitable for a business man's funds.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Resumption of selling of May wheat by commission houses, which the trade regarded as representing liquidation of the holdings of the Grain Stabilization corporation, put sufficient pressure on the market to prevent any upturn in prices yesterday. At no time were prices above Saturday's finish. Scattered commission house buying in small lots cushioned the decline but the finish was at net losses of ⅝ to ¾ cent, with May showing the most loss at the last and going to around ⅝ cent under the July, compared with the distant position on Saturday.

Outside buying of wheat was largely in small lots, and there was not the bullish enthusiasm among the local professionals that was so noticeable late last week. Uncertainty regarding the farm relief bill and the easiness in stocks had some effect, and even talk of inflation in the currency was less in evidence. May closed at 52¾ cents, with July at 52⅝ to 52⅞ cents, and September at 52⅞ to 53 cents.

Big Cash Wheat Trade.

Local commission houses which have been checking up on the large business which has been under way for some time, yesterday expressed the belief that mills have probably bought close to 10,000,000 bushels in all positions in the country since the bank holiday. The removal of hedges against this grain has assisted the market to absorb the liquidation of the Farm Board stocks. According to pit gossip, some of the local professionals who had profits in holdings of futures, went out of their lines yesterday, with some reinstating on the break.

A steady decrease in the visible supply is attracting attention from the wheat trade, the reduction during the last week being 3,151,000 bushels, making the total 135,922,000 bushels, compared with 202,269,000 bushels a year ago.

Corn Highest Since November.

Corn futures again advanced, with the May up ⅝ cent at the top and touching 29¾ cents, the highest figure witnessed for that option since Nov. 23. Commission houses and locals were persistent buyers and found offerings rather light. Toward the last there was some selling in sympathy with the easiness in wheat and by profit taking longs. Final trades were unchanged to ¼ cent higher, with May closing at 29¼ to 29¾ cents, while July was 31 to 31¼ cents, and September 32¾ cents.

Fancy No. 2 white oats, testing 37½ pounds per bushel, sold at 29⅝ cents yesterday, the highest price since last July. September oats sold at 19⅝ cents early, or a new high on the crop. Trade in futures was not large, with the finish unchanged to ⅛ cent lower, May being 18⅝ cents; July, 18⅜ to 18⅝ cents, and September, 19⅜ to 19⅝ cents. Rye was ⅛ cent lower, with May and July at 38⅝ cents. Barley was off ¼ to ⅜ cent for the day, with May at 31 cents and July 32½ cents.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Bleachable oil was dull today with sales of only 7 contracts, of which 6 were in the form of exchanges from May to September at 29 points difference. Final prices were 4 points lower for July, the only month traded in. Beachable spot closed 5.80c, May 5.89c, July 4.07c, September 4.07c.

LONDON WOOL MARKET.

LONDON, March 27.—(AP)—Offerings at the wool auction today totaled 9,245 bales of which 7,762 were sold. The fair selection offered met with keen competition and the 2,000 South Americans included in the amount offered for sale, sold readily to the home trade and the continent at full current rates. Greasy crossbreds were again frequently withdrawn.

GEN'L ELECTRIC REPORTS PROFIT OF $14,404,000

niture and appliances, other than in factories, also are listed at $1.

The report, which is signed by Chairman Owen D. Young and President Gerard Swope, touches on the relations of the company with the Insull firms.

"Early in December, 1931, Samuel Insull requested loans of two million dollars for some of his companies," the report says. "Mr. Insull was at the head of companies that had been good customers of your company for forty years, during which time their purchases of General Electric products had amounted to well over one hundred million dollars. Your company has, from time to time, made loans to other important customers. At the time the loans were made the market value of the collateral was substantially in excess of the loans. At the end of the year the loans were included in assets at the market value of the collateral, which was approximately $313,000."

Report on R. C. A. Payment.

The liquidation of $11,695,546 owed to the General Electric company by the Radio Corporation of America for merchandise on Nov. 21, 1932, the date of the consent decree entered in the United States District court for Delaware, separating the financial relationship between the two companies, and also between Westinghouse and R. C. A., is outlined in the report. It reads:

"As part of the new arrangement this indebtedness was satisfied by the conveyance to your company of the R. C. A. building, 570 Lexington avenue, New York city, at $4,745,000, which was somewhat less than its assessed value, by the delivery to your company of $1,587,000 of Radio Corporation ten year debenture bonds, and the balance of $5,363,546 by the rights and benefits accruing to your company under the new agreements. The decree further provides that certain matters relating to the foreign situation are reserved for further consideration."

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP)—Cotton goods trading was quiet today but prices were steady. Uncertainty on rayon quotations continues to limit buying of yarns and fabrics. Women's wear wool fabrics are being sold more readily. Burlap levels were firm but raw silk was weaker in Japan.

PACKERS BUY UP HOGS AT LOWER PRICE LEVELS

Bottom Prices in 16 Days Expand Demand.

Hogs sank to the lowest levels in 16 days yesterday, but finished active on this basis with all interests eager for numbers. Members of the trade interpreted this expansion in demand as a sign that hogs are attractive to packers at going quotations, and feel that they may manage to check the break today.

Light and light butchers declined most yesterday. Top sales dropped to $4, this price comparing with $4.35 at the high point of last week. The general average for the day at $3.90 was steady with Saturday and 10 cents lower than last Friday. At the high point of last week hogs averaged $4.15.

Trading progressed slowly at the opening when sellers resisted buyers' efforts to bring the bulk of good grades of hogs down to $4 and slightly under, but when this basis had been established, buying orders increased rapidly.

Cattle Prices Irregular.

The bulk of cattle receipts yesterday consisted of medium to good grades of beef steers. Despite the fact that total offerings at Chicago were smaller than a week ago these kinds came under pressure and lost more ground. Reductions of as much as 25 cents were brought to light in the later selling of 800 to 1,500 pound averages of good quality. On the other hand, plainer kinds that ran down in weight, mostly under 1,000 pounds, met good demand at last week's closing quotations and in places were stronger.

Demand for replacement cattle, which was the broadest since the national bank moratorium went into effect, accounted for the competition that packers encountered in light cattle lacking finish. Country buyers were busy in the classes suitable for the feed lots at $5 and under.

Selected light feeders were quoted as high as $5.75.

Top slaughter steers averaged 1,136 pounds at $6.65. The bulk of the crop sold at $4.50 to $5.75. Fat cows at $2.85 to $3.50 were mostly steady. Heifers were steady, but they show losses of 25 to 50 cents compared with early last week. Calves slumped 50 cents. Bulls were stronger.

Lambs Down 10 to 15 Cents.

A break of 10 to 15 cents in the lamb market put the bulk of yesterday's crop of wool stock at $5.50 to $5.75, with shorn lambs at $5.25 and below. Eastern representatives paid a late top of $5.85 for a shipment of handyweight wooled lambs, while most of those at $5.50 and below ran upwards to 95 pounds and more.

Prime 99 pound fat lambs cashed at $5.50, while one shipment of 102 pound averages reached $5.25, and 206 pound lambs made $5. Yearling wethers, carrying a few twos, sold at $4.40, and old mutton ewes at $3.85.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY OPENS INQUIRY INTO J. W. HARRIMAN CASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 27.—The federal grand jury today took up the case of Joseph W. Harriman, former president and chairman of the Harriman National Bank and Trust company, who was arrested some time ago on a charge of making false entries.

United States Attorney George Z. Medalie presented the evidence to the grand jury, whose investigation is expected to take at least a week.

A number of witnesses to be examined, including not only officials of the bank but many persons whose accounts were involved. A preliminary investigation has revealed that false entries in their accounts of depositors in the bank, involving $1,661,070, were made at the direction of Mr. Harriman, according to officials.

Mr. Harriman, arrested on a warrant based upon an affidavit of Carl Fischer, a bank examiner, who charged the false entries had been placed on the bank's books to conceal the true conditions of the institution from examiners, was reported still seriously ill at his home.

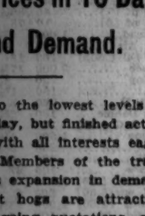
PATRICIA MANOR REORGANIZATION IS COMPLETED

Title Is Taken by New Corporation.

BY AL CHASE.

Reorganization of the Patricia Manor apartment property at 704 Hinman avenue, Evanston, has been completed, and the depositing bondholders are now the principal owners, it was announced yesterday. The property has been acquired by the American Bond and Mortgage company bondholders' protective committee and title has been vested in a new corporation. Depositing bondholders are being given voting trust certificates representing one share of common stock for every $100 bond.



CHARLES S. TUTTLE.

Stock has been placed in a trust administered by Dayton Keith, a member of the protective committee; Charles S. Tuttle and A. F. Mohl, who are president, vice president and treasurer, respectively, of the new corporation.

Owners of the equity and second mortgage have been issued voting trust certificates representing 10 per cent of the total issue in return for relinquishment of their rights of redemption. This has done away with the usual period of redemption delay.

Make $40,000 Loan.

At the foreclosure sale on Dec. 22 the property was bid in for depositing bondholders for $40,000. Funds for reorganization were provided from net earnings and a $40,000 loan from the Fort Dearborn Mortgage company for three years at 5½ per cent.

On tax bills for 1928 to 1930 a payment of $7,099 has been made, and a reserve of $9,300 has been set up to meet the balance pending the settlement of protest. Out of a reserve of $4,000 established to meet 1931 taxes a first installment of $1,853 has been paid on the $3,306 total.

Formation of the Chicago Mortgage and Realty Trust, with a capital of $1,500,000, for the financing of real estate and the purchase of property at present day prices, has been announced by Arthur M. Wirtz. Offices will be at 3152 Sheridan road. The capital has been privately subscribed and will not be offered to the public.

New State Street Book Store.

A. J. Adair has leased space at 214 South State street, just south of the Consumers building, and will open it as a book store probably tomorrow. Mr. Adair, who has been associated with the Chicago Book and Art Auctions, Inc., in the Fine Arts building, recently purchased the entire stock of Engelke's old time book store at 855 North Clark street. He is now operating an outlet store for that stock at 174 West Madison.

Victor A. Rule will give an illustrated lecture on "The Key to Real Prosperity for Chicago and Cook County" this evening at the monthly meeting of the Illinois Society of Architects at the Architects' club.

HIGH TAXES PUT WRECKERS ON LOOP LANDMARK

Another loop landmark, the old time five story building at 216-18 West Randolph street, is being wrecked by the owners because of high taxes. The property is owned by the estate of Grace L. Whitehead, for which the Northern Trust company is trustee. It was stated that there is no demand for space in the half century old building and it was decided that with the building removed taxes might be materially reduced.

The space, 40x180, it is stated, is too small to use for parking. There is a possibility, however, that the property adjoining it on the east, which is 26x180, may be wrecked. If this is done the two combined could be used for a parking lot.

COTTON HOLDERS SELL; CLOSE AT LOWEST OF DAY

Liquidation by holders of cotton, combined with the weakness in stocks and grains, carried prices down to close at the lowest of the day, with the greatest part of the recent bulge lost. Buying was attributed to trade interests and profit taking by shorts. Arbitrage houses were sellers at times for Liverpool. There was nothing in the trade news other than the speculation of farm legislation and inflation reports. Reports from the south indicate a late planting season and trade leaders are advocating a trading position, many favoring purchases only on weak spots. Futures in Chicago closed 21 to 23 points net lower, with other markets off 18 to 32 points. York 6.25 cents, New Orleans 6.20 cents, Galveston 6.15 cents, Houston 6.10 cents. Liverpool closed 1 to 3 points net higher.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP)—Raw sugar was unchanged today. Sales were 15,000 bags of Puerto Ricos, prompt shipment; 45,000 bags of Philippines for nearby positions, and 90,000 bags of Philippines for March-April, all at $2.95. Futures closed 1 to 2 points net lower. Uncertainty over the segregation plan in Cuba, where a meeting was scheduled for today in an effort to arrive at some understanding, seemed to restrict operations, with the day's business amounting to only 11,850 tons. Houses with Cuban connections were the principal sellers, with May selling off from 98 cents to 95 cents and December from $1.09 to $1.06 with closing prices at the lowest of the session. We Want a Real Salesman.

A nationally known company, operating in the major fields of printing, lithography, binding and engraving, seeks a REAL salesman. He will be backed by the finest mechanical facilities in the industry and by agressive sales promotion.

This salesman must have a successful record of selling, preferably in the printing or advertising field. He must be experienced in advertising and merchandising methods and be possessed of a creative sales mind. The man we seek is probably employed, but wants greater opportunity and possesses the ability to prove his right to it. His character must enable him to appreciate and sell business integrity and to work in an organization founded on sound policies and same ethics.

All negotiations will be in strict confidence. No investigation will be conducted until after interview. The first letter must be responsible as to experience, business history past earnings, personal and educational background.
